84th Year, No. 57. ★★ VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, AUGUST 14, 1967 —40 PAGES PRICE: 10 CENTS WEEKEND 15 CENTS

IT'LL BE HOT, DRY FOR REST OF MONTH

Victoria gardeners can save their prayers for another time.

Even the very loudest aren't getting through to the weatherman.

There'll be no rain this week—and that's that.

What's more, there probably won't be any the week after, or the week after that.

In an average year Victoria only experiences just under three-quarters of an inch in August.

And 1967 is far from average.

So far there's been no rain this month—the last to fall was on July 20.

Forecast for Tuesday: Sunny, 80 degrees plus downtown, DRY.

Water Crisis Hits Saanich Due to Fantastic Use Today

RUSSIAN first deputy premier D. S. Polyansky was received in Ottawa Sunday by Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Paul Martin (left). Mr. Polyansky received official greetings on Parliament Hill where he called for "mutually beneficial cooperation between our two countries".

Sprinkling Ban 'Up to People'

By JIM HUME and ROGER STONEBANKS

Some areas of Saanich were without water at noon today.

Other taps were expected to run dry during the peak period for domestic consumption between 5 and 7 tonight.

The reason: an "absolutely crazy" demand from Saanich lawn sprinklers, said waterworks superintendent Harry Greenwood.

The result could be tougher than ever watering restrictions by the weekend unless Greater Victoria citizens use greater restraint during the balance of the week.

"It is up to the people now," chief water commissioner Ron Upward told a special meeting of the Greater Victoria Water District Board this morning. "We have to cut lawn irrigation to 50 per cent by the weekend if there is to be any relaxing of restrictions. If the people cooperate, and I think they will, we can ease the restrictions next week.

"If not we may have to cut out lawn irrigation entirely."

Saanich and a section of Oak Bay were this morning's guinea pigs in a one-day-a-week watering experiment.

'GONE OVERBOARD'

In Saanich "the people have gone overboard," said Mr. Greenwood. "People living at lower levels are sprinkling like mad and robbing the others."

Even with pumps going full-out the mains are not large enough to get water to higher levels.

In an effort to curb usage Mr. Greenwood said the water board had cut the pressure to the Saanich lines.

"The only thing I can see is to cut sprinkling altogether," Mr. Greenwood said. "The water board has cut our pressure so we can't do anything. The pumps are going full blow—they may burn out if we don't get enough water from the board."

HUGE JUMP

In the Mount Tolmie area at 3 a.m. Saanich was pumping water at a rate of 500 gallons a minute. By 8 a.m. the rate had risen to a fantastic 3,200 gallons a minute.

Residents without water this morning and with little hope of an improved situation later in the day live in the Lochside, Merriman-Synod area and western parts of the West Saanich Road.

Reeve Hugh Curtis has urged severe but self-imposed restrictions for the rest of the day.

"I don't think Saanich will be alone in this," he said. "I can see the same thing happening when Victoria and Esquimalt get their watering day on Thursday."

Water consumption this summer has been running at around 35 million gallons a day in the Greater Victoria area and has been peaking at 40 million gallons a day.

And that, says Mr. Upward, is too much.

Forests 'Explode' In Flames

(Times News Services)

Continued hot and dry weather, accompanied by lightning storms, created the worst forest fire conditions of the year during the weekend in the Pacific Northwest.

"Things are just exploding," said a B.C. Forest Service official in the Interior.

In the U.S. fires erupted in a number of national forests and officials warned of the extreme hazard.

An Oregon State forestry spokesman said he'd never seen such explosive fire conditions and all they could do was "hold their breath."

Total number of fires burning in the Nelson forest district Sunday was placed at 155.

OUT OF CONTROL

In the Lardeau area to the north of Nelson, 32 fires were reported out of control.

At least four of the fires north of Nelson were "major," forestry men said, and all will have to be doused by hand.

Hot Weather Halts Logging

Logging operations have all but closed in the Cowichan Valley and southern Vancouver Island because of the hot weather.

Fernie Viala, vice-president of the Duncan local of the International Woodworkers of America, said only one or two camps are operating on early shifts.

He estimated between 1,500 and 2,000 loggers are out of work. Manufacturing plants were all right because of log inventories.

The laid-off men are eligible for unemployment insurance money.

On southern Vancouver Island, an IWA spokesman said about 250 men are off work. He also said manufacturing plants are not affected yet.

MONTANA PARK

Girls Killed By Grizzlies

JULIE HELGESON
. . . lightning blamed

MICHELE KOONS

ROY DUCAT
. . . injured

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) The superintendent of Glacier National Park says lightning may have goaded two grizzly bears into killing two 19-year-old girls early Sunday as they slept in sleeping bags in rugged wilderness.

Killed in the separate incidents 20 miles apart in the mountainous park on the Montana-Canada border were Julie Helgeson of Albert Lea., Minn., and Michele Koons of San Diego, Calif., Roy Ducat, 18, of Perrysburg, Ohio, was severely injured by the bear that killed Miss Helgesen.

Forest Supt. Keith Neilson said his only theory on the attacks was that lightning strikes in the park alarmed the normally shy, near-sighted grizzlies into attacking.

Lightning started 14 forest fires in the park Saturday and Sunday.

"There is no scarcity of natural food and the grizzly is an unusually shy animal. It's strange for them to attack."

SNIFFED COMPANIONS

The bear that killed Miss Koons sniffed at four other sleeping bags while the occupants lay frozen with fear, then attacked Miss Koons, Neilson said.

The others escaped, but the zipper on her sleeping bag stuck.

All three victims were employed for the summer in park hotels.

The two girls were the first people reported killed by bears since the park opened in 1910, although several have been injured.

Park Rangers armed with rifles combed the Granite Park Chalet area where Miss Helgesen was attacked and the Trout Lake area 20 miles west where Miss Koons was killed. They shot the two grizzlies early today.

All trails in the area were closed to campers and hikers.

Bonn Chief At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chancellor Kurt George Kiesinger of West Germany arrived here Sunday for talks with President Johnson and will be joined today by his foreign minister, Willy Brandt.

Apart from European defence, Kiesinger and Johnson are expected to cover a broad range of issues in their talks, including the nature of the alliance between the two countires and the proposed treaty prohibiting non-nuclear powers from acquiring nuclear weapons.

Canada, Russia Fail to Resolve Disagreements

OTTAWA (CP)—First Deputy Premier Dmitri Polyansky of the Soviet Union and Prime Minister Pearson apparently failed today to narrow their differences on Vietnam and the Middle East.

They conferred for an hour on the two contentious issues in what a Canadian spokesman described as a frank and useful discussion.

In diplomatic jargon, this usually means that no agreement was reached.

The spokesman refused to give details of the talks but it was clear they were stiff and businesslike, with neither side modifying its stand. Mr. Polyansky apparently repeated his charges of aggression against the U.S. and Israel.

The spokesman declined specifically to confirm that the Soviet deputy premier had reiterated these allegations. However, he did state that Mr. Polyansky had restated the Soviet viewpoint on Vietnam and the Middle East.

The Russian view is that the U.S. and Israel are guilty of aggression in these areas. Canada has many times disputed this view of events.

NO NEW PROPOSALS

Mr. Pearson was reported to have restated the Canadian position. It was understood that no new proposals were advanced by either side for ending the Vietnam war on regulating the Middle East situation.

Mr. Polyansky, here on a centennial visit, gave Mr. Pearson a letter from Premier Alexi Kosygin. Contents were not divulged.

A further short meeting between Mr. Pearson and Mr. Polyansky, previously unscheduled, was set for late today before the Soviet leader departs by train for Montreal to visit Expo 67

TOURING ARAB CAPITALS

Tito Failing in Bid As Mideast Mediator?

Times News Services

Yugoslav President Tito ended his talks with Syrian leaders in Damascus today and flew to Baghdad for talks with the Iraqi president. There was growing belief his Arab peace mission had got nowhere.

Before Tito left Belgrade there were widespread reports he would urge a policy of moderation on the leaders of Egypt, Syria, and Iraq, while presenting a compromise peace plan of his own. Since then the Yugoslav and Arab press have played down such reports.

Damascus radio called Tito's visit to Damascus and Cairo one for 'joint discussions and exchange of free views."

Although it gave no direct results of the talks the broadcast praised Tito as a "sincere friend of the Arabs."

The "compromise" peace plan attributed to Tito is totally unacceptable to Israel, discussions with high officials of the foreign ministry in Jerusalem made clear Sunday.

The Israeli government, they insist, will not withdraw its forces from Arab territories occupied in the six-day war in return for only international guarantees of peace and "tacit" or unspoken concurrency by the Arab States.

Israel's unvarying position since the end of the war has been that direct negotiations with the Arabs are the only avenue to any change from the present cease-fire arrangements.

In current talks with Arab leaders, Tito is reportedly proposing a plan for a staged Israeli troop withdrawal, assurances of the right of free navigation in the Gulf of Aquaba and guarantees of

300 FLEE FLOODING AT ALASKA VILLAGE

NENANA, Alaska (AP)—All women and children in this central Alaska community of 300 were evacuated Sunday night in the face of rising flood waters from the Tanana River.

Forty-seven Alaska national guardsmen were brought in from Fairbanks, about 50 miles northeast of here, to assist in the evacuation and help battle the rising waters.

The flooding is a result of heavy rains that have plagued the Nenana and Fairbanks areas for about a month.

PRESSURE IS ON

Bombers Strike Close to China

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes bombed targets just 10 miles from China today, the second straight day they ventured within 10 miles of China's border—the nearest yet in the air war on North Vietnam.

Their attack was directed along the major railway from China to Hanoi and marked the fourth straight day of the stepped-up bombing of rail supply lines.

Navy A6 Intruders and A-4 Skyhawks from the carrier Constellation in the Tonkin Gulf raked the Lang Son main bypass bridge 63 miles north of Taiphong. Pilots reported dropping the southern span of the 360-foot four-span structure.

A U.S. military spokesman said the bridge is half a mile east of the Lang Son rail and highway bridge which was knocked out in raids Sunday.

In South Vietnam, 21 U.S. navy men were wounded when U.S. marines operating south of the big coastal base at Da Nang accidentally fired two mortar shells into a navy construction unit's compound.

REFLECT LBJ POLICY

The intensified air raids on North Vietnam appeared to reflect the Johnson administration's announced policy of increasing pressure on the Communists.

Unofficial sources said U.S. pilots previously had been instructed to go no closer than 30 miles to China.

•

CLOSING IN 'DANGEROUS'

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. bombing within 10 miles of China detonated sharp new criticism of the Vietnam war by a persistent critic of Johnson administration war policy and appeared likely to generate more debate on Capitol Hill.

"I think it's very dangerous and extremely stupid," said J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

But John Stennis, chairman of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, said the broadened bombing of North Vietnam reflects a more - pressure philosophy which he supports.

The new level of bombing came on the eve of Senate debate on President Johnson's foreign aid program. Debate opening today already had been expected to bring fresh attacks on Johnson policies in Vietnam and elsewhere in the world.

Whether one variety of recent congressional criticism — that bombing was too sparing—affected Johnson's decision to add new targets could not be determined as the White House fended off questions on the shift in tactics.

LIFT RESTRICTIONS

Strikes Sunday against North Vietnamese railyards 10 miles from China and Friday against Hanoi's Doumer bridge came after Johnson lifted temporarily two major target restrictions.

The restricted areas are a 30-mile diameter circle around Hanoi, and a 15 to 20-mile-wide buffer zone along the North Vietnam-China boundary.

Fulbright said the bombing near China "is directly contrary to what was the established policy of the government in 1964."

'QUEEN' DAMAGED BOW TO MIDSHIPS

By TERRY IZZARD

The crippled ferry Queen of Prince Rupert today is under tow to Departure Bay near Nanaimo to unload the remaining vehicles aboard.

Holed beneath the water line when she ran on to Haddington Reef near Alert Bay Friday, she was to be towed to Burrard Drydock in Vancouver this evening.

The 3,500-ton B.C. Ferries flagship was temporarily patched by divers in Port McNeill harbor Sunday.

She was towed there by the deepsea tug Sudbury II after floating clear of the reef at high tide Saturday evening.

Unloading of more than half the 87 vehicles aboard Saturday morning allowed the 325-foot vessel to rise enough to be pulled free.

The remaining 42 vehicles — mostly owned by U.S. tourists — will be offloaded at Departure Bay.

Owners of the vehicles have been staying in Nanaimo over the weekend.

Remainder of the 299 passengers aboard who owned vehicles took delivery Sunday when they arrived aboard scows.

COST UNKNOWN

Full extent of damage to the $6½ million vessel will not be known until Wednesday or Thursday.

Said ferry authority's general manager, Monty Aldous, who was recalled from a holiday in the interior:

"There will have to be a thorough inspection before any estimates can be given.

"The divers report she is damaged from the bow to midships. But as long as she's in the water it's impossible to tell how badly."

One of the biggest costs will probably be repairing the engine room which was flooded when rocks gashed through the Queen's hull.

Meanwhile, some 5,000 reservations for future sailings have been cancelled.

Said Mr. Aldous: "We've managed to reach most people. However some are already on the road and can't be contacted. We're hoping they'll have heard about it by way of the news media."

'We've just had to redirect the," said Mr. Aldous.

Of the passengers stranded after the mishap Mr. Aldous said: "They've been a wonderful group. Many of them praised the way they were handled by the crew.

'Most of them took the view that it was quite an experience even if it did inconvenience them."

Scene In Saanich Today

Sacking of Embassy Stopped by Mobutu

KINSHASA, The Congo (UPI)—A Congolese mob sacked the Belgian embassy here today and burned furniture and files on the sidewalk before President Joseph Mobutu personally stepped in and stopped the rioting, reliable sources said.

Mobutu, accompanied by Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko, drove to the embassy in an automobile while members of his revolutionary party were sacking and burning its contents.

The president immediately appealed to them to stop the demonstration and return to work. Members of the mob were composed mainly of members of Mobutu's Popular Revolutionary Movement Party.

An American living next door to the Belgian embassy was reported to have been seized and beaten by the mob, according to informed sources in Washington.)

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic (Reuters) — Kinshasa radio, monitored here, said today that Congolese national army forces were heading for Bukavu, the east Congo town reoccupied by the mercenaries of Major Jean Schramme.

The broadcast did not mention the strength of the Congolese troops, but claimed that about 15,000 men were available for the operation.

The number of mercenaries in Bukavu was estimated by the radio as 3,000, including hostages and about 1,500 Katangan gendarmes.

NEW ORLEANS PLOT

Lawyer Guilty Of Perjury

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A jury convicted Dean Andrews early today of lying to a grand jury about a mysterious figure in the alleged New Orleans plot to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

Andrews was found guilty on three of five counts of perjury by the criminal district court jury at 1:30 a.m. after it deliberated two hours and 40 minutes.

Defence lawyer Harry Burglass said Andrews, 44, will not be eligible for bond until he has been sentenced. Maximum sentence would be five years.

The trial was before a five-man jury because the charge of perjury is a misdemeanor under Louisiana law.

ANDREWS
. . . 'played games'

In final arguments, the state accused Andrews of trying "to play games" with the Orleans Parish grand jury which is investigating an alleged assassination plot.

OSWALD ADVISER

Five counts of perjury against Andrews, a lawyer who once advised Lee Harvey Oswald on minor legal matters, were filed primarily because he said he could not identify Clay L. Shaw as the mysterious Clay Bertrand.

District Attorney Jim Garrison contends that Shaw, 54, a wealthy New Orleans businessman, used "Bertrand" as an alias to plot the murder of Kennedy.

The Warren commission said Oswald acted alone in the 1963 assassination at Dallas, Tex.

The defence rested its case after playing a voice tape of Andrews' replies to state interrogation before the grand jury March 16.

. . . FORESTS

No machinery can get into the rugged area and forestry men said water bombers would have no effect on the blazes.

More than 100 men were rushed to the Lardeau area Saturday and more went Sunday.

At Castlegar, a 4,000-acre blaze on Mount Sentinel now is reasonably subdued. About 200 firefighters toiled in the blazing sun to strengthen the guard around the fire, burning now for more than a week.

Most of the men have been working 12-hour days, and Sunday there was a 102-degree temperature.

Kamloops forest district also had a hot time Sunday.

Six water bombers, four helicopters, several dozen bulldozers and 400 men worked to keep the fires under control.

A water bomber had just unleashed its load on a blaze near Spences Bridge when another new fire was reported in the area.

"They're popping up over the whole district," said forest service official L. B. Boulton.

Among potentially dangerous fires were new outbreaks in the Cariboo's Tatla Lake area and in the Birch Island area north of Kamloops.

In Victoria, a senior forest service official said firefighting costs last week alone were more than $500,000, exceeding the cost for the entire 1966 season.

"It's well worth it," said W. C. Phillips, head of the service's protection division. "We could have had the whole province on fire."

He said more than 100 fires a day were breaking out last week in the Kamloops and Nelson forest districts. This year could be one of the worst on record, he said.

At least 14 forest fires were burning out of control in Glacier National Park in Montana.

Two army helicpoters were called to ferry firefighters from one point to another.

Keith Neilson, park superintendent, said the fires were the worst the park has had in years. Only two of them burned over more than 80 acres, but all were in remote areas and there was fear of them spreading.

To Take Holiday

No lunches will be served in the Silver Threads Centre, 4 Centennial Square, from Aug. 28 to Sept. 8, it was announced today.

Lunches will be resumed on Monday, Sept. 11.

Registration for all arts and crafts classes at the centre will begin this Wednesday at 9 a.m.

. . . WATER CRISIS

"To prevent a real emergency, sprinkling and wasteage must be greatly reduced." he told the water board meeting in emergency session.

"Our supplies will last until October 31 ONLY IF DAILY DEMANDS CAN BE KEPT UNDER 22.5 million gallonus, 40 per cent less than last week's demands.

"This 22.5 million gallons must be the target.

CO-OPERATION MUST

"The co-operation of the public especially corporations, businesses with lawns and gardens, gas stations, etc., must be enlisted."

Mr Upward added that while a few heavy showers would remove the crisis state they would not be sufficient to remove the restrictions.

"They can only be removed or eased if the people voluntarily cut back on water useage even on their watering days," he said.

Throughout the area on the weekend water users offered close to 100 per cent co-operation.

Water useage was down to winter levels with the watering of lawns virtually non-existent.

OWN SUPPLY

One heavy water useage to draw unjust criticism was the Colwood Golf Club. It has its own water supply.

In explaining the rapidity with which the present crisis grew Mr. Upward told the board:

"Greater Victoria has seldom had a summer like this one, with virtually no rain since April This good weather has meant high evaporation losses from the lakes, heavy watering demands, high fire fighting demands with the fire departments and the B.C. Forest Service probably using in excess of 500,000 gallons per day since early July.

"All this has resulted in about 75 per cent of the readily available water on Goldstream being used by Aug. 7. There is 600 million gallons still available without pumping and another 300 million gallons available by pumping.

"There could be 80 days to go before even light rains start in November, or there could be only a month. Once the rains start the flowline from Sooke Lake can handle all demands.

FUTURE SERIOUS TOO

'In the meantime Goldstream water is all there is for sprinkling. Up to Aug. 10 sprinkling was taking 25 million gallons a day from Goldstream, so by completely emptying Goldstream sprinkling could continue to about Sept. 10, but there would then be no water left at all for the next two months, which are likely to be dry too.

"The condition therefore is critical as far as sprinkling is concerned. All sprinkling and wastage must be cut to a minimum.

"There has been some criticism that action should have been taken sooner, but whenever June is a hot month it is time for concern on my part but not time to cry wolf since in at least five or six summers August weather deteriorates and there is no crisis.

"This year the first week of August was waited out for a weather change, when it was not forthcoming the chairman was informed of the situation.

"By Aug. 9 temperatures had climbed, weather predictions were for conditions to remain the same and it was time to take action."

PLEA OBSERVED

Mr. Upward noted that when the board chairman, Mayor Hugh Stephen, last Thursday issued a plea for self-imposed restrictions water consumption dropped 3.5 million gallons in the one day.

"Unfortunately later news reports indicated the restrictions were coming and by Friday water usage was back up to its formerly high level," he said.

Adding to the frustrations of the water commissioner is the knowledge that at Sooke Lake 1.3 billion gallons of water lies just out of reach.

WATER AT SOOKE

"we have lots of water at Sooke Lake," he said. "But the existing pipeline can only bring it down at 12.5 million gallons a day. If the Sooke Tunnel was finished the present problem would not exist."

The tunnel will be completed so far as excavation goes in May, 1968. The district was intending to wait another 30 months, after that for concrete lining of the tunnel to take place.

In view of the present crisis and to prevent a repetition next year Mr. Upward suggested the board consider a temporary plastic lining for the tunnel so that it could be used next summer.

"We could then do the concreting in stages during the winter when the tunnel could be cut off," he said.

The board will consider the possibility at a later meeting this year.

In the meantime present restrictions will remain unless lawn sprinkling consumption is cut in half.

If the 22.5 million gallons a day target is achieved restrictions may be eased next week to two half-days a week.

. . . TITO

Israel's right of existence and prewar borders.

Israeli officials feel that Tito's reported manoeuvres are purely tactical and propagandistic, aimed at propping up his longtime friend, President Nasser of Egypt, and at restoring some influence to his now relatively impotent bloc of "unaligned nations."

If Tito were really serious about trying to arrange a settlement, Israeli foreign ministry officials add, he would first move to restore diplomatic relations with Israel, broken off by Yugoslavia at the time of the Arab-Israeli war.

City Welder's Condition Good

A welder who tumbled 20 feet from a scaffold Thursday is reported in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital today.

Alec Karpuchin, 43, of 1505 Denman, suffered back injuries in the mishap at the Outer Wharf.

He was working on a train ferry under construction there when a crane backed into the staging supporting him.

. . . CANADA

Mr. Pearson on the Canadian side were External Affairs Minister Martin and Canada's ambassador to the Soviet Union, Robert Ford. Mr. Polyansky's party included the Soviet ambassador in Ottawa, Ivar Shpedko.

The Canadian side viewed the frankness of the exchange as a good test of the "friendliness" between Canada and the Soviet Union.

There was no clarification, except that frankness was diagnosed as a good thing in itself.

The two sides also spent an hour discussing bilateral relations between Canada and Russia. Here they apparently found more common ground.

General satisfaction was reported to have been expressed by both as to the state of these relations and hope was expressed the trend would continue.

There was detailed discussion of possible means to expand trade.

ARRIVED SUNDAY

The opinion difference on southeast Asia and the Middle East were brought quickly to the fore by Mr. Polyansky shortly after he arrived here late Sunday afternoon.

The slight, pale-looking member of the Soviet Communist party's ruling politburo said at a dinner given in his honor by Mr. Pearson:

"At present the international situation has seriously deteriorated as a result of the aggression against the Vietnamese people and against the Arab countries."

AWARE OF NEIGHBORS

The prime minister struck a conciliatory note in his remarks, saying Canada has grown more conscious that both the U.S. and the Soviet Union, who because of their immense power bore prime responsibility for maintaining peace, are its neighbors.

Repairs to Wharf

Victoria Pile Driving Co. has been awarded a $30,772 contract for wharf repairs at Thetis Island. Work will be completed in four months, a company spokesman said.

MOVING ON KEY TOWN

Nigeria Rebels Gaining Ground

LAGOS (Reuters) — Secessionist Biafran troops claimed today they were pushing towards the key northern Nigerian town of Ookoja after a spectacular advance from their midwestern stronghold.

Radio Biafra said that forces of the breakaway former Eastern Region of Nigeria captured three northern towns and were 40 miles north of the border of the Midwestern Region—seized in a lightning linkup with mutinous government troops last week.

If the forces of Eastern leader Lt.-Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu take Lokoja, at the junction of the Benue and Niger rivers, they would command navigation on both waterways as well as the $220,000,000 Kainji Dam.

Radio Biafra claimed Sunday night that Lokoja, which it described as a federal military beachhead and air base, was "a ghost town, deserted and in flames" after two days of air attacks.

Military installations there were destroyed, including a ferry used to move troops across the river, the radio adedd.

Federal reinforcements — including units of military ruler Maj.-Gen. Yakubu Gowon's elite federal guard—were reported here to have been moved up to the midwest border to thwart any Biafran bid to seize western territory.

Radio Biafra made no mention of federal claims of air attacks on Enugu, capital of the breakaway state, and other Biafran centres. Lagos radio said that burning from bombed rebel targets indicated "considerable damage."

Entertainment Badly Needed

JAKARTA (Reuters) — Central Java's governor, Brig.-Gen. Moenadi, says the best way to help Indonesia's vital birth control program is to organize mass entertainments for villagers so they do not go to bed too early.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Except for cloud from a high level disturbance in the Cariboo and patchy fog along the outer coast British Columbia was clear Sunday night. Little change is expected in the present pattern of weather over the province in the next few days. Afternoon temperatures will be near the 100-degree mark in the southern interior while readings in the eighties are likely in the Cariboo. Along the coast near record maximums are expected.

Angry Buddhist Group Hints Power Struggle

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's militant Buddhists vowed today to stage protests against the government's recognition of a rival faction as the country's official Buddhist Church and hinted at a "struggle movement."

In a statement, the leadership also denounced the current presidential campaign and called for "drastic changes."

The "struggle movements" of extremist Buddhists have in the past been able to help topple governments and bring thousands of demonstrators into the streets. But their power is believed to have greatly diminished following their clash with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky last year.

The militant Buddhists held the press conference at the An Quang pagoda, Saigon headquarters of their leader, Thich Tri Quang.

Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, signed a charter which set up Saigon's Buddhist Institute, the Vien Hao Dao, as the official Buddhist Church of South Vietnam.

BITTER FIGHTING

The Vien Hoa Dao and the An Quang Buddhists have been fighting for months.

The militant Buddhists also supported the return of exiled Gen. Duong Van Minh — Big Minh — to run for president. Minh's slate was forbidden to run and he will not be allowed to return until after the Sept. 3 election.

VIET CANDIDATES WARNED BY U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson has sent a personal message to the leaders of Saigon's military government, warning them that a rigged election in South Vietnam would alienate the American people.

The chief executive's message was disclosed Sunday by the two special envoys he dispatched on a round of Asian visits last month, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Washington attorney Clark Clifford.

Clifford said the president's message to Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, South Vietnam's premier, and Gen. Nguyen Van Theiu, the chief of state, "said as bluntly as it can be said that if there was one act on their part which would be calculated to alienate the American people, it would be to have a rigged election . . ."

"I personally believe that they understood that very well," Clifford added.

IN ELECTION FIGHT

Ky Denies Charge Of Police Pressure

SAIGON (AP) — Presidential candidate Truong Dinh Dzu said today that police chiefs all over South Vietnam had been told they would be rewarded if they "put pressure on" in their areas for the presidential campaign of Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu.

Dzu said the promise of reward was made by Thieu's vice-presidential running mate, Premier Nguyan Cao Ky, at a national meeting of chiefs of police in the mountain resort of Dalat July 16.

A spokesman for Thieu and Ky denied the charge, saying:

"Nobody would be that stupid to make that kind of remark at a meeting." He said Ky actually told the chiefs he wanted the election to be absolutely fair.

NEGRO CROWD CHEERS CASSIUS IN WATTS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "That's him, baby," said the Negro woman, holding her child high to get a better look. "That's Cassius Clay."

The deposed world heavyweight boxing champion, riding in an open convertible in Watts Sunday, was greeted by thousands of cheering spectators.

Clay, who prefers his Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, was acting as grand marshal of the Watts Festival parade.

The event, climaxing a week of cultural activities in the predominantly Negro district of Los Angeles, brought drill teams, floats, horses and marching bands to an area torn by riots two years ago.

The festival, intended to unify the Negro community and provide recreational activities, ended on a jubliant note.

In spite of blistering 90-degree temperatures, residents and visitors stood six and eight deep at the curbs. Some waited for as long as two hours to see Clay and the marchers on parade.

Included in the parade were members of the Watts Community Conservation Corps, youngsters working for street and park beautification.

Marching along with them was an all-white contingent of the U.S. Army Drum and Bulge Corps, the only white group in the parade.

A scattering of white persons watched the festivities, but the crowd was predominantly Negro. One float carried a guge globe of the world with the slogan, "Stop the World, We Want to Get On."

Among those watching the parade was H. Rap Brown, Black Power advocate.

Red Slogans Not Softened In Italian

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — A Chinese freighter ordered out of Genoa harbor for flaunting propaganda banners in English and Chinese hauled down the banners today—and replaced them with propaganda in Chinese and Italian.

Port officials pondering since Sunday what action to take against the 13,000-ton freighter Li-Ming heaved sighs of relief when crewmen suddenly removed the offending banners.

The sighs turned to groans when, a few minutes later, the Chinese-English banners were replaced by Chinese-Italian posters proclaiming the identical slogans:

"Long live the Friendship of Chinese-Italian people!" and "Salute to the Italian Working Peoples!"

Then the crewmen, leaving untouched a big Maoist-slogan poster on the deck which port authorities also deemed offensive, went back to ostentatiously reading little red books of "The Thoughts of Mao Tse-Tung."

Soviet Claims U.S. Planes Buzzed Ship

MOSCOW (UPI) — American planes and helicopters buzzed a Soviet ship on its way to the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong, the official news agency Tass said today.

Tass identified the vessel as the merchantman Magnetogorsk. It did not indicate when the incident took place, nor did it give the position of the ship at the time.

It was the first reported incident off Vietnam involving a Soviet ship since the Kremlin charged June 30 that American jets had bombed and strafed the freighter Mikhail Frunze.

Tass, in a dispatch from Hanoi, quoted an account of the incident given by A. Arkanov, a Soviet writer who was aboard the Magnetogorsk.

"On the way from Vladivostok to the port of Haiphong, American planes and helicopters made provocative flights over our ship at low height," Arkanov said.

The Soviet government officially protested the Mikhail Frunze incident and defence department officials in Washington admitted that U.S. planes might have inadvertently hit the ship while firing at North Vietnamese anti-aircraft batteries.

Chinese Release Russian Ship

MOSCOW (AP)—The battered Soviet merchant ship Svirsk limped out of the Chinese port of Dairen Sunday, a Moscow report said, after the Chinese released her captain and three crew members following a bitter exchange of protest notes with the Soviets.

The Soviet Union announced that seven tugboats full of Red Guards escorted the ship out of the Yellow Sea port. The Svirsk's hull, superstructure and equipment bore anti-Soviet inscriptions.

All the Russian crew were aboard when the Svirsk headed for the Soviet port of Vladivostok, the announcement reported, but the ship's documents were kept by the Chinese.

Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin sent a telegram to Chinese Premier Chou En-lai Saturday demanding release of the captain and captured crew members and let the Svirsk sail.

A Peking broadcast heard in Tokyo, however, made no mention of Kosygin's telegram.

The ship arrived in Dairen July 22 and shortly after, a Pravda dispatch said, second navigator Stanislav V. Ivanov was accused by Chinese authorities of refusing to accept a Mao Tse-tung badge. The Chinese demanded that Ivanov be turned over to them but Capt. Viktor Korshov refused.

When the captain went to the port office Friday to register the Svrisk's departure, he was arrested, Pravda said.

INSULT MAOS

The Chinese version held that two crew members asked for a Mao badge and then "wilfully insulted it and threw one badge into the sea."

The Soviets planned the whole incident, the Chinese note charged, to "worsen relations between China and the Soviet Union." The Chinese ignored a formal protest note by the Russians Friday, then Kosygin sent his telegram to Chou, warning that the Chinese might be jeopardizing trade between China and the Soviet Union.

Pravda said Red Guards stormed aboard the Svirsk Saturday, smashed the ship's equipment, beat up its captain and threatened the crew after the crew refused demands of perhaps 2,500 Red Guards to exchange the navigator for the arrested captain.

Moscow radio said the navigator was finally seized.

Dead is Paul Bujeaud, 19, of Lincoln. Police said he managed to stop the car before he died.

Kathleen Johnson, 20, suffered neck cuts.

Three other persons in the car were not hurt.

A Foot on the Brake

THE BUDGETARY DEFICIT OF a possible $29 billions which President Johnson faces between now and the end of next June has forced him to take drastic action on three fronts. Neither borrowing, taxing nor cutting expenses could alone effectively counteract the prospective shortage in the view of Mr. Johnson and his advisers—all three means will be employed to meet what he called "a clear and present danger to America's security and economic health."

It is the tax increase that has engaged the main attention since the President's announcement, and particularly the size of it, for a six per cent surcharge on corporate and personal income taxes was proposed as long ago as January but the final announcement specified 10 per cent.

The wars on Communism abroad and on poverty at home are blamed as the major factors in the country's financial situation. But Mr. Johnson stresses the immediate effects of the deficit, which could "cause a spiral of ruinous inflation which would rob the poor, the elderly, the millions with fixed incomes . . . brutally higher interest rates and tight money . . . an unequal distribution of the cost of supporting our men in Vietnam . . . a deterioration in our balance of payments. . ." These, of course, are manifestations of the basic cause rather than causes themselves—the inevitable results of expenditures soaring higher than income.

One of the criticisms levelled at the proposed tax move is that it was too long delayed—that it should have been imposed for best effect late in 1965 when the economy showed signs of becoming overheated, or at least during 1966. But here the dilemma of a democratic government becomes evident: although a tax increase might have been called for at that time on economic grounds, the imminent elections imposed political considerations which took precedence.

Mr. Johnson's emphasis on the Vietnam war as an important factor in his tri-lateral "borrow, cut and tax" program has invited comment, particularly from abroad, and the Sunday Telegraph, of London, suggests that the spiralling costs of the Vietnam war are also being felt on the Communist side and speculates that this factor may succeed where "the wiles of diplomacy" have failed, and the two sides will be dragged to the conference table "by the spectre of poverty instead."

That prospect cannot be ignored as a side issue, but of more immediate interest is the fact that many economists look to a marked pickup in the American economy this fall and welcome the proposal to remove ready cash from the market as a necessary anti-inflationary move.

The whole program, of course, must [illegible] approved by Congress and all three of its facets contain the seeds of prolonged and hot debate. Perhaps of all foreign countries, Canada has the closest interest in the proposals, for our economy will quickly be affected by changes in the United States situation and our own policies may have to conform to a large degree to those initiated by our powerful neighbor. We cannot entirely escape the causes which influence American policy, nor the effects of American attempts to meet those problems. Not even nationalism can long ignore economic fact.

Brutalizing the Human

IN A THOUGHTFUL ARTICLE written for The Christian Science Monitor, Pamela Marsh reports a deep concern among professional writers, strongly averse to censorship, over the ultimate results of current exploitation of sex and violence in the literary field.

Her article is based specifically on the book "On Iniquity" by the British writer Pamela Hansford Johnson.

Miss Johnson feels that "the flood of sadistic pornography which is making the Western world look so hideous . . . is conducive to a madness of our whole society. Whether I am right or wrong, it is criminal and anti-social folly to refuse to examine the question."

Miss Marsh's article constitutes part of the examination. Its strength arises in no small measure from the fact that writers who recognize the dangers are also writers who understand the hazards of censorship.

The consensus appears to be that those interviewed by Miss Marsh foresee a continued dehumanizing of society fed on the diet of much that is written today. She quotes critic Walter Allen: "Violence and sex are very much overdone in novels. They no longer pay dividends. To make his point a writer must be increasingly shocking."

William Sansom sees in "a tremendous lifting of censorship in the last six or seven years . . . a tremendous amount of harm, as it has let loose a flow of sexual madness. Almost everybody seems to over-emphasize it. It is quite simply a reaction and it will all be over within three or four years."

Whether or not his forecast is justified, a general feeling has arisen that literary pyramiding of sex and violence is creating what Miss Johnson calls "affectlessness."

This is an attitude insensitive to human suffering, disinclined to intervene in brutality to others, the "madness of our whole society" of which Miss Johnson writes.

On a less literary level, Parent-Teacher Associations, hostile citizens' committees and some religious groups have attacked the general issue of obscenity in a frontal assault usually employing arguments for censorship.

The difference between the two seems to be that while the professional writers are deeply concerned about the effects of today's trend, the majority sees censorship as an equal evil.

New Policy for the Soviet Navy

SINCE THE FORMAL OBSERVANCE of the Soviet Union's Navy Day at the end of July, analysts of the West have had opportunity to assess some significant pronouncements in the rhetoric of the occasion. They are not reassuring to people of peaceful interest.

Of signal importance is the change in policy enunciated by naval spokesmen. Russia, it now appears, considers her navy—rated the second strongest in the world—as more than a force for the defence of the motherland. Its purpose, as stated July 30, is the defence of Soviet "state interests" anywhere. Those interests involve the protection of "hundreds of freighters, fishing motherships and trawlers which . . . plow the world's ocean every day."

The statement has special interest in view of the penetration of Soviet fishing boats and processing ships to North American waters, and the seasonal access of Russian vessels to the North Pacific by way of the Arctic passage north of Siberia. The great increase in Russia's merchant fleet in the last five years—bringing it from eleventh to fifth in international ranking—indicates the widespread nature of the proposed Soviet protection.

On the basis of these developments, new weight is given to Admiral Gorshkov's words of 1966 dealing with "new ways for building up a modern ocean-going submarine, air and rocket missile fleet, capable of solving strategic tasks of an offensive nature."

By MAURICE WESTERN

The 'Special Status' Booby-Trap

Western

SOME of the reports emanating from the semi-private Montmorency thinkers' conference suggest that the Conservatives are being strongly pressed to try their luck in the self-same dangerous rapids from which the Liberals, with difficulty, have extricated themselves. This is a season of temptation. The nine candidates for the leadership succession are caught in a most uncertain struggle for delegate support. As Quebec will go into the convention with 535 votes, each has a very strong sympathy with the aspirations of people in that province.

They have now been told by an influential and respected figure, Mr. Marcel Faribault, that the largest number of Quebecers now support the special status concept, which he would achieve largely through the opting out process.

It is to be hoped, for various reasons, that this estimate is wrong. But it is quite probable that many people are attracted to a notion which is comfortable vague and whose consequences they do not foresee. This is the more likely if they have come to accept, without critical examination, some of the ideas which dominates Mr. Faribault's mind.

Political Culture

The reports make it clear enough that Mr. Faribault talked about two "nations" in the cultural sense. Why should anyone worry about a question of semantics? There would be little trouble perhaps if it was a case of English-Canadians simply misunderstanding the vocabulary of their French counterparts. More and more, however, Quebec leaders have tended to emphasize the political character of their cultural entity. When the two-nation theory leads to a demand for special status (or the extremist Quebec libre), with a warning—Mr. Faribault's—that otherwise the country will "blow up," we are certainly in the realm of politics and dangerous politics at that.

Mr. Faribault is not for separatism. He has argued in the past for a new constitution with a clear definition of powers and equality as between the central and provincial authorities. It appears that he would now favor an even larger shift of power to the provinces; he said at Montmorency that he saw no objection to an international competence for Quebec in certain matters.

Faribault Fiction

What is the justification for all this? Ottawa, Mr. Faribault believes, has come to regard itself as the successor of the Imperial Parliament, pre-eminent in dignity, importance, inititaive, sanction and veto power over provinces and with primary responsibility for constitutional development. In no other country, he asserts, does the central government enjoy the residual powers. Mr. Faribault talks, indeed, of a "breach of trust," with Ottawa exercising jurisdiction without having received an authorization to do so.

Most of this is fiction. Mr. Faribault seems to have no notion of what centralizers the Fathers of Confederation were. The grant of residual powers to the federal government was unquestionably deliberate. Macdonald said in the confederation debates: "We have strengthened the general government. We have given the general legislature all the great subjects of legislation. We have conferred on them, not only specifically and in detail, all the powers which are incident to sovereignty but we have expressly declared that all subjects of general insterest not distinctly and exclusively conferred upon the local governments and local legislatures, shall be conferred upon the general government and legislature."

Nothing could possibly be plainer. There has been no breach of trust.

But there has been a great change, largely effected by the privy council which Quebec nationalists now contend was a far more impartial body than the present Supreme Court of Canada. In effect the residual power has been largely stripped away. Meanwhile the exact opposite has happened in the United States where the central government has enormously expanded its power. Mr. Faribault is so fascinated with the letter of constitutions that he ignores the reality.

But Ottawa, we are told, regards itself as the successor of the Imperial parliament. What Ottawa may (or may not) think and what the courts decide are two different matters. Mr. Faribault might find comfort in the unanimous Supreme Court decision of 1951 in the Nova Scotia delegation case. All the judges said, in various ways, that the Parliament of Canda and the several legislatures are each sovereign in their respective spheres. Both are successors of the Imperial Parliament.

It is true, manifestly, that in dignity and importance Ottawa overshadows the provinces. This is not unnatural because it represents all of us, French and English. Would Mr. Faribault suggest that the whole should not be greater than the part?

Weakening Effect

As businessman, Mr. Faribault seems to agree that responsibility for the economy should remain in Ottawa. But the opting out process, which he would carry much further in the name of special status, would erode the power of Ottawa to discharge its responsibility and thus weaken all parts of the country.

Presumably Mr. Faribault hopes to guard against this by a clear definition of powers and responsibilities in his new constitution. This is a beautiful theory. But Macdonald, an able, realistic farsighted man, was convinced after the Quebec conference that they had "avoided all conflict of jurisdiction and authority." Had this been so, our history would have been very different. Now in centennial year the illusion is abroad that all our problems could be resolved by a simple constitutional rewrite job.

It would be recklessly irresponsible for a great party to commit itself in principle to a special status as yet only dimly imagined. For the sequel would be a struggle to flesh it out. How special? How much should be added to the special provisions reasonably inserted in the act of 1867? Mr. Faribault's limited special status? Something bolder? One set of politicians would bid against another in appeals to nationalist pride. The most probable end would be, not a province unlike the others, but a nation state within a nation state. If we wish to make Canada the poorest possible insurance risk, this is the way to do it.

Should Be Wary

Some Conservatives in Parliament were bitterly critical of opting out when the Liberals were dazzled with it. It is in fact difficult to believe that a Conservative government in its right mind could move far in this direction. This is all the more reason why the candidates for the succession should be extremely wary of constitutional commitments. When men such as Mr. Faribault now believe, quite wrongly, that there has been a "breach of trust," it would be most dangerous to encourage exciting new expectations which could not subsequently be fulfilled.

Words carelessly spoken may come back to haunt a man and haunt the country. It may not be easy in present circumstances for the party campaigners to think beyond September and those doubtful ballots. But certainly no candidate who bids for quick popularity by gestures toward special status will deserve to be supported at the convention.

Your report (CP) Monday on the International Peace Arch Rally on Sunday, brief, and except for numbers of attendance quite accurate, could perhaps be expanded for the benefit of interested readers.

Rev. J. R. Hord took as his theme the need for repentance on the part of the white-skinned male (female too?) who has claimed this century for his own and who has proved himself violent, greedy and insensitive to the laws of the God he is fond of proclaiming and to the rightful aspirations of the rest of the world's human family. True repentance consists in admission of error first, and then of seeking other ways of doing. Mr. Hord's much-publicized statement that Canadians should welcome draft-resisters, whom he compared to the United Empire Loyalists of earlier days, was only one of several practical suggestions that we, here and now, might consider to give substance to the repentance of which he spoke.

As to the numbers quoted, Victoria and the Island sent more than 50 participants by actual count. CBC's educated guess was 1,500 present. From past experience we might double that and be nearer the actual figure.—Mrs. Dorcas Blair, 450 Dallas.

Check on Mileage

I read in the Times a few days ago a statement about the Isle of Man saying that the distance from the Island to the mainland is 16 miles. That is incorrect. The shortest distance is from Ramsey to Cumberland, roughly between 40 and 50 miles.—Ellas Vannin.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"HERE, LET ME DO IT. THAT'S A MAN'S JOB!"

Looking Back

From The Times of August 14, 1907.

Medicine Hat: The whole city was violently shaken this morning by an explosion of powder stored in an old residence just outside the corporation limits.

The powder was being transferred to the new magazine at Dunmore Junction and it is thought one of the men working there may have carelessly dropped a match or cigarette causing it to ignite.

Two men were in the building at the time, one of whom was severely burned and is not expected to live.

Realities For Nasser

By MAX LERNER
from Washington

FINALLY Gamal Abdel Nasser seems to have decided, if not to recognize Israel's sovereignty, at least to recognize the sovereignty of the reality principle in political life. Any commentator who has spent some time in Egypt, as I did once during the between-wars' period, recalls Mohammed Hassenein Heykal, Nasser's crony and favorite editor, and therefore policy spokesman. I remember dancing attendance on Heykal for a week, trying to arrange an unrehearsed interview with Nasser — one that would not be a previously prepared and edited questions and answers session.

Heykal has made news lately with an editorial calling for the resumption of diplomatic ties with the United States, on the very factual ground that Egypt "cannot afford a head-on clash" with American power.

What this means is that the policy pursued independently both by Israel and the United States, of standing firm and allowing the Arab states a chance for some long reflective thoughts on their situation, is starting to pay off.

Nasser may have been prodded somwhat in his thinking by some harsh facts of life: that Egypt's canal revenue has stopped, that its tourism revenue has collapsed, that his cotton crop is of little use because of a boll-weevil affliction, and that his Soviet patrons have little stomach for another prestige defeat as disastrous as that of the Arab-Israeli war.

Albatross

While the Russians have recouped most of Nasser's plane losses and perhaps half his tank losses, they don't want to hang around their necks the albatross of subsidizing another war while trying impossibly to medicine a sick Egyptian economy.

One is tempted to ask, if the wintry hostility of Egypt to America begins to thaw, can the spring of Arab-Israeli negotiations be far behind? It would be an optimistic way of putting the question, yet not recklessly wishful.

Jordan has already reached an accord with Israel on the return of the Jordanian refugees to the west bank of the river, now held by Israel. The thorny question of Israel's sovereignty was somehow resolved by a refugee application form under three auspices — Israel, Jordan and the United Nations — which isn't a bad formula for later peace negotiations.

There is a Soviet-American plan for Israeli withdrawals (from how many areas?) after direct Arab-Israeli peace talks, and there are reports from Cairo that Nasser is willing finally to drink this bitter tea because he is the only Arab leader with enough strength to propose it and survive. Syria and Algeria (what is Boumedienne's game?) still talk of this as surrender and treason, but the coming Arab summit meeting at Khartoum will give Nasser, backed by Jordan, the Saudis, Tunisia, Morocco, Yemen, the Sudan, a chance to ask the hold-outs what alternative they propose.

Way Out

Within this context I have been rereading some of the recent magazine pieces by left-wing American commentators, urging Israel to cut its ties with America and the West, and to seek a "socialist" destiny as part of the total Arab power pattern in the Middle East. Reading them you have to rub your eyes in disbelief and dismay at how far from reality an ideological bias can carry knowledgeable writers.

The fact remains that Israel is tied neither to the West nor the East by the kind of dependence that Nasser now has on the Soviets. It buys its arms where it can, including France and America, and even Charles de Gaulle's latter-day bitterness against Israel does not mean that the French will let the Israelis shift their plane contracts to the British firms. As the Arab states shift closer to the Soviet Union it is natural that the American governments, in Latin-America as well as North America should have a stronger stake than ever in Israel's survival and strength, as a counterbalance to the Arab-Communist alliance.

Science and Technology

But Israel is not tied to the West. It is tied to modern science and technology, which are largely Western and without which it could not have survived. And it is tied to the humanist tradition, to which the Jews have historically contributed, and obviously it has strong psychological and moral links with the American Jewish community.

It is curious that a few voices on the American Left should now be asking Israel to turn its back on America, exactly when Nasser and Heykal have reluctantly come to recognize America's world position as a fact of life. And given the continuing Arab ferocity against Israel, which is strong even when it is still powerless, it is curious that these voices should be asking Israel to knock on the door of the Arabs with any hope of being accepted into their power pattern.

My own belief has nothing to do with this warmed-over version of tired old notions of an Israeli-Arab "socialist alliance". There is a new world being born in the developing areas, a world of modern technology and of democratic realities. The Israelis have staked out their claim as part of this new world, and given half a chance they will work for its being a peaceful world. But the half-chance must be given to them. It cannot be withheld.

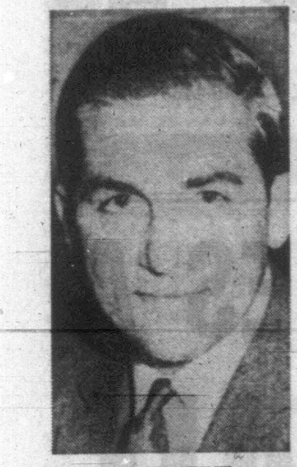
DRASTIC ARMY ACTIONS NO CURE FOR GREEK ILLS

By MICHAEL WALL
The Manchester Guardian

ATHENS — The Greek army officers are past their first 100 days of power. The country remains relatively calm and this fact, they claim, proves they have the support of the majority of the people.

They can point to some achievements which without doubt make the lot of the ordinary citizen somewhat easier. The buses, trains and inter-island boats run on time, the postal services work at last, the civil servants have strictest orders to deal promptly with every application put before them—or the army wants to know the reason why.

There have naturally been no strikes, no political activities and no political demonstrations. All this, some Greeks claim, is a positive advantage of having a non-political, militarily dominated government in power.



CONSTANTINE
. . . kingpin

But there is another side. Daily the military tribunal hands out savage prison sentences for such offences as using insulting words against the king, carrying a gun without a licence, painting wall slogans, disobeying the military's orders.

On the island of Yioura some 2,400 people are still detained for being communists or fellow travelers, on the island of Folegandros 17 deputies of ex-premier George Papandreou's Center Union's party are held, but in more comfortable conditions, and in Athens at the headquarters of the traffic police at Maroussi a number of public figures, including newspaper publisher Christos Lambarkis, the former director of Athens Radio, Sakis Pepanis, two former generals and two ex-ministers of the Center Union, are among others being held without yet being tried.

Keep Mouths Shut

The people now know full well that it does not pay to get involved with either police or the military, and therefore keep their mouths shut. One of the most baffling tasks in Greece is to determine the real mood of the people.

One meets those who are bitterly opposed to the regime and all it stands for, and are prepared to work towards bringing it down. One meets others who claim to have been sickened by the corruption and personal opportunism of previous political governments and are convinced that whatever the results of the elections which never took place, the communists will have emerged as a dominant force in Greek political life. But the majority appear to take the attitude, "let's see what happens."

Beneath the surface the picture is even more unclear. The national government has not yet managed to create for itself an image of having either personality or policy. No one person has emerged as a clear leader of government or country.

When the king insisted on civilians taking the premiership and the majority of ministries, he intended the domination of the military to be gradually erased. This has not happened and it is the military who have the only voice that counts in the cabinet.

The civilian ministers listen to the colonels who have taken over the senior posts in their ministries. Of the four officers with senior government responsibilities Interior Minister Brigadier Stylianos Patakos is the only one to have sparked the public's imagination.

Patakos, the man who organized the takeover at Athens on April 21, when he was commander of the tank training unit, has revealed himself to be a "character." Every night he is in Athens he sees foreign correspondents to answer their questions, and the sessions tend to end hilariously with the correspondents telling the latest jokes against himself and his government circulating the city.

He loves them. When I was in his office he told someone who telephoned him in English "don't talk politics, the line may be tapped and Patakos may hear about it."

He alone of the military leaders has established some personal popularity. He is widely regarded as being scrupulously honest, accessible to anyone (every time he leaves his office he is accosted by people with requests for his intervention in their problems) and a fair and competent administrator. His opponents dismiss him as a buffoon.

While Patakos has been creating his public image, Col. Anastasios Papadopoulos has retreated into the background and he now grants interviews reluctantly and rarely. His public appearances are so few that rumors circulate that he has been dismissed, taken to hospital or is having talks in Ankara or Nicosia. He then appears to put an end to them.

As minister to the prime minister he is responsible for the press and the government information services, he is planning and carrying out the reorganization of the civil service and public administration. he doubtless has the strongest voice in hammering out the new constitution, and it is believed he has overall responsibility for ensuring the armed services and the professions are entirely purged of the politically unreliable.

Deceptive

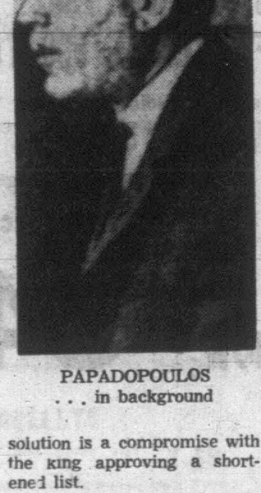
The prime minister, Constantin Kollias, is seldom seen or heard, but the vice-premier, and the minister of national defense, General Grigoris Spandidakis is a close runner up to Brigadier Patakos in public appearances.

Again the outward appearances that the government is fully in control may be deceptive. Many of the decrees and statements bear the marks of compromise. Pressures on the government come from the king and from abroad. There are two significant cases in point.

The military leaders recognize that their action of April 21 has created a precedent for service officers to forcibly intervene in government. They know full well that they do not have the complete allegiance of the entire officer force.

They are aware too that among the middle and junior ranks there is discontent at the slowness in promotion. If their own position is to be secured and if Greece is to be spared violence, the officers whose allegiance is uncertain and the discontent of the junior officers must be removed.

A list—it is said to contain 900 names—has been drawn up and submitted to the king. However, up to now King Constantine has not agreed, and no retirements have been announced. The most likely solution is a compromise with the king approving a shortened list.



PAPADOPOULOS
. . . in background

Over the matter of press censorship the government has also apparently compromised but again, the final solution has not emerged.

The government has been acutely aware that censorship has elicited stern criticism abroad, particularly from the U.S. government, and, at home, has been strongly resisted by the most influential Greek publisher, Mrs Helen Vlachau. So, the officers finally decided to restore Article 14 of the constitution which guaranteed press freedom.

This however, will be modified by a new press law forbidding criticism of government policies or personalities, mention of any politician or political party and reprinting of articles concerning Greece which appear in the foreign press.

There is to be no censor but any issue against the law would be confiscated—an expensive penalty for Greek publishers—and the publishers would be held responsible.

Apparently Mrs. Vlachau accepted these conditions but wanted to see them in practice before restarting publication. The government, however, is suggesting that the lifting of censorship will be dependent on her papers reappearing first. Mrs. Vlachau has refused to comply.

There are no signs that any of the other restrictions will be lifted in the forseeable future. The banning of meetings of more than five people, for example, is strictly in force.

It is when one tries to discuss the day when the process of "re-education" will be completed, and the people will be considered trustworthy enough to choose their own government, that all mouths are shut in determined silence.

Brigadier Patakos again confirmed to me that the constitution would be revised within the six months promised, that there would be a referendum to approve it, and that elections would be held under it. When he asked how far ahead this would be he replied: "When the people are ready."

He went on to explain that if the government was to give a date now the people and the politicans would do nothing but think and work towards that date, the stability achieved would be shattered and the aims of the revolution would be swept away.

PATAKOS
. . . a character

The aim now is to maintain order and stability. But if the opposition begins to disrupt Greek life in any serious way it will be punished and punished hard.

The non-communist resistance group has made a deliberate decision not to resort to violence. It knows what the consequences will be. It knows too that a proportion of the population actively supports the government and in effect will act as a widespread informer system. It also realizes a much larger proportion of the population, which now reserves judgment on the regime, would immediately lose all sympathy with the opposition if it started any violent counter-activities.

The government's major worry at the moment is the state of the economy. The recession, which was first felt in the last quarter of 1966, and which had deepened every since is due in part to the public's doubts about the future.

Every shop and restaurant reports a continuing decline in business and in turn, the manufacturers, merchants, producers, and importers are feeling the pinch. The opposition intends to support this trend by whispering the slogan: "Don't buy anything you don't need."

Opposition Hopes

Their hope is that the government will be defeated by the country's economic problems and will be forced to give way to the politicians and the former advisers.

Those who believe in the good intentions of the colonels are convinced that once the new constitution is drawn up relaxation of the restrictions on the personal liberties will follow and a formula will be found to allow the colonels to withdraw from power.

King Constantine remains silent, but not inactive. He has taken three recent long tours of the country, visiting particularly army units. If he feels assured of the army's loyalty, he will be in a stronger position to exercise pressure on the government and carry out their pledge to him to return the country to constitutional rule.

The form the new constitution will take is as unclear as all else. The committee of 20 jurists, charged with its redrafting, is apparently making slow and far from unanimous progress, and few expect its verdict to satisfy the military.

The army is unlikely to accept any control by the politicians over its appointments in the future, and will want to be subservient only to the king.

Yet this will give the king even more power than he has now and will not be acceptable to many army officers who want to see the monarchy's political power reduced.

The divisions within Greece are as deep as ever beneath the surface and it is hard to see how the military can administer the needed healing hand.

China Convulsions May Mark the End Of Mao's Reign

By JOHN KIRKWOOD

HONG KONG — Wuhan . . . Shanghai . . . Chungking . . . Chengtu . . . Shantung . . . Kwangtung . . . Sinkaing.

Every day, with increasing intensity, the reports come filtering through to Hong Kong of dramatic, violent, important developments in these widely scattered areas of China.

And, more and more as each new report arrives, the patient China-watchers of the Western world who use this favorite listening post on China's doorstep agree that the end of Chairman Mao Tse-tung's Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution is now in sight.

Some observers, in fact, are adamant that the revolution has bogged down into utter failure in the majority of China's provinces and Chairman Mao now commands allegiance in only a handful of provinces and main cities.

Some even go so far as to insist that Chairman Mao is finished as an effective political force, that he will be thrown out of power by the end of the year and that the gospel of "Maoism" is, to use one of the Maoists' own pet phrases, "headed for the dustbin of history."

Others see Chairman Mao being "kicked upstairs" into a titular position as head of state with little power while someone else in the Communist Party assumes the reins of power.

And when it comes to speculating on just who that person might be, the popular guesses among the watchers here narrow down to one of two men: the urbane and widely-travelled Premier Chou En-lai, who seems to be doing the job of actually running the country while the other politicians bicker among themselves; and President Liu Shao-chi, the elderly head-of-state pilloried by the Maoists becasue of his fairly moderate policies.

●

But, as professional China-watchers are the first to admit, predicting the turn of future events in a country currently undergoing such acute convulsions as China is a bit like accurately guessing the winner of the Grand National.

It could be that, with the dedicated help of his seemingly shrewd and ambitious wife, a former Mandarin film star named Madame Chiang Ching, Chairman Mao may still be able to cling to power for years to come.

But to do this he will undoubtedly have to succeed in three vital things:

He will have to regain all the support he has lost in the past 18 months or so in the vast rural areas of the provinces.

He will have to restore the centralization of the government under which provincial and regional authorities pay allegiance directly to Peking.

He will have to gain the full support of the powerful People's Liberation Army and the rest of China's armed forces.

To accomplish all these objectives in the face of what appears a growing discontent about China's living conditions, educational practices and Chairman Mao's disastrous handling of economic affairs, and in the face of swelling resistance by followers of President Liu is an extremely tall order.

Few, if any, observers here think Chairman Mao will be able to fill it.

For, never since the days of the Communist takeover has China appeared so utterly split and fragmented as she is today.

Chairman Mao's rule of centralized government has apparently gone out the window.

The entire political and economic administration now seems almost completely decentralized, Mao's great Cultural Revolution appears to have shattered the chain of command which once held the country's masses together.

And the result is a chaotic China composed of roving bands of Maoist revolutionaries warring with not only local revolutionary groups loyal to President Liu or other prominent politicians, but also with units of the People's Liberation Army who are apparently seriously split among their own allegiances.

In a country of 700 million people, spread over a vast land area, where communications are not the best in the world, and where each bickering faction mounts its own propaganda machine, the resulting confusion is easy to understand.

For several weeks now many observers here have been predicting that China would soon become embroiled in a massive civil war sweeping the country, mainly as a result of the fierce and uncompromising antagonism between supporters of Chairman Mao and supporters of President Liu.

Said one: "If the Chinese people in some provinces, such as Kirin and Kwangsi, took heart from General Chen Tsai-tao (the military commander in troubled Wuhan, scene of one of the major defiant moves against Chairman Mao's authority) and followed his example of defiance of Peking, then the situation could develop into full-scale civil war."

●

And, if wall posters in Peking are to be taken as reliable, this situation might have now developed.

The Peking Government, meanwhile, has called on the People's Liberation Army to remain loyal to Chairman Mao's revolutionary line and denounce "bourgeois reactionaries" including those in the military.

But at the same time it has been reported the Armed Forces are seriously divided in their loyalties—between Chairman Mao, President Liu and Premier Chou—and it was recently reported that nine of China's 13 military district commanders pointedly stayed away from celebrations held in Peking to mark the 40th anniversary of the founding of the army.

Whether the troubles plaguing China now will actually develop into full-scale war, whether Chairman Mao will soon be toppled from his throne, whether the cult of "Maoism" will be replaced by Chinese Communism—all these intangibles remain to be seen.

But there can be no doubt now that China's current internal situation is desperately serious and is neatly summed up by one observer here who said the other day:

"This is the first time there has been any official admission of strong opposition to Chairman Mao Tse-tung, and this situation is now common throughout China."

Fulton's Image Changed By Swinging Campaign

By PETER C. NEWMAN

OTTAWA — One of the early surprises of the Conservative leadership convention could be the first-ballot strength of E. Davie Fulton, the former justice minister who has been stumping the country for the last six months in a long, shrewd, though scarcely showy, campaign to capture the support of voting delegates.

Newman

If Fulton does come on strong on the afternoon of September 9, his success will be due not just to his own relentlessly energetic efforts, but to the fact that he's been able to put together the youngest, swingiest, most intelligent campaign staff of any of the Tory contenders.

When Fulton first threw himself into the leadership contest last February 24, his strategy was to run full-out all the way so that by the time the convention rolled around, he would be the man to beat. The late entries of Robert Stanfield and Duff Roblin have thrown overboard all early calculations, including this one. But Fulton remains a leading contender with his supporters claiming 745 sure votes on the first ballot.

Special Attraction

The crunch for Fulton will come on the ballots that follow and no one can predict whether he will be a popular second choice or if his strength will melt as the delegates reach for consensus. But whatever happens, the campaign he's waged should serve to change his image as a detached intellectual and to publicly point up what's always been true: That he has a special attraction to the young and intelligent and special ability to engender fierce loyalty in his followers.

In the late fifties and early sixties when Fulton was minister of justice, his office was staffed by a series of executive assistants—most of them lawyers, all of them young—who were tough, witty, intense and who had, in brief, a quality that was rare in the Diefenbaker era: style.

The same breed—in fact some of the same men—are now running his leadership attempt. The campaign manager is Lowell Murray, 30, a Nova Scotian who came to Ottawa first when he was 24 and has been applying a shrewd brain and a perceptive eye to the intricacies of party politics ever since. Murray draws on the energies and advice of a headquarters staff and network of key workers in Brian Mulroney, Michel Cogger, Joe Clark, Rene Dionne—who are for the most part under 30 but hard-nosed pols for all their youthfulness.

Since March 1, Fulton has been on the road six days a week. By the end of August he will have travelled 75,000 miles (by comparison John Diefenbaker travelled 14,000 miles in the 1963 campaign) and addressed 145 political functions. He will have visited some 200 constituencies and personally met nearly three-quarters of the party's delegates—an endurance record unmatched by any of his competitors.

Behind this, says Lowell Murray, is Fulton's belief that the delegates "have a proper sense of their own importance. They're not going to be sweet-talked into voting for somebody unless they've seen him and feel they know him." This has been the whole thrust of the Fulton appeal: To meet and impress the majority of delegates on their home ground so that they come to Toronto with some sense of commitment to the Fulton campaign.

FULTON
. . . hard driving

Campaign Strategy

From the start, Fulton has concentrated on gathering hard-core support among the party's youth wing, and it's here, under the management of Michael Vineberg, the president of the P.C. Student Federation, that he has had his most pronounced success.

Although Fulton's strength in his native British Columbia is not overwhelming, he has had outstanding success in Alberta and expects to get a smattering of votes from both Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Although the Quebec situation remains fluid, Fulton was the first Tory candidate to recognize the province's new political reality. It is no longer possible for political bosses to deliver the Quebec vote. It's still desirable to recruit the influential Montreal lawyers, but their mandate has been reduced with most delegates making up their own minds and ignoring the dictates of once-powerful political overlords. The best way to capture the Quebec vote now is to stump the province, riding by dusty riding, and this is exactly what Fulton has been doing.

While Fulton has been touring the country, his headquarters has been working on plans to put on a lively show at the convention itself. Preparations include a special Fulton song (in the rhythms of the Tijuana Brass) and 25 walkie-talkies to link key organizers with his headquarters at the Westbury Hotel.

None of these factors—neither hard work and shrewd planning nor loyalty and razzle dazzle—can guarantee Davie Fulton the leadership of the Conservative party. But they add up to a great campaign.

Anyone For Croquet?

By ADAM RAPHAEL

LONDON — Croquet's 100th anniversary was celebrated in genteel tones of strangulated good breeding at Hurlingham Club here.

Not a cheer, not a boo, not a clap disturbed the Champion of Champions tournament, though one occasionally caught on the wind a whispered "well done, sir," or an anguished "missed it!"

Croquet, as played at Hurlingham, one of the most beautiful clubs in Britain whose lawns are renowned throughout the world, is not to be confused with the hit and miss variety on the vicar's cabbage patch.

Gentility and white flannels should not also be taken for amateurish good fun. Not far under the surface of croquet at its highest levels is a quiet viciousness that shows up professional wrestling for the sham it is.

Croquet players may not scream on the ropes but, as they watch their opponents peg out, they writhe in their chairs (and this time it's the real thing).

On the green next door the bowlers played their hearts out but as a croquet player pointed out acidly: "It's a very different game with very different players."

England welcomes home the Hon. John Gilbey

Arriving home after another International Tour, the Hon. John Gilbey remarks on the excellent standards of Gilbey's London Dry in Canada. And Gilbey's International Quality Controller announces that he will now compare the English Gilbey's with its overseas brother:

"My gin has been the best gin in the world for no less than 110 years," says the Hon. John Gilbey. "In Canada, for example, I have found that Gilbey's London Dry perfectly matches the original English standard. So now I intend to compare our English product with it."

Next time you see Gilbey's famous frosty bottle, remember the Hon. John Gilbey and his job as Gilbey's International Quality Controller. When you see the gin with the perfect balance for mixed drinks, bear in mind his proud words: "This is my gin! For no less than 110 years it has carried my family's name. Gilbey's London Dry is the gin with the perfect balance for mixed drinks. And I shall make sure it stays that way."

Ferry Strike Strands Thousands in Maritimes

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Ferry service between Newfoundland and Nova Scotia was back in operation early today following a weekend strike, but it may take up to three days to clear a backlog of passengers waiting to cross the Cabot Strait.

The CNR car ferries Lief Eiriksson and William Carson left their respective terminals here and at Port aux Basques, Nfld., just before dawn today.

Each of the two ferries ordinarily makes one round trip each day. They will try to make two a day until all strike-stalled passengers and their vehicles are transported.

A spokesman at the CNR wharf said early today that no freight will be carried by the ferries, the only link between Newfoundland and the mainland for motorists, until all delayed passenger traffic is cleared.

The Lief Eiriksson sailed with 300 passengers and another 300 people were still waiting at the wharf here.

The situation at Port aux Basques was more urgent, with more than 1,500 people reported stranded. The first load from there of about 300 people sailed on the William Carson.

Crew members of the ferries William Carson and Lief Eiriksson left their jobs in a salary dispute with the CNR. However, they returned to work late Sunday after William J. Smith of Ottawa, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers, advised the men to return to their jobs, pending release of a conciliation board report on the dispute.

ANSWERED RADIO PLEA

Lloyd K. Abbott of Moncton, union general chairman in the Atlantic region, said earlier that the walkout was unauthorized.

Mayor Mark Staple of Port aux Basques, said the town council had to grant special permission to a grocery store, usually closed on Sunday, to open to provide food for waiting ferry passengers.

Other passengers, who had run short of money, were fed by the Royal Canadian Legion branch.

H· said hotels and motels were filled.

The situation was much the same at this Nova Scotia terminal, where residents answered a radio request with food and coffee for stranded travellers.

Most public halls were turned into emergency centres and the Salvation Army served meals to several hundred passengers.

Bystanders Aid Escape Of Suspect

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 100 bystanders dragged a girl narcotics suspect from the hands of two detectives here Sunday and held them helpless while she escaped, police said.

The incident occurred in mid-afternoon on a busy street corner in Spanish Harlem, which was wracked by three nights of disorder last month.

It began and ended so quickly, police said, that the detectives were unable to catch any of the bystanders.

STANFIELD

WIN OR LOSE CONTEST

Stanfield May Take Plunge

OTTAWA (CP) — Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia indicated today he might enter federal politics even if he does not win the Conservative leadership next month.

He said at a press conference he feels his leadership campaign is "going very well indeed" and added with a grin it would be hard for him to believe Canada would suffer a setback of such magnitude as his not winning the party leadership.

He had been assured that a federal riding in Nova Scotia would be opened up to him if he became leader.

Mr. Stanfield said that if he doesn't win the leadership, his decision on whether to remain premier of Nova Scotia would depend on two factors—the views of the Conservative leader and consultation with his cabinet colleagues.

He added that the leader "might not want me in federal politics."

MARKET SUMMARIES

Wall Street Takes Plunge

Wall Street sagged in heavy trading today and Toronto slumped following the New York pattern.

AT VANCOUVER most mining issures registered gains in dull trading to noon.

Buttle added .10 to $1.28 and Atlas put on .15 to $3.90. Cariboo Bell jumped .10 to $1, and Northlode added the same climbing to .76. PC Explorations was among the leaders adding .13 to $2.18. Westland lost .20 to $3.20.

Most oil issues also posted gained with R. C, Ventures adding .04 to .42 and Share, up .05 to .63.

Neon led the industrials climbing .25 to $8.

Volume to 11 a.m. was 669,138 shares.

AT NEW YORK the list was continuing Friday's decline amid forecasts that a consolidation of the recent climb to new 1967 highs was in order.

Losses outnumbered gains by a ratio of more than 7 to 4.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.2 to 339.1, with industrials off 2.2, rails off .5 and utilities off .1.

AT TORONTO Inco dropped 1½ to 108½, CPR 1 to 71¾ and Magna Electronics ⅝ to 17½.

On the plus side, Harding Carpets and Levy gained 1½ each to 18 and 28¾ and Metropolitan Stores 1⅞ to 28⅞.

Speculative activity remained heavy as Consolidated Negus rose 25 cents to 1.32 on 421,000 shares.

Among western oils, Dome gained ½ to 59½ and Hudson's Bay ⅝ to 36⅞.

AT MONTREAL sagging utility index brought the market to lower levels in early afternoon trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Bell Telephone and Interprovincial Pipe Line each lost ⅝ to 48⅛ and 23, respectively as index dropped almost one point.

CPR slid ⅞ to 71¾ and Algoma, whose first-half earnings were down sharply, ½ to 26½. Also off ½ was International Nickel, which dipped a total of 5⅛ points last week.

AT LONDON subdued equities started the week on the stock market rather indecisively. Some caution was apparent preceeding announcement Tuesday of U.K. trade figures.

Gilts were firm on the prospects of the reinvestment of steel nationalization money. Gains were widespread.

Dollar stocks made a mixed showing. Among Canadian issues, International Nickel and Hudson Bay Oil and Gas gave ground, but Algoma was a firm spot. Other Canadian issues moved narrowly around Friday's closing levels.

Drug Costs Hurting Taxpayers

TORONTO (CP)—Douglas Denholm, president of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, said today an "unfair" pricing system by drug manufacturers is forcing Canadians to subsidize hospitals.

Mr. Denholm said in an interview the system forces individual Canadians to pay for substantial discounts the manufacturers grant to hospitals for both brand-name and generic drugs.

"That leaves the on-the-street patient subsidizing this low-cost supply to government-supported agencies," Mr. Denholm said.

He said he planned to upbraid the manufacturers in his annual report to the association, representing retail druggists, which began its annual convention here today.

RECOMMENDS BALANCE

He recommended that all drug manufacturers balance their prices, lowering the cost for drug stores and raising it in the case of hospitals and government institutions.

Mr. Denholm also suggested a recommendation to the Canadian Medical Association that wherever possible doctors prescribe to their patients drugs by their generic or chemical names, not by their brand or commercial names.

"We are all for it," except in cases where brand name drugs are known to be more effective than the chemical product," Mr. Denholm said.

"It means we can pass on the lower price to the consumer because we can decrease our inventory investment. Instead of having a high-priced drug on our shelves, we can have lower-priced ones that cost us less."

Earlier this year, a special parliamentary committee studying the cost of drugs said Canadians were given too many brand-name prescriptions. It had found there was no significant difference between chemical and brand-name drugs.

CANADA HURT BY PRICE BITE

LONDON (CP) — The price bite on the Canadian spender has been tightening at a faster rate than in any major Western industrial country.

Figures on consumer prices in eight main countries show costs for goods and services rose most rapidly in Canada in the 12 months ended last May.

The statistics, which also cover the United States, Japan and five West European countries, were published in London Monday by the Paris-based Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development.

The Canadian index rose 3.3 per cent in the year, followed closely by Italy and Japan. The U.S. index rose 2.7 per cent. West Germany had the most stable price index in the period, recording a rise of 1.3 per cent.

Canadian food prices held steady in the period, rising only three-tenths of one per cent, but rents climbed 4.6 per cent.

MONTH OLD ALREADY

U.S. Copper Strike May Be Longest One

By LARRY DUM

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Families of 42,000 striking copper workers and the dozen or more copper towns are awaiting the next payday, but it seems no closer now than when the strike began one month ago today.

Most people close to the situation feel this could be the longest copper strike of them all, longer than the six-month work-stoppage of 1959-60.

"The bad thing," says bar owner Bill Propkopis. "is that between strikes you never make up what you lost."

Strikes haven't been infrequent in the copper industry. But this strike marks the first time a single major union has been able to press an industry-wide shutdown. The big four producers — Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, Anaconda and American Smelting and Refining Co.—face a labor force newly dominated by the United Steelworkers of America (AFL-CIO).

Before the Steelworkers and the old International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers had been the two dominant bargaining agents. They merged this year.

REMAIN ADAMANT

After 31 days, pickets seem as determined as they were a month ago to back the Steelworker pronouncement that this would be "the most successful strike the copper industry has ever known."

Principal users of copper are the defence industries and the automakers. Stockpiles and imports so far have prevented any known shortages.

Estimating the strike's cost is difficult; some say more than $1,000,000 a day. Kennecott claims its shutdown is costing more than $4,000,000 a week.

The issues are not all clear, but the companies claim they pay in excess of $4 an hour, including benefits. They claim their best offer is an increase of about 50 cents an hour during a three-year period, but that union demands total more than $1 an hour.

Neon Products Profits Decline

VANCOUVER (CP) — Neon Products of Canada Ltd. has reported profits for the year ending April 30 to $663,648 or 60 cents per share.

President Harvey R. Smith said the profit was down slightly from the $675,118 figure of last year, but consolidated revenue was up slightly at $8,505,574.

AVERAGE SALARY TOPS $100 LEVEL

OTTAWA (CP)—Average of weekly wages and salaries paid in May in a wide range of industries was $102.12, slightly lower than in April but $6.13 a week higher than in May last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Foursomes Failure Canada's Downfall

British, New Zealanders Emerge As Co-Champions

By ERNIE FEDORUK

From first to fourth, in one easy lesson . . .

That was Canada's fortune when a week of golf and drama finally settled the Commonwealth team championship on the collective shoulders of Great Britain and New Zealand.

The six-man teams of five nations played 90 matches in five days. So if the 33-37—70 par figure of Victoria Golf Club can be taken as the counting stick, it can be assumed that almost 12,600 strokes were played.

Some importance can be placed with each and every stroke, but only until the last few could it be resolved that Commonwealth honors would be shared for the second successive time in the quadrennial event.

And right to the end, the host Canadian team harbored a hope that it could finish first. Diminutive Sandy Saddler, a Scottish baker, decided Canada wouldn't when he closed out his match with Canada's Keith Alexander, 3 and 1, late Saturday afternoon.

Needing a victory or only a split in the day's nine matches, Canada achieved neither when master baker Saddler finally served Great Britain its 5-4 victory. Thus the British and the Kiwis, getting a crucial, last-hole birdie from Bruce Stevens, shared the title.

New Zealand's lads did their bit by defeating Australia 5-4 after Stevens came in with a one-up victory over Bill Britten.

Story Was the Same On Saturday

Of the 12,600 (or so) shots, perhaps the most significant were Saturday's.

But greatest significance—to the Canadians, at least — lay with the results of the Scotch foursomes. This is the competition in which partners play one ball and alternate shots, and this is where Canada fell.

It happened Saturday, as it did throughout the week. Although non-playing captain Phil Farley juggled Canada's pairings, the British won two of three foursomes. Consequently, the 3-3 split in singles was of no use.

The Canadians fared miserably in the foursomes.

One of the juggled pairings—Nick Weslock and Alexander—scored Canada's only Saturday morning win. But it was only the third foursomes' triumph of the week. The Canadians lost eight and halved another.

Their brilliance in singles play was the only reason Canada stayed in contention through to the final turn of the ball. In the singles, Canada had a 15-9, won-lost record—the best, by far, of the tournament.

New Zealanders Planned It Well

Everyone agreed, unanimously, that its failing in the foursomes was Canada's downfall.

"The foursomes stymied us every time," said Farley. "One of the problems is that the other countries play this kind of golf, but we haven't learned yet."

New Zealand's captain, Bryan Silk, agreed. "A great deal of thought must go into getting suitable combinations. Players must be mentally suited to each other, compatible, and the good and bad of each one's game has to be considered," said Silk.

New Zealand's foursomes record—seven victories, two losses and three draws — was easily the best.

The Peter Vezich-Geoff Clarke combination suffered both losses while New Zealand's other pairings proved unbeatable. Ross Murray stuck with John Durry all week, as did Stuart Jones and Bruce Stevens. Both teams won three and halved their fourth match.

"Before coming to Canada," said Silk, "we played the Australians and took a good deal of time in sorting out our players (for the foursomes)."

Obviously, it paid off.

Foster, Baiocchi, Weslock Shine

The South Africans, who, on the strength overall matches won, nosed out Canada for third place, also fared well in foursomes. The South Africans won eight, lost four in team play.

It might also be remembered that, just before the tournament began, Silk, South African manager Louis du Plessis and Aussie captain Leslie Graham all made a point of emphasizing the importance of foursomes play.

Individually, the week's standouts were blond Rodney Foster of Britain, Hugh Baiocchi of South Africa and Canadian champion Nick Weslock. Each won all four of his singles matches.

Also unbeaten, but tied once, was South Africa's Rod Mullan.

50TH WIN

ARNIE HITS GOAL

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the 37-year-old millionaire golfing great, was as happy as a kid Sunday after winning the $100,000 American Golf Classic.

It wasn't the $20,000 cheque or just another triumph in an ever-growing list that had Palmer grinning radiantly.

It was professional victory No. 50, a long sought milestone which was becoming more evasive with every attempt.

The $20,000 vaulted Palmer to $138,189 for the year to keep him well ahead of the pack, boosted his official career earnings to $892,640 and put him over the $1,000,000 mark in unofficial earnings.

FOLLOWED LEADERS

Palmer started the final round Sunday tied with Jack Nicklaus, one stroke behind a relatively unknown trio of leaders — Jack McGowan, Allan Henning and Kermit Zarley.

McGowan, who recently returned to the tour after a three-month layoff because of hepatitis, went two over on the final hole to fall into a three-way tie for third place.

Doug Sanders finished second at 279 to take second money of $12,000.

Palmer's final-round 67 gave him a four-under-par 276 total.

McGowan, Zarley and Nicklaus finished in a third place tie at 280 and collected $5,600 each.

Gardner Dickinson, Bert Yancey and Bobby Nichols were grouped at 281, followed by Henning, Al Balding of Toronto, Tom Weiskopf and Kel Nagle at 282.

276—Arnold Palmer ($20,000); 279—Doug Sanders ($12,000); 280—Jack McGowan, Jack Nicklaus and Kermit Zarley ($5,600).
281—G. Dickinson, Bobby Nickols and Bert Yancey ($3,433).
282—Al Balding, Al Henning, Kel Nagle and Tom Weiskopf ($2,500).
285—Rex Baxter Jr. ($1,950) and Ron Cerrudo (amateur).
285—Bill Collins, Gene Littler and Dan Sikes Jr. ($1,700).
286—George Archer, Charlie Sifford ($1,450) and Marty Fleckman (amateur).

Nanaimo Reigns As B.C. Champs

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nanaimo Sunday defeated defending Canadian champion Vancouver Blue Boys 4-2 to win the British Columbia softball championship and the right to represent B.C. in the Canadian playoffs at Saskatoon, Aug. 24-28.

Blue Boys won the Canadian crown in 1965 and 1966.

George Willgress started the rally that gave Nanaimo the title, in the fifth inning. He hit a flyball that was dropped, and went to third base. He scored on a single to left by Ken Larson, the winning pitcher. Then Jim Peterson hit a ground single that was fumbled by the centre fielder who made a throw to home that catcher Al McLean couldn't handle. The play allowed Larson and Peterson to score.

In other Sunday games, Vancouver Allens defeated Kamloops 4-3, Nanaimo defeated Blue Boys 5-3, Blue Boys defeated Vancouver Allens 12-1, then Blue Boys blanked Nanaimo 6-0 to force the deciding game. It was a double knockout tournament.

Victoria's entry, Colony Inn, fell out of the running by suffering two straight shutout losses. Trail clipped Victoria 6-0 and then Kamloops came along to rack up a 10-0 win.

Mike's the Fireman To Cool Off Century

King's Hotel won a wild, 12-11 decision at Heywood Avenue Park Sunday to even their best-of-seven Stuffy McGinnis Softball League final series with Century Inn, 2-2.

Century trailed 12-6 going into the sixth inning, but charged from behind and threatened to tie the score in the top of the seventh. Only fine relief pitching by Mike Cox nipped off the last-inning rally.

Coming in with one out and the potential tying run on base, Cox retired the final two batters in rapid order.

In an exhibition contest Sunday, Sooke Forest Products whipped the league all-stars 7-4.

Foresters' Tom Sloan, who batted .477 this season, was awarded the league batting title. Century's Rutherford was selected the league's most valuable player while Dale Frost of Nelsons won the sportsmanship trophy.

Penguin Opener

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Penguins will meet the Montreal Canadiens Oct. 11 in the first National Hockey League game ever played in Pittsburgh.

STANDOUT for Britain in Commonwealth golf matches, blond Rodney Foster won all four of singles matches.

WILLINGDON CUP, AMATEUR... ...UNDER WAY TODAY

NOW, COLWOOD'S TURN . . .

One down, one to go.

That was the score today as interest in Greater Victoria's "Fortnight of Golf" shifted from Oak Bay to Colwood.

With the conclusion of the Commonwealth team matches at Victoria Golf Club on Saturday, the spotlight swung to Royal Colwood for today's start of the Canadian Amateur and Willingdon Cup team matches.

A total of 161 amateurs, including nine four-man Willingdon Cup teams, began teeing off this morning in the 36-hole qualifying test for the Canadian title. The final 18 holes will be played Tuesday and only the low 64 shooters qualify for match play.

The Willingdon Cup players—with one team from each province and a combined entry from New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island—will submit their two-day totals for amateur qualifying as well as in determining the interprovincial team championship.

Alberta, which beat Ontario by nine strokes in 1966 and British Columbia by four in 1965, is defending Willingdon Cup honors.

Ontario veteran Nick Weslock is the defending Canadian amateur champion.

The long and narrow Colwood course, measuring 6,507 yards with a par of 35-35—70, has been carefully groomed to meet the onslaught of an outstanding field that includes representation from seven countries.

Some have already been impressed by the course.

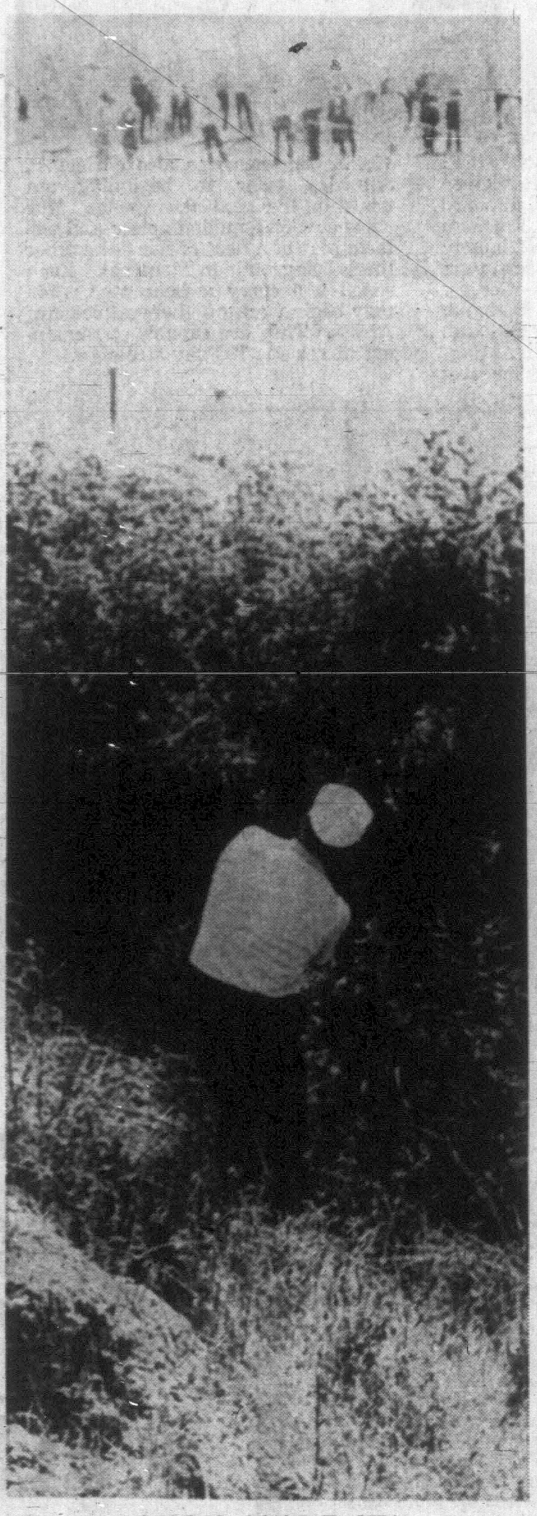
Gary Cowan, the Kitchener, Ont., blond who will defend the U.S. Amateur championship in Colorado Springs later this month, rates Colwood "an excellent course where good driving will be very important."

And South African Derek Kemp discovered Sunday that it also is a course where one must be "wide awake for every shot." The South African champ had a two-under 33 for the first nine holes in a practice round.

He hit the back nine for 41 blows and a 74.

Another South African, Rodney Mullan, had a par-matching 70 in his practice tour.

If there were any parbreakers in the large contingent that turned out for practice rounds during the weekend, they kept the good news to themselves.



NICK MADE IT!

Great recovery out of trouble on beach-side of Victoria Golf Club's seventh hole was pulled off Saturday by Canada's Nick Weslock. From this position, Weslock plunked ball to within three feet of hole, sank putt for half and went on to defeat England's Dudley Millensted for fourth straight singles victory in Commonwealth matches.

Sox Lose Pilot, Lead To 'Tippy-Toe' Twins

By Associated Press

Minnesota Twins tip-toed away with the American League lead during the weekend, using a pitch and putt attack more characteristic of Eddie Stanky's Chicago White Sox.

The Twins were nursing a 3-2 lead built on a Chicago-type rally of two singles, a double steal, an intentional walk, and a force play. When Tommie Agee opened the ninth with a long double, Stanky thought he was back in business.

But Agee, trying to stretch his hit, was thrown out at third on a close play. Stanky rushed umpire Bill Valentine, tossed his cap, jawed nose to nose and was invited to leave early. Two outs later, the rest of the White Sox followed.

TAKE AL LEAD

The 3-2 victory moved the Twins into the league lead, ½ game in front of Chicago. Detroit Tigers, who beat Baltimore Orioles 3-2, are third, one game back. California Angels took fourth place, 1½ games behind, by beating Boston Red Sox 3-2.

In other AL games, New York Yankees outslugged Cleveland Indians 15-11 and Washington Senators blanked Kansas City Athletics 2-0.

Stanky locked the clubhouse door for 30 minutes after the game and wouldn't discuss the play at third base on Agee. "We got beat 3-2," he said, "That's all I've got to say."

JENKINS WINS 16TH

Ferguson Jenkins, who wanted to be a relief pitcher, registered his 16th major league victory as a starter as Chicago Cubs blanked Philadelphia Phillies 1-0 in the second game of a doubleheader.

In the first game, Ken Holtzman and Bill Stoneman combined on a six-hitter for a 6-2 victory and a sweep of the doubleheader. Despite the double victory, the Cubs remain in third place, nine games behind league-leading St. Louis Cardinals.

In other NL games Sunday, New York Mets swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-0 and 11-9, Cincinnati Reds shut out Los Angeles Dodgers 3-0, St. Louis edged San Francisco Giants 2-1 and Atlanta Braves crushed Houston Astros 8-4.

(See scores on Page 11).

WRIGHT'S LONG PUTTS TOO MUCH FOR NORMAN

CALGARY (CP)—Billy Wright, of Edmonton, edged defending champion Moe Norman, of Gilford, Ont., on an extra hole Saturday to win the third annual $12,000 Willow Park golf tournament. Wright's share was $2,000.

Wright ended tied with Norman at six-under-par 207 over the 54-hole tournament. To force the extra hole, Wright sank a 20-foot uphill putt on the final hole, while Norman, who had never lost before in a Calgary tournament he entered, settled for a par four on the hole.

On the playoff hole, Wright drove into the rough on the left side, but recovered by hitting the ball 25 feet from the pin. Norman's nine-iron shot stopped 21 feet away.

Wright then sank his long putt for a birdie three and a victory.

Stan Homeniuk, Bob Breen and Finn Sorenson each had 209 to share third place, and win $783. Bob Cox was alone in fifth at 210, while Victoria's Bill Wakeham, with rounds of 70-73-68—211, won $400 for a sixth-place finish. Another Victorian, Vaughan Trapp, finished out of the money with 72-80-70—222.

B.C. FALTERS

Cole Leading Ladies' Close

SASKATOON (CP) — Betty Stanhope Cole won her first major golf championship in 1956, and since then has hardly paused for breath.

Mrs. Cole, who now plays out of Regina, fired a three-under-par 72 Sunday at the Saskatoon Riverside golf club to take a one-stroke lead into today's second round of the 54-hole Canadian women's close golf championship.

In other events Sunday, Saskatchewan took a seven-stroke lead over defending champion British Columbia in the interprovincial team matches, Liz Ferrier of Cooksville, Ont., fired a 38-40—78 to lead the 54-hole test for the Canadian junior championship, and Ontario took a three-stroke lead in the race for junior team honors.

Being out in front of the pack is nothing new for Mrs. Cole.

After winning the Canadian junior championship in 1956, she amassed numerous provincial titles and was runner-up in the close championship in 1963.

VETERAN MEMBER

She has played on the Alberta team 11 times, on the Ontario team twice, and this week is making her second appearance on the Saskatchewan team.

Her initial reaction to her Sunday round was "delighted."

In second place is Marilyn Palmer of Kamloops, B.C. with a 73. Joanne Goulet of Regina is third with 74.

The sub-par scores carded by Mrs. Cole and Miss Goulet were instrumental in leading the Saskatchewan team to its half-way lead in the senior team test. Other Saskatchewan scores were a 77 by Barbara Turnbull of Saskatoon and 82 by Carolyn McLure of Saskatoon.

MACWHA STUMBLES

B.C.'s hopes in senior team competition were dashed by an 80 carded by Janet MacWha of Vancouver and an 81 by Gayle Hitchens of Vancouver. Barbara Renwick, also of Vancouver, had a 78 to go with Miss Palmer's 73.

Quebec is in third place, 21 strokes behind B.C. The other teams in order are Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Ontario's junior team aggregate 162 provides a three-stroke margin over second-place Manitoba. Alberta is third at 166.

The others, in order, are British Columbia, Quebec, Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Tied for second place behind Miss Ferrier in the junior race are Coreen Brunham of Calgary and Tannys Aspevig of Winnipeg with 82s.

Cats Frustrated By Alert Eskies

HAMILTON (CP) — Play in the fourth quarter of Saturday's Canadian Football League game won 20-14 by Edmonton Eskimos symbolized the frustration suffered all night long by Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

After driving for their first touchdown on their second play from scrimmage with quarterback Joe Zuger passing two yards to flanker Tommy-Joe Coffey, the Ticats offence bogged down the rest of the night.

In the meantime, Edmonton got two touchdowns from halfback Jim Thomas, a pair of field goals and two converts from end Peter Kempf, while Hamilton linebacker Jim Reynolds contributed Hamilton's second touchdown off an interception and Zuger kicked a 69-yard single.

In the crucial fourth-quarter drive, with the ball on the Edmonton 23-yard line, Zuger overthrew end Ted Watkins in the end zone. Zuger was held to a three-yard gain on the second down, then thrown for a three-yard loss on the third-down gamble.

It was the second time Zuger overthrew a receiver in the end zone, having missed end Hal Patterson early in the third quarter. Watkins, picked up from Ottawa Rough Riders, earlier dropped three key passes from Zuger.

Transports, Greaves Launch Series Tonight

Hard-hitting Transport Workers and Greaves Movers, bitter rivals for the past three seasons, launch a best-of-seven series for the Senior Amateur Baseball League playoff crown tonight.

Transports take on Greaves at 6:30 p.m. at Royal Athletic Park in the series opener.

League-winner Transports swept a doubleheader from Rawlings Saturday to win their semi-final series 3-1. Workers won the first game 5-2 behind the five-hit pitching of Art Worth and took the nightcap 12-2 on Gord Strongman's five-hitter.

HELPS HIMSELF

Worth aided his won cause by driving in two insurance runs with a single in the seventh inning following hits by Terry Whitman and Strongman.

Playing manager Barry Harvey led the way for the Workers in the second game, driving in three runs with three hits. Mike McAvoy, a big man with the bat all year, smacked a double and two singles to drive home two runs.

U.S. OARSMEN DOMINATE REGATTA

Kiwi Crew Surprises

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—The Americans stole the championship, while the New Zealanders stole the show at the grand finals of the first North American rowing championships Sunday.

The U.S. crews won a gold medal in the pairs with cox event and silver medals in the fours with and without cox as well as the double sculls to pile up 35 points over-all. The Danish crews finished second with 25 points.

A hard-working crew of heavy eights from New Zealand, rowing together for the second time, swept to the most popular victory of the day.

The New Zealanders took the lead at the start and defeated Australia by almost three seconds. Germany finished third.

The New Zealand crew had rowed together for the first time Thursday when they qualified for the grand finals in the opening-day heats.

Canada was kept off the list of medal winners during the seven-race event, although a crew of lightweight eights from the Leander Club in Hamilton had won an exhibition event during the Petit Finals Saturday.

The heavyweight eights crew from Harvard University came fourth. It was the first defeat in 20 starts for the Harvard crew, which hadn't lost a race since 1965.

The Australian fours with cox pulled a major upset of the day by stroking to victory over the U.S. and Great Britain.

Niels Secher of Denmark won the single sculls.

England's touring Marylebone Cricket Club stars displayed their expected batting power and bowling skill at Beacon Hill Sunday and rolled to a 118-run victory over a Vancouver Island side, selected from Victoria and District Cricket Association clubs.

Batting first, the stylish visitors ran up 173 runs before lunch and later declared at 233 with six wickets down.

Despite a stubborn sixth-wicket stand by Walter Tate and John Brasier for the Islanders, the MCC cricketers won handily as they dismissed the home side for 115 runs with 60 minutes to spare in the one-day match.

Anthony Clark and George Ridley opened for MCC and Island bowlers were in trouble from the start.

RIDLEY SCORES 82

Ridley remained until he had scored 82 runs while Clark, hitting up 22 before being caught by Peter Josselyn, was replaced by Roy Kerslake, who punished the bowling for 56 runs.

More pounding came later from Jonathan Fellows-Smith, who stroked the ball with authority and finished with 35 runs, not out.

Victoria bowlers toiled steadily with Barney Sheikh giving MCC batters the most trouble with his slow off-spinners and taking three wickets at a cost of 64 runs.

UNHAPPY START

Local batsmen had an unhappy start as five wickets fell before 30 runs were on the board

However, Tate, who hit sharply and confidently for 45 runs and was the last man out, was joined by Brasier and the pair put on 44 for the sixth wicket. Brasier scored 20 and Jim Longridge later added a hearty 14.

Tate's tally was the second highest registered against the MCC during the current tour.

David Mordaunt bowled splendidly for the MCC. Capturing six wickets while yielding 36 runs, he was helped by two excellent slip catches by Tony Duff

THREE STUMPED

Duff also carried a good share of the bowling load and took three wickets for 38, all of his victims being stumped by alert wicket-keeper Chris Saunders.

During their final match on the west coast, the tourists were presented to Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes. They are scheduled to leave Tuesday by air for Montreal.

At Vancouver Saturday, the MCC defeated a B.C. representative side by 72 runs.

With Bob Gale contributing 112 runs, the English batsmen scored 209 for seven wickets before declaring.

B.C., getting 30 from Bob Beeney, 27 from Euan Kirkwood and 25 from Jim Robson, was all out for 112.

CATS WIN OPENER

EDMONTON (CP) — The defending champion Edmonton Wildcats whipped the Edmonton Huskies 25-8 Sunday in their opening game of the 1967 Alberta Junior Football League season.

Adanacs Clear Decks for Irish

Coquitlam Adanacs cleared the decks for their Inter-City Lacrosse League semi-final playoff with Victoria Shamrocks by holding league-champion Vancouver Carlings to a 10-10 tie Saturday night at Coquitlam.

Although playoff positions were already settled it was a hard hitting battle in which Coquitlam coach Gordie Gimple set the scoring pace with three goals and two assists.

Carlings finished on top, three points in front of the Shamrocks, who had a two-point bulge on the Adanacs.

BYE INTO FINAL

Vancouver gets a bye into the final while Victoria and Coquitlam decide the other finalist in a best-of-five series, which opens Wednesday night at Memorial Arena.

Shamrocks may go into Wednesday's tussle without the services of Nirmal Dillon, who was felled by a crushing check in his last regular season game, Thursday at New Westminster. Nirmal suffered a pinched nerve in his back.

Victoria coach Dave Unwin, checking the health of Nirmal and the other Rocks today, expects to name his starting lineup Tuesday.

When did Niagara come into the picture?

The house needed painting. The foyer, new wallpaper. And the livingroom sofa, re-upholstering. But Bill and Alice were short of money. Enter: Niagara. Bill saw the manager of the nearest Niagara office about a Home Redecorating Loan. The manager was very understanding. And helpful. In no time a loan and easy repayment terms were arranged. You can imagine how excited Alice was when Bill came home with the money to redecorate the house.

When you need extra money for any good reason, you can expect the same courteous, quick service at any one of 300 Niagara offices.

Santana Jolts Aussies' Ace; Harter Wins

MONTREAL (CP)—An upset victory over Roy Emerson of Australia Sunday gave Manuel Santana of Spain the mens' singles title in straight sets at the Canadian Open tennis championships, 6-1, 10-8, 6-4.

Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., won the women's title 6-1, 5-7, 7-5, over Rita Bentley of Britain.

Topseeded Emerson and Santana took the men's doubles trophy, defeating Torben Ulrich of Denmark and Jaikip Mukerjean of India in three sets, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

The women's doubles title was taken by top-seeded Vicki Berner of Vancouver and Faye Urban of Windsor, Ont., who defeated Maria Guzman of Ecuador and Patricia Montano of Mexico 6-3, 6-3.

Kay Keldie of Australia and Kathy Harter upset the top-seeded mixed doubles team of Keith Carpenter of Montreal and Miss Berner, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3.

MATCH OF EXCELLENCE

The Emerson-Santana match blended strong cautious tennis and tricky strategy.

Throughout the match Emerson accomplished harder and trickier shots, but he also made more errors than the Spaniard.

It was Santana's first tournament in Canada. Emerson won the Canadian championships in 1964.

Emerson and Santana arrived two days late at the Open from Hamburg, where the Australian defeated Santana last week to win the West German invitational crown.

In an upset in senior men's singles, sixth-seeded Jacques Giguere of Quebec easily beat Claude Fung-a-ling of Montreal, the fourth seed, for the title. Giguere won 6-2, 6-0.

Jim Skelton of Vancouver and Ellis Tarshis of Montreal won the senior men's doubles trophy, defeating top-seeded Marcel Tremblay and Les Szemenyei of Montreal 4-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Second seeded Louise Brown of Toronto won the senior women's singles title Saturday over Claire Lovett of Vancouver, 6-0, 6-0.

RACING ROUNDUP

Treasures Glory Wins Futurity at Vancouver

Times News Services

Treasures Glory earned the biggest share Saturday as the largest purse distribution so far this season at Vancouver's Exhibition Park was offered for the combined running of the Derby Trial and the B.C. Futurity.

Owners of Thoroughbreds in the two features divided in excess of $21,000 as Bob Howe collected $12,360 after Treasures Glory took the 6½-furlong Futurity and Jockey Cap rewarded his owner with the winner's share of $4,100 by besting 11 other runners in the Derby Trial.

Both races were thrillers, particularly the srpint, in which Treasurers Glory, getting a masterful ride from jockey Joe Baze, was in front all the way and barely held on in the stretch to edge Gemini Mac by a nose.

Velasquez was third in the field of 11 two-year-olds.

Jockey Cap, ridden by Dennis Tierney, made his move on the far turn and finished strongly to beat Our Rebate by a length. Haigs Task was third in the Trial.

Around other North American tracks, Battling made a late charge at Fort Erie, Ont., to win the second leg in Canada's triple crown of racing—the Prince of Wales Stakes.

Battling came out of the pack to wear down favored Pine Point and Queen's Plate winner Jammed Lovely for the victory that was worth $19,000.

STRENGTHENS CLAIM

At Saratoga, N.Y., Saturday, Gamely strengthened her claim for the U.S. three-year-old filly championship by winning the $60,200 Alabama Stakes.

Ridden by Willie Shoemaker, Gamely overtook the pace-setting Soire at the head of the stretch then held off Treacherous's late bid along the rail to win by two lengths. Muse was third.

Gamely ran the 1¼ miles in 2:03 1-5 and paid $3.30, $2.60 and $2.40.

At Chicago, Fusilier Boy nailed Swinging Mood at the wire and won the $55,700 Grassland handicap on the 1 1-16 mile grass track at Arlington Park.

WIN FOR McMAHON

Star Garter got up in the last stride and won the $28,800 Margate handicap at Atlantic City, N.J., by a nose over Margarethen.

At Del Mar, Calif., Jungle Road charged through the stretch and scored a two-length victory in the $19,525 La Jolla Mile.

The winner, owned by Frank McMahon of Vancouver, made the mile run in 1:34 3-5.

Charlie Boots was second and Space Ruler was third.

Roy Rolled Best To Go-Go Tempo

Noise, music and girls, Roy Haslam loves them all. At least that's the way it appeared during Saturday's stock-car racing meet at Western Speedway as two rock-and-roll bands—the Crumpets and the Furies—added their own brand of noise to the snarl of motors while the go-go girls bounced in front of the stands.

It was all part of the show in the benefit night for the South Vancouver Island Lions Club's "Tom Thumb" safe-driving village for children at Colwood.

The old noise, the new beat and the improved scenery didn't bother Haslam and Roy benefited more than anybody.

Haslam captured the "A" dash and nipped Jim Caudwell in the 40-lap main event to collect the Lions Trophy.

EARLY LEADERS

Earl Pollard, for 16 laps, and John Harris were the early main-event leaders before Haslam took over on the 26th circuit and held on to edge the charging Caudwell by half a car length.

Ross Surgenor was third and Fred Best finished fourth. Caudwell took the fast heat, in which Pat O'Connor flipped his car. John Barclay overturned in the "B" main.

In a special race with the pedal cars to be used in the Tom Thumb village, Bob Nichol finished ahead of Cal Marshall before 3,150 fans.

Results:

"A" dash—1. Roy Haslam, 2. Ross Surgenor, 3. Rick O'Dell.

"B" dash—1. Bill Price, 2. Dave Anderson, 3. Jerry Knight.

First heat—1. Gary Lockeridge, 2. Dick Miller, 3. Ken Alexander.

Second heat—1. John Harris, 2. John Barclay, 3. Earl Pollard.

Third heat—1. Roy Smith, 2. Larry Walker, 3. John Gibbs.

Fast heat—1. Jim Caudwell, 2. Gary Kershaw, 3. Tony Mortel.

"C" main—1. Jerry Patterson, 2. Barry Little, 3. Barry Cook.

"B" main—1. Ken Alexander, 2. Bill Price, 3. Gary Lockeridge, 4. Terry Forsythe.

"A" main—1. Roy Haslam, 2. Jim Caudwell, 3. Ross Surgenor, 4. Fred Best.

The Nova Scotia team scored 1,111 points, three more than Ontario and five more than Prince Edward Island.

The match went into a shootoff after Susick, Gil Hirst of Calgary and Zambian team-member Trevor Short each shot 99 out of a possible 100.

Shooting into a bright sunset late Saturday on Connaught Ranges near this community 20 miles west of Ottawa, Susick got four bullseyes and one inner to score 24 out of 25, beating Hirst's 23 and Short's 22.

Earlier, Flt. Lt. Dave Phoenix, a Toronto native serving with the RCAF at Summerside, won the Queen's medal for air force marksmen.

Defeat was the sixth in a row for Seattle, as the Mounties completed their sweep of the four-game series.

Seattle led 3-2 as the Mounties came to bat in the eighth inning, when the Mounties exploded to give relief pitcher Kent Sanders his fifth victory.

OREGON EDGED

Distaff Stars Shine for B.C.

Irene Piotrowski, the fleet Vancouver housewife who will perform with the British Columbia team next Saturday in the first athletic competition at Victoria's new Centennial Stadium, was a double winner in sprint events at Vancouver Saturday night.

Mrs. Piotrowski won the 100-yard dash in 10.7 seconds and the 220 in 24.2.

She also helped the distaff squad to a victory in the 440-yard relay as B.C. defeated an Oregon team 322½-316½ in the Achilles centennial invitational track and field meet.

Gary Knoke of Oregon set a new Canadian Open record in the men's 440-yard hurdles with a time of 51.8 seconds, cracking the former mark of 52.2. He set a new meet record of 14.3 in the 120-yard hurdles, bettering the old mark by half a second.

Karen Emery of Vancouver established a new B.C. native time for the women's 880 with a clocking of 2:14.9, topping her former record of 2:14.6.

Miss Emery also won the 440 in 56.6 to snap the meet record of 57.7 and anchored the B.C. women's team to a triumph in the mile relay.

JEROME ABSENT

The men's team, minus Harry Jerome, co-holder of the world 100-metre record, set new records in the triple jump and hammer throw but did not collect as many points as did the B.C. women. Jerome strained knee ligaments in the recent Pan-American Games.

A crowd of 2,800 witnessed the meet and watched Republic of China woman hurdler Chi Cheng, a former world record holder, run an 80-metre hurdles exhibition in 11.2 seconds.

Several members of Canada's Pan-American Games team, including Victoria hurdler Bob McLaren, will perform with B.C. next Saturday when the provincial athletes meet State of Washington stars in an annual meet.

Colorful ceremonies arranged by the Greater Victoria Centennial Society will mark the opening of the new $40,000 track at Centennial Stadium.

East Trail Lads Head For Canadian Tourney

Happy smiles were everywhere Sunday as a group of East Trail youngsters left Victoria for an air trip to Valleyfield, Que.

They were cashing in on their reward for winning the B.C. Little League baseball tournament, which concluded Saturday at Hampton Park with a thrilling 1-0 triumph for East Trail over Whalley in the title game.

With their provincial crown, the Trail lads earned a berth in this week's Canadian Little League tournament at Valleyfield.

Although this is East Trail's fourth B.C. championship, boys from the smelter city are getting their first chance at a Dominion crown.

Last year for the first time, a genuine Canadian champion was crowned and travelled to the Little League world series. Before that, B.C. representatives moved into regional playoffs with American clubs.

PITCHING DUEL

Saturday's final at Hampton developed into a tense pitching struggle between Whalley's little tiger, 11-year-old Ted Springenatic, and Trail's big Morley Levick, who reached his 13th birthday this month.

Keeping Trail batters off balance most of the way with a sweeping curve, Springenatic gave up two hits—a first-inning single and a double that drove in the winning run in the fifth.

The hard-throwing Levick also yielded only two hits—Steve Milliken's single in the first and Chris Beach's bunt single in the third. He didn't allow a batter to advance past second base and struck out 10, including four of the last six batters he faced.

WINNING RUN

Levick scored the game's only run in the fifth after drawing a walk with one out. He stayed on first base as Keith Van De Keere struck out and moved to second when Whalley leftfielder Bruce Murdock dropped Larry Reid's fly after a long run.

The error gave John Hamilton, who had singled in the first frame, a chance for heroics and Hamilton promptly rapped a double off the fence to score Levick and give East Trail the one run it needed.

In a consolation game played Saturday afternoon, West Vancouver trimmed East Vancouver 13-5.

Linescores:

East Vancouver	200 201—	5	6	11
West Vancouver	534 10x—	13	7	1

Mike Brkich, Ken Whitehead (1) and Larry Eaton, Tony Kerr (3); John Gordon and Bob Gow.

East Trail	000 010—	1	2	1

Morley Levick and Ricky Babcock; Ted Springenatic and Rod Duncan.

Overtime Defeat For Western Club

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — Cornwall All-Stars edged New Westminster Pee Wee Salmonbellies 6-5 after sudden-death overtime Sunday to capture the Eastern Lacrosse Association centennial tournament.

Yvon Distell scored the winning goal at the 8:30 mark of overtime.

The British Columbia pee wee team advanced to the tournament final on victories of 9-6 over Ottawa and 6-2 over Morrisburg.

FIGHT PLANS CONTINUE DESPITE RIOT DANGER

NEW YORK (AP)—Plans are going ahead to hold Wednesday night's lightweight title bout between champion Carlos Ortiz and Ismael Laguna, of Panama, as scheduled, despite police concern over a possible riot.

The fight is slated for Shea Stadium.

"The fight will go on and we will have an orderly bout," Harry Markson, director of the sponsoring Madison Square Garden Corporation, said. "We have enough private police to ensure security."

In the past 21 months, three riots have occurred at indoor Madison Square Garden after Puerto Rican fighters lost decisions. Thousands of New York's Puerto Rican population residents are expected to attend the bout to cheer Ortiz.

England Crawls To 112-Run Lead

NOTTINGHAM, England (Reuters) — England painfully crawled to a first-innings lead of 112 runs against Pakistan Saturday on the third day of the second test.

Ken Barrington, who has been in nearly seven hours for his undefeated 109, was the main culprit in England's slow progress.

By the close, England was 252 for 8 in reply to Pakistan's 140, meaning that only 133 runs were scored in the 4¼ hours of play possible.

Rain lopped off the rest of the playing time.

Other close-of-play scores:

SUNDAY

Sussex 163 and 98 for 6; Surrey 115.

Northamptonshire 216 and 31 for 1; Lancashire 86.

COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN

Women Want Help With Fund Raising

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Forbes

While most people are relaxing under a hot summer sun, there's a group of women in the Greater Victoria area working to finalize plans for the Community Chest residential campaign that goes into high gear about the middle of October.

Mrs. Shirley Baker, coordinator of women's activities at University of Victoria is residential campaign manager. It's her responsibility to do the initial planning, to name four area division chairmen and to keep close tab on all phases of the drive "all down the line."

This necessitates hours of volunteer work and what is even more important "the blessing" as Mrs. Baker puts it, of Uvic officials in order that she can take time to do the work.

"I have that one hundred per cent," she tells you.

★ ★ ★

Her first step, taken months ago, was to "get together" with Phoebe Noble (co-chairman of the United Appeal drive last year and publicity chairman for the 1968 campaign) to plan strategy and to enlist the help of four division chairmen.

"We found them," she tells you today with a satisfied smile.

They are Mrs. Bonner Aust, Victoria-Oak Bay; Mrs. Ray Bryant, Esquimalt-Colwood; Mrs. C. Whitlock, Colwood-Langford, and a husband and wife team, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Darling in Oak Bay-Saanich.

Once Mrs. Baker had her division chairmen, they were given the responsibility of enlisting the help of a group of area chairmen. In turn the area chairmen went out looking for 100 or more team captains.

★ ★ ★

With the team captains named then there was hundreds of canvassers to find.

"Canvassers are in the front line of approach when the drive begins," Mrs. Baker reminds you. "They are the most important section of the division."

Recruiting for all phases of the residential division was made easier this year through the fact that Victoria City and District Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society has joined forces with the Community Chest of Greater Victoria in a single campaign to provide operating revenue for 1968.

add bessie forbes

This gave Mrs. Baker the nucleus of a second well-organized fund drive group headed by Mrs. A. Caldwell, campaign chairman for the 1967 Red Cross drive, held in the spring.

However, there is still room for more volunteers. A team captain is needed in the View Royal-Work Point area, also two team captains in James Bay.

The Darlings are looking for an area chairman in Saanich-Oak Bay and help is needed in the Burnside-Royal Oak district and on the north side of Portage Inlet.

★ ★ ★

This is a challenging invitation to community minded women (and men too) in these particular districts. The work is rewarding. It is worthwhile. And it gives opportunity for real service.

The Community Chest 1968 fund drive will be known as the Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal. Officially it gets under way in September. But the residential campaign doesn't start until October.

Mrs. Baker says: "Then we will have well over 2,000 women fanning out over the Greater Victoria area. This volunteer work taken at dollar value, is beyond calculation!"

Perhaps you'd like to offer your help to these service-minded people. If so, ring up the division chairman in your district. Volunteer now!

Jailed 'In Absentia'

PANAMA (AP)—Alfredo Jimenez was sentenced in absentia to 10 years in prison Saturday for the attempted assassination of Roberto Arias, husband of ballerina Dame Margot Fonteyn. Arias, former Panamanian ambassador to Britain, was shot while sitting in a car here June 8, 1964. One bullet struck his spinal cord, crippling him for life. Jimenez turned himself in soon after and posted bail. He later jumped bond and was convicted of the shooting in absentia in October, 1966.

Hospital Strike Ended On Mainland

A five-day strike against the Royal Columbian Hospital in New Westminster ended Sunday when stationary engineers agreed to a new contract.

The agreement also involves engineers at St. Joseph's and Royal Jubilee hospitals here and three other mainland hospitals.

Major issue in dispute was parity for third class engineers, which was won after the International Union of Operating Engineers went on strike.

New rate for all third class engineers is $620 a month rising to $660 next July. Previous rate was $540 a month at all hospitals except Royal Jubilee where it was $560.

PALMA DE MALORCA, Balearic Islands (AP) — A bus carrying 33 British tourists and a truck loaded with steel beams collided Saturday near Palma, killing 10 occupants of the bus and seriously injuring eight others.

Maharajahs Form Union To Keep Cash

NEW DELHI (Reuters) —A meeting of Indian maharajahs decided Saturday to form an association to plan their battle against government moves to abolish their privy purses and privileges.

Maharajah Gaewat of Baroda told a press conference the association will have a permanent committee but its specific actions will depend on what the Indian government does.

He said any moves to abolish annual government payments—called privy purses—and privileges granted by the government in 1947 in return for land and property taken from the princes would be a "pure and simple breach of faith."

Maharajah Gaekwat receives 1,364,000 rupees ($19,000) a year from the government. Some get as much as $350,000 a year.

AT 13 SCHOOLS

Portable Classrooms Set

Thirteen portable classrooms, some for schools less than one year old, have been installed at Greater Victoria elementary schools.

The portable units will ease the load expected when the school enrolment increases by an estimated 1,000 this year. The elementary population was over 20,000 last year.

Over half the increase will be at the elementary level.

Portables are used to slowly expand existing schools until they require an addition large enough to make construction efficent and therefore less expensive per classroom.

Schools receiving new portables this September are Fairburn, Hillcrest, Bank Street, Craigflower, Monterey, Shelbourne, Frank Hobbs, Gordon Head, Willows and Richmond.

AIR SHOW SUCCESS

Plane Lands Safely Without Wheel

ABBOTSFORD (CP) — An American pilot struggled at the controls of his vintage aircraft when it lost a wheel on takeoff from the Abbotsford Centennial Air Show Sunday, then calmly executed a successful crash landing at Boeing Field in Seattle.

All four men aboard the Boeing 247D, one of the first planes built by the company, escaped injury.

It skidded off the runway when it made a belly landing at Seattle, heavily damaging the fuselage. Pilot was Don MacKay of Seattle.

The centennial show, billed as the largest in North America, attracted 316,000 persons during its three-day run. Sunday's final day attendance was 150,000.

Planes from many countries and eras participated in the show. On display were 195 aircraft, ranging from homemade planes to Britain's huge swept-wing Vulcan Bomber.

There were aerobatic displays by Canada's Golden Centennaires and the Blue Angels of the U.S.

Woman Injured Fleeing Plant Blaze

KEREMEOS (CP) — Damage from a fire here that destroyed two packing houses and blacked out three small towns was estimated Sunday at upwards of $1,000,000.

A cleaning woman who jumped from the second storey of one of the blazing packinghouses, was in hospital in fair condition. Mrs. James Nelson received burns and lacerations.

The blaze engulfed a number of West Kootenay Power and Light poles, knocking out power in this Okanagan centre of 2,000, and at Princeton and Hedley, west of here. Power was restored at 2 p.m. Sunday, 20 hours after the fire started.

Fire Chief Charles Luxon said the blaze started in the newer of two fruit packing houses owned by the Keremeos Co-operative Association. He said quick work by firemen prevented flames from jumping to the Keremeos Hotel and the government liquor store.

Assisting the Keremeos Volunteer Fire Department were trucks and men from Osoyoos, Oliver, Penticton and Princeton plus a B.C. Forest Service crew from Keremeos.

Chief Luxon, who gave the damage estimate, said the cause of the fire had not been determined.

Free Concert Circumvents Ban On Baez

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Folk singer Joan Baez, refused permission by the Daughters of the American Revolution to use their hall, planned a free open air concert tonight on the Washington Monument grounds.

The controversial Miss Baez thus joined another singer, Negro contralto Marian Anderson, in taking her talent to a larger audience in a more dramatic setting.

Miss Anderson was refused the DAR's Constitution Hall in 1939 because of her race. President Franklin D. Roosevelt then arranged for her to sing from the steps of the Lincoln Memorial.

Miss Baez' case is somewhat different from the incident involving Miss Anderson. She has sung at Constitution Hall before, and it is not her race (Caucasion) but her views (pacifist) that brought the DAR rejection.

Prince Uses His Pull And Countess Swims

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles dunked a fully clothed countess during some post-midnight aquatic hi-jinks at a party last weekend, the Sunday Express reported Sunday.

Quoting unnamed guests, the newspaper said the Queen's 18-year-old son was at a party swimming with other guests in a heated pool at Buckhurst Park, country home of a polo-playing friend of Prince Philip.

"It was after midnight and the Queen had left the party.

Forty - eight - year - old Primrose, Countess Cadogan, wasn't participating because she didn't have a swimsuit.

"Primrose was searing a blue silk dress," a guest said: "She was running up and down the side of the pool; wondering how she could get in.

"Then Prince Charles and another guest, Prince Ali of Murshidabad, gripped her hands and pulled her in with all her clothes on."

Indians Protest Ban On Fishing Rights

CHILLIWACK (CP) — British Columbia Indian leaders met Sunday in Chilliwack to map out a four-point motion of protest to the federal government over what they term a curtailment of the hereditary fishing rights of Indians.

The meeting, attended by Indian leaders from as far west as Vancouver Island and north to Prince George, was called to protest closure of the Fraser River to Indian fishing from July 3 to July 25.

The meeting decided to set up a five-man committee to meet with Indian and Fisheries Department officials, and present protests to the government. A meeting will be held in Chilliwack Aug. 27 to choose committee members.

Recital Features Schubert Sonatas

A program of Schubert piano sonatas will be given at University of Victoria Wednesday evening.

The recitalist is Max Edwards, a member of the university faculty and a pianist with a considerable musical background.

The three sonatas that comprise his program are tre Great A Minor, the Little A Major and the Great B flat Major.

Mr. Edwards studied and obtained his performer degrees in London, principally at the Royal Academy of Music and Trintiy College.

He has done a considerable amount of work with the British Arts Council, both in instruction and performance.

The recital is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the lecture theatre of the Education-Arts building and is sponsored by the Uvic School of Fine Arts.

Oil Well Explosion

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An oil well explosion rocked a central Los Angeles residential district Sunday, injuring six drillers and two firemen. The early-morning blast in the blanketed, soundproofed derrick came as firemen were leaving after putting out a blaze started when drills opened a natural gas pocket.

HOME GARDEN

Even Cactus Requires Watering

By HILDA BEASTALL

Our usually dry summers bring to our attention the plants which appear to thrive on a minimum of supplied water.

Hilda

We like to talk about drought resistant plants, but are we confusing those which get along without water with those whose roots have travelled deeply enough to have reached an underground supply?

Years ago, I heard of a wealthy Californian who ordered an instant cactus garden with giant desert cacti, to be completed within a month.

A nurseryman took his crew into the desert with a mechanized digger, a winch, hoist and truck, and began excavating for the roots of some giant saguaros (Cereus giganteus).

Cutting a two-week story short, the total length of the roots on ten-foot giants was measured at one mile!

END OF ROOTS

Moisture was invariably found at the ends of the roots, showing that although desert surface receives rain on perhaps two or three occasions in a year, the large cacti do not lack water.

This fact probably accounts for comparatively few small cacti being found around the big plants. The seed may germinate, but in periods of drought, thousands will perish for the one or two which survive.

Coming back to our local gardens, when we add the so-called drought reistant plants to our collections, we shall find it necessary to give them water until their roots have gone down deeply enough to encounter mositure in subsoils.

DEEP WATERINGS

Only deep waterings will do this. Surface sprinklings are not only a waste of water, but an encouragement to surface rooting.

The plants such as yucca, various colored brooms and the shrubby potentillas will seem to be drought resistant, but their roots delve deeply into the lower soils.

Unitl the roots have done this they require the same watering as other plants, usually for the first two years as least.

TV TYPE STABBING KILLS BOY

HIRAM RAPIDS, Ohio (UPI)—Police said today apparent re-enactment of knife-fighting scenes seen on television was responsible for the accidental fatal stabbing of a six-year-old boy by a four-year-old playmate.

Richard E. Tate was stabbed near the heart Saturday as he and the playmate were dueling with paring knives taken from their family kitchens.

The boy was dead on arrival at Robinson Memorial Hospital in Ravenna. Portage County Coroner Dr. Robert Sybert ruled the death accidental.

CHANGE FOLLOWS REPORTS OF SAVAGE BEATINGS

Caning to Be Eliminated in British Reformatories

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP)—Home Secretary Roy Jenkins has embarked on a campaign to reform Britain's reform schools and as a first step plans to sweep away the long-entrenched practice of beating delinquent boys and girls.

Jenkins closed Court Lees school in Surrey, Britain's largest establishment for re-educating young offenders, after a judicial investigation confirmed allegations of "savage use of the cane," often for trivial offences such as smoking.

Ivor Cook, a teacher at Court Lees, made the original complaints and backed them up with color photographs of weals on four boys after they had been beaten by headmaster Denis Haydon with a half-inch-thick cane.

During the judicial inquiry, two Crown pathologists said that if two of the boys had been brought to their hospitals they would have called for police investigation into their injuries.

TO REPLACE SCHOOLS

Jenkins did not specifically promise to abolisn caning in the 123 schools approved by the home office as centres to rehabilitate young offenders or children in need of care. But he said the practice would be "phased out as quickly and completely as possible."

He also outlined a long-term plan to replace the network of approved schools by a comprehensive system of residential child-care establishments.

Earlier this year, Jenkins told the Commons 2,968 beatings were administered in 1966 in the reform schools, 51 to girls. Population of the reform schools, which the home office says are not meant to be places of punishment, now totals 8,125, including 1,091 girls.

Whether the schools succeed in their aim of re-educating young delinquents seems questionable. More than half the boys released from reform schools are up before courts again within three years.

Next step then may be Borstal, the junior prison system, often followed by a term in an adult jail as the offender becomes toughened and resentful of authority.

Ferocious beatings of the Court Lees type can also be found in elite schools with centuries of tradition, often administered by older boys as a privilege of seniority. Tales of bloody encounters with cane or birching form part of many school-day memories, from Sir Winston Churchill to author Nicholas Monsarrat.

ALL STEAMED UP about nothing Sunday were these 20 relics of the past. They are the few remaining steamboats in the Pacific Northwest. Members of Puget Sound Live Steamboat Association, they huffed and puffed their way into Bedwell Harbor, at South Pender Island, at the weekend for their annual meeting and race. Here they are seen wheezing over the starting line. To make the race even, when the first boat reaches the turning point, everyone turns about and scurries back to the finish. (Bill Halkett photos.)

CANADA'S TOP ATHLETE AT PARAPLEGIC GAMES

Lorna 'Wheels Out' Eight Medals

MRS. LORNA VINDEN
. . . six gold, two silver

Canada's top athlete in the Paraplegic Pan-American Games is 26-year-old Mrs. Lorna Vinden, 901 Lakeview.

Mrs. Vinden, wife of J. Keith Vinden, won six gold and two silver medals in the Winnipeg games which ended Saturday.

Mrs. Vinden, a polio victim, won golds in the shot put, discus, javelin, club throw and track and field events.

Her silver medals were won in swimming and track and field.

The Pan-American Games marked Mrs. Vinden's first essay into wheelchair athletic competition.

For months she has been training with coach Rody Ryan at Oak Bay high school and taking swimming training at Royal Roads.

●

Three evening sessions and a Sunday morning workout each week brought her up to gold medal standards.

She didn't intend to enter the swimming competition. But she made a last-minute decision to enter and came in second.

Two other Islanders entered the competitions, Larry Luck of Victoria and Paul Roberge of Duncan, but neither placed in the events.

Canada came second in the games with 27 gold, 45 silver and 36 bronze medals.

Winner was the U.S. with 92 golds, 67 silvers and 47 bronze.

This is the first time the games have been held in Canada.

Expert Offers Little Hope Just: 'I Told You So'

By TED GASKELL

Times garden expert Jack Beastall can only say "I told you so."

"Since the water restrictions went into effect, my phone hasn't stopped ringing. People want to know how they can save their gardens with only one day's watering a week."

He can offer little hope.

"For 18 years I have been telling people to use compost to put humus into the soil so it will hold moisture. They won't. We've advised them to start watering in mid-April, but they wait until the end of May, when the water table's gone and plants start to wilt.

"You can't make up overnight the loss of moisture in the soil," he said.

The theory of "if you can't irrigate—cultivate" is fine if the soil has moisture.

When the water has soaked in and left a two-inch layer of dry soil as a "dust mulch," cultivation of this dry earth will not only kill of the weed seedlings, but will areate the soil and draw up moisture which has gone beyond the reach of plant roots, Mr. Beastall explained.

But a soil with proper humus in it doesn't need frequent watering. Every 10 days should be adequate.

He didn't turn thumbs down completely on the use of second-hand domestic water with detergents in it.

★

"Some detergents are used in sprays to help spread the water over the leaves," he said.

Gardeners should have no trouble using old dishwater, or even bath water, providing it doesn't contain too much soap or detergent or too much isn't used in one place.

"A small amount won't harm plants," Mr. Beastall said.

ST. JOSEPH'S ACCEPTS WAGE PACT

St. Joseph's Hospital announced today it has accepted a conciliation board report recommending a basic 17.3 per cent wage boost for 450 non-medical employees in a one-year contract.

The report was accepted earlier by the employees, members of the Hospital Employees Union, Local 180.

The increase is retroactive to last January and the new contract expires in December. Settlement is based on a lower mainland agreement.

Wages in the old contract ranged from $202 a month for maids to $524 a month for carpenters.

'Didn't Know What I Was Doing'

A Vancouver man appeared in central court today to answer for a worthless cheque he wrote in Victoria over three years ago.

John Bolan was fined $50 after pleading guilty to false pretences.

He was accused of cashing a $40 cheque at a Quadra Street food store on June 29, 1964. The cheque was later returned to the store marked "account closed."

Bolan said he wrote the bad cheque a week after his wife had been killed in an accident.

HEARTBROKEN

"I was heartbroken and didn't know what I was doing."

The cheque was one of half a dozen written at the time and must have been missed when he later made the others good, he said.

He added he had gone on a six month's drunk after his wife's death but was now working as a carpenter in Vancouver.

GRASS, BRUSH BLAZE

Saanich Firemen Busy

Saanich firemen battled a grass and brush fire on Burnside for close to six hours Sunday.

About two acres of ground were burnt on a lot at 1842 Burnside but an old barn threatened by the flames was saved.

A department spokesman said this morning that a cigarette butt tossed from a car may have touched off the stubborn fire.

Firemen who answered the alarm at 4 p.m. were not back at their station until close to 10.

A police patrol early Sunday found a bail of peat moss behind the Bank of Montreal at the Royal Oak shopping plaza which someone had tried to set alight.

The peat moss, which failed to light, was thought to have been taken from a gardening store in the plaza.

Ruling Against Woodworkers Upheld by CLC

By ROGER STONEBANKS
Labor Reporter

A split within organized labor in British Columbia widened today.

And Syd Thompson, president of the 7,000-member Vancouver local of the International Woodworkers of America, said the latest move will have "a real disruptive influence".

He was commenting on a ruling handed down by Donald MacDonald, acting president of the Canadian Labour Congress.

The ruling followed the suspension from the B.C. Federation of Labour of the Victoria, Vancouver, Duncan and Lumber Inspector locals of the IWA earlier this year.

SERVICES WITHDRAWN

Mr. Thompson said the ruling means the four locals are not allowed to seat delegates at labor councils or CLC conventions nor are they entitled to any of the services normally rendered by these bodies.

But because the locals are not suspended from local labor councils or the CLC "we are still obligated to pay per capita contributions."

"Anyone from the suspended locals who happens to be an officer of the CLC or labor council is in no way affected."

STAY IN POSITIONS

This would leave a number of IWA members active in local labor councils able to continue in their positions.

Among those in this position is Jack Groves, president of the Victoria Labour Council. Mr. Thompson is a vice-president of the Vancouver Labour Council.

A number of other members of suspended locals hold executive positions in labor councils and the CLC, including Mr. MacDonald, Joe Morris, CLC vice-president, and Paddy Neale, secretary of the Vancouver Labour Council.

WANTS ASSURANCES

Mr. Thompson said the Vancouver local voted unanimously at a membership meeting Saturday to withhold all per capita contributions to the Vancouver Labour Council until assurances are given "that our delegates will be seated."

In Victoria, there was no official comment from the IWA. Local president Murray Drew is on vacation and the local has yet to take up the matter.

The four locals, with 13,000 members, were suspended from the B.C. Federation of Labour after the presidents made a public criticism of Mr. Morris of the CLC.

The federation said the public statement violated convention-approved policy not to air internal problems in public. The four locals said the federation had no jurisdiction in the matter.

Other IWA locals in B.C. have threatened to pull out in sympathy. A mass withdrawal by the IWA would cut federation membership by 25 per cent.

Mr. Thompson said the CLC ruling "further aggravates the entire situation and obviously the only solution is that the federation reconsider its stupid position and allow the four locals back and that will be the end to all the nonsense."

(The federation earlier demanded a public retraction of the criticism of Mr. Morris, or the locals would be suspended. The locals declined to apologize.)

"If this is going to be the policy of the CLC, the labor movement in B.C. will get completely altered because the IWA plays a leading part in labor councils in Vancouver, Victoria and Duncan."

New Animals Bylaw Under Study Tuesday

Saanish lands and planning committee will meet Tuesday night to consider the proposed new animals bylaw.

Meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. in municipal hall.

Teachers Name Fact-Finding Commission

The British Columbia Teachers' Federation has appointed a three-man commission to study what it calls "problems confronting the teaching profession."

Association president Robert Buzza said the commissioners will be D. B. MacKenzie, recently retired superintendent of Vancouver schools; James Carter, vice-principal of Point Grey Secondary School, and Mrs. Lorril Hanney, intermediate supervisor of Burnaby schools.

REPORT IN 1968

Scheduled to report in 1968, the commission will consider purposes and objectives in education, the need for change, the means of implementing change, school organization and administration, and the education and training of teachers.

The commission will invite teachers and other groups to submit briefs and arrange for hearings.

Mr. Buzza stressed the commission is not an answer to the 1960 Chant commission.

"The Chant commission was concerned with the present. Our concern is with the future.

"The Chant report was limited to suggesting changes in a school system which was taken for granted as being basically sound."

Organ Transplants Tops Doctors' Agenda

More than 200 doctors will arrive in Victoria Oct. 11 to attend the annual meeting of the British Columbia Medical Association at the Empress Hotel.

Some of Canada's best-known diabetes and organ transplant specialists will take part in the discussions. There will be two papers on diabetes, two on organ transplants and a fifth on the operation of the kidney machine.

GREAT ADVANCES

"Diabetes and organ transplants are fields of internal medicine in which great advances have been made in recent years," a spokesman for the B.C. Medical Association said.

The transplant papers will be given by Dr. F. G. Inglis, associated professor of surgery at McGill University, and Dr. M. A. Batlzan, who has successfully transplanted kidneys at Saskatoon.

Meetings of the B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons, the B.C. Medical Association and Medical Services Inc., will be held Oct. 11-13.

The B.C. Society of Internal Medicine will meet Oct. 14.

Several sessions will be devoted to discussion of reports of the B.C. Medical Association's health planning council.

For several years the council has conducted research into such subjects as pollution, mental health and auto safety.

"There will be general and clinical session on mental health," said Dr. G. Scott Wallace, of Victoria, program chairman for the B.C. Medical Association.

FIRE GUTTED the interior of this 12-year-old car Sunday night when it burst into flame in a parking lot behind 1093 Foul Bay Road. Owned by Gerry Lavigne of the same address it was classified as a write-off. A cigarette butt dropped on the upholstery is thought to have started the blaze. City firemen assisted the Oak Bay department in soaking it.

Penny Has 'Paint-In' The Professional Way

By Penny Saver

The other morning I was prowling about the house in the early hours sipping my breakfast coffee, when I made the mistake of looking at the ceiling. It needed painting — and so did the walls. Then I made a thorough tour of inspection and discovered that there are three rooms at least that will have to be re-done soon, or we are going to be deluged with paint flakes from our antiquated ceiling. Knowing slightly less than nothing about how to paint ceilings (or anything else) I decided that I'd better buy a book on the subject.

The book I found was such a fabulous help that I wanted to tell you about it. It begins by giving advice as to how to plan your color scheme, complete with color charts and ideas for small, large, high-ceilinged and low-ceilinged rooms. If you're planning to do the exterior of your home before the fall rain begins, you'll find lots of tips for exterior spruce-up, too.

Once you've decided on a color scheme, you'll want to invest in the necessary paints. With the dozens of types of paints on the market, it's difficult to choose the right one without knowing a little about its wearing quality, taking into consideration the surfaces you plan to paint. This book will guide you to choose those paints which are most effective for the job you plan to do — ceilings, walls, wood-panelling, masonry, exteriors, sash or trim.

When you do your own house-painting with the aid of this little book, you can be certain that it's going to look great, and be long-lasting. The book is priced at 25 cents.

If you'd like to know where I found this do-it-yourself painting book, please give me a call at 382-3131.

"Shave yourself while cutting?"

IS WELL-DRESSED HUBBY

Woman's Best Accessory

TORONTO (CP) — The best accessory for a woman is a well-dressed man, says Sid Frohman of the Men's Fashion Council of Canada.

And, he says, the woman who wants her man well-dressed will usually have to cajole, flatter and advise.

"About 80 per cent of the men's furnishings—shirts, ties and socks—are bought by women. About 70 per cent of men's clothing purchases are influenced by women who go along and say 'Yes, dear, you look great in that.'

"Women are always fashion conscious. Not so with men, they wear their clothes until they're in shreds."

The council is sponsoring a men's fashion show at the Canadian National Exhibition this year, and it's aimed at women. Its theme is how to keep your man well dressed.

Mr. Frohman urges color co-ordinated shirts before five and white shirts after five. He says a man is not properly dressed for business unless he is wearing a hat.

Among the most common faults in men's dress, he says, are ill-fitting jackets, trousers too wide and too baggy, too little shirt showing and unshined shoes.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You do not have to be green with envy this summer. You can be partly green with legs. Yep, this season they are painting the legs as well as the house and the barn.

Lowman

The first time I remember hearing about leg makeup to take the place of stockings was during the Second World War when there were no silk ones, and nylons instead of diamonds, were a girl's best friend.

These earlier products left much to be desired. They weren't entirely rainproof and there was no choice in colors. Today, many cosmetic companies have waterproof leg makeup in many colors. These range from light beige to dark brown. There are also pastels and brighter hues, such as green, for the more adventurous.

Leg makeup has some real advantages. There is no doubt about it, stockings are hot. Many women who do not go in for heavy sun tanning, nevertheless do get some on their arms and faces and necks, while it takes real effort and time to tan the legs.

Even though white stockings have been the vogue, white legs are unattractive in the summer, especially when they do not match your arms and face. For these women a light beige leg makeup is a perfect answer if they do not wish to wear stockings on all occasions.

Speaking of legs, the following exercise will tone them and is corrective to round shoulders and a dowager's hump. It will also help stretch away fat deposits over the diaphragm.

Lie on the floor with your arms stretched out in front of you, resting on the floor, and your legs straight. Lift your head, arms, and chest up off the floor as far as you can. At the same time lift your legs upwards with stiff knees, toes pointed. Return to starting position and repeat, six times the first day and increase gradually.

Outdoor Beauty

That lovely fair complexion of yours was never meant to stand up to the harsh summer weather. Be kind to it, see that it is well protected when you're golfing, lazing on the beach, or anywhere in the great outdoors. Wear a wide, shady hat and sunglasses — this will keep you from squinting your eyes. Before you venture out smooth on your oil of Olay before making-up, and don't forget your neck. Your skin will maintain a milky look despite the drying effect of the summer.

Does dealing with dandruff get your dander up?

Nothing ruins a well-groomed image as quickly as white flake "fall-out" on an otherwise meticulous costume. Correcting this difficulty, however, is sometimes easier said than done.

Even when dandruff is checked, however, precautionary measures must be kept up. Your hair is never better than the condition of your scalp. Work diligently at these vital care elements to encourage a healthy scalp:

1. Increased Circulation. A brushing a day keeps dandruff away. Use two clean, natural-bristle brushes and brush, brush, brush. A weekly do-it-yourself scalp massage helps immeasurably.

Hang your head over the edge of the bed to bring fresh blood to hair follicles. While lying on your back, place thumbs and forefingers of both hands on your head and, with thumbs stationary, move fingers around and around, moving the scalp with your fingers. Then shift hands to another position further back on your head and repeat. Rotate your fingers in each spot ten times. Music helps to establish a rhythmic massage.

2. Good Health Habits. The condition of your hair and scalp are barometers of overall health and nervous tensions. Proper rest, fresh air, sunshine and a balanced diet are unquestionably essential.

3. Cleanliness. No specific product will do as much to counteract dandruff as scrupulous cleanliness. Always use a clean brush and comb and never, ever use anyone else's "equipment." Don't be afraid to wash your hair every few days if necessary.

4. Specific Preparations. Products vary for treatment of dandruff, depending upon whether your scalp is dry or oily. In most cases, a simple castile shampoo (two sudsings) is satisfactory. However, extra rinsing is always a must.

For restoring the acid mantle (ph) to your hair, simply use diluted vinegar (½ water) as a rinse after shampooing — white vinegar for blondes; cider vinegar for brunettes.

THE NEW YOU who works hard for a healthy scalp will be proud of the gleaming crowning glory that results!

JUST FOR YOU: The cold, cold last rinse after shampooing improves circulation, removes vinegar odor, lends shine to your hair, and helps hold the set.

Family Picnic

A "money tree" was presented to September bride-elect Miss Lenora Anne Smith and her fiance, Mr. Ronald Buckler, by Mrs. H. Rumsby, when the couple was honored at a family picnic in Beacon Hill Park. Four generations of the bride-to-be's family were represented, from her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schroeder, to their great-grandchildren, Tracey Rumsby and Errol Roth. More than 40 people attended.

Silk Brocade Bridal Suit

Making their home in Seward, Alaska, following their recent wedding in First United Church are newlyweds Capt. and Mrs. Donald J. Oldow. The bride, the former Pam Clarke, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fletcher, 698 Hoy Lake Road.

Rev. R. J. D. Morris officiated at the quiet service.

Fox fur trimmed the bride's off-white suit of silk brocade. Her picture hat was edged with tulle and she wore white accessories. Orchids en corsage completed the picture.

Her only attendant, matron of honor Mrs. Archie Willock, was in a pink knit suit, accented with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink feathered carnations and rosebuds.

Best man was Mr. Willock.

A garden reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Kelway, 55 Lotus Street, announce the forthcoming marriage of their only daughter, Joan Sally, to Mr. Robert Reid Huddleston, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huddleston, 610 Bryden Court. The wedding will take place this coming Saturday, at 8 p.m., in Christ Church Cathedral. Dean Brian Whitlow will officiate. The groom-elect is a graduate of the University of Victoria and received his master of education degree from the University of Washington this year.

Newlyweds to Live in Edmonton Following Honeymoon Up-Island

Following a trip up-Island, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Douglas McCann will travel to Edmonton, where they will make their home.

The bride is the former Susan Margareat Skinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Skinner, of Prince George, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McCann, 2086 Brighton Avenue. St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was decorated with white gladioli and shasta chrysanthemums for the service Saturday conducted by Rev. Bruce J. Molloy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of peau de faille, accented with Alencon lace. Tiny seed pearls highlighted the portrait neckline of the gown, which featured a fitted bodice and a slight flare to the skirt. A full court train edged with Alencon lace swept back from the shoulders, and sleeves ended in lily points. Her four-tier veil of silk illusion net misted to shoulder-length from a pearl tiara, and she carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Maid of honor Miss Linda Allison, and bridesmaid Miss Norlene McCann, sister of the groom, were gowned alike in lime-green peau d'elegance. Styled on empire lines, the gowns featured floating panels extending from the back waistline. Their floral headpieces of tulle were en tone.

Patrick Brabazon was best man, and Robert Skinner, brother of the bride, and Douglas Okerstrom ushered the guests to pews marked with white roses and lily of the valley.

Baskets of white gladioli and shasta chrysanthemums decorated Holyrood House for the reception following. A three-tier wedding cake flanked with silver bowls of yellow roses centred the head table, and J. W. King proposed the toast to his niece.

A two-piece cream wool suit, complemented with a wide-brimmed hat in tangerine, was worn by the bride for travelling on honeymoon. Her accessories were in camel tones and she wore tangerine feathered carnations en corsage.

COOKING CAN BE FUN

Jiffy Fish-Rice Dinner Feeds Unexpected Guests

By MARY MOORE

Moore

Our career girl enters her apartment at 5:30 p.m. and by some kind of magic has dinner on the table by 6 p.m. when her young husband walks confidently through the door with two of his pals in tow.

How does she do it?

FISH STICKS ON RICE WITH CHEESE SAUCE

One cup long-grain rice (or use instant for greater speed); 2½ cups boiling water; ¾ teaspoon salt; one 10-oz package frozen fish sticks (or more); 2 tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons flour; ¼ teaspoon salt; 1-16 teaspoon pepper; 1 cup milk; ¼ pound grated or shredded Cheddar cheese (approx. 1 cup packed).

First Step: Add boiling water and ¾ teaspoon salt to rice and simmer covered until tender and water is absorbed.

Second Step: In a medium frying pan gently saute fish sticks 5 to 7 minutes until golden, turning once. Keep hot.

Third Step: Make cheese sauce by melting butter, stirring in flour and ¼ teaspoon salt until blended and then stirring in milk until thick. Add grated cheese, pickle relish, onion and pimiento and heat through, stirring.

Fourth Step: To serve, tip cooked rice out on preheated medium platter, arrange sauteed fish sticks on top in two parallel rows, pour sauce over all and serve.

The flesh-and-blood girl who prepared this meal managed to make a tossed salad in between above steps.

When dessert time arrived she calmly opened the freezer compartment of her refrigerator and took out a package of ice cream, spooned it into her wedding-present stemmed glasses and topped them with fresh blueberries.

Vows Heard In St. Christopher's Church

CARR-ROBERTSON WEDDING

Following a honeymoon in California, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wayne Carr will be making their home in Vancouver.

The bride, the former Linda Mae Robertson, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew T. Robertson, 271 Kamloops Avenue, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Carr, 3506 Cardiff Place. St. Christopher's Anglican Church was decorated with shrimp-toned gladioli and white chrysanthemums for the double-ring service conducted by Canon Robert Willis.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dainty A-line gown of norganza. Delicate Chantilly lace encircled the empire waistline of the gown and sleeves were in angel style. A detachable court train swept back from twin bridal bows at the shoulders. Her veil of silk illusion net misted softly to her shoulders from a floral headpiece and she carried peach carnations with ribbon en tone and ivy in her cascade bouquet. Jewelry accents were a drop pearl pendant and matching earrings.

The bride's attendants were in matching peach gowns styled on empire lines, with panels floating from the shoulders. Their bow headpieces were en tone and they carried cascade bouquets of white chrysanthemums. Jewelry was the bride's gifts of pearl pendants.

Mrs. Bev Lownie was matron of honor for her sister, bridesmatron was Mrs. L. Anthony and bridesmaid, Miss Wende Carr, the groom's sister.

Best man was the groom's brother Terry Carr, and ushering guests were Tom Lownie and Jon Jordan.

Neil T. Drewry proposed the toast to his niece at the reception following in the Red Lion Motor Inn. The three-tier wedding cake which centred the head table was topped with white doves.

For travelling on honeymoon, the new Mrs. Carr donned a cerise two-piece suit which she accented with black patent accessories and white roses en corsage.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Resurrecting A Classic Tip

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I recently read something in your column which in my judgment was one of the best pieces of advice I have ever seen anywhere. But why was it buried in small print at the bottom of your column?

It should have been featured right at the top, and billboarded with 12 point bold type. It was:

"Confidential to the wife of an unfaithful husband: Don't ask yourself, what does she have that I don't have? The answer is nothing. Better ask yourself, what has she given that I haven't given?"

The husband of an unfaithful wife may substitute "she" for "he" and the same advice applies to him. Sign this

ONE OF YOUR EDITORS.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of people who refuse to play cards for fun? They always suggest playing for a little something, just to make it "interesting."

I enjoy playing gin rummy, and I play the same game whether I'm playing for money or for fun. My sister and her husband will never play unless there's money involved to make it "interesting."

Last night we gave them an "interesting" evening — which cost us a ten-dollar bill. One night last week they had another interesting evening here — for $6.50.

Don't you think that people who HAVE to play for money in order to make the game "interesting" are interested only in the money?

PLAYS FOR FUN

DEAR PLAYS: Not necessarily. To a card player who enjoys a challenge, playing for "fun" is about as "interesting" as playing tennis with the net down. On the other hand, if the stakes run hogwild your assumption is correct.

DEAR ABBY: I am in a social snake pit. I am 21 and my husband is 26 and we have been married for five whole months!

Our social activities centre around my husband's friends which include hippies, alcoholics, people with shaky reputations, and you name it, he knows one.

My husband claims he loves me, but when it comes to his friends, I am supposed to just accept them.

I've asked him why he didn't marry someone more "in" with the crowd. He replied, "If I had wanted to marry someone like that, I could have, but I didn't want someone like that for my wife."

Well, he didn't get someone like that for a wife, but as his wife I get people like that for my social environment. What am I to do?

NOT "IN"

DEAR NOT IN: You can either accept them, or try to upgrade your husband's choice of company. If these are the kind of characters your husband found attractive during your courtship, one wonders what you had in common as a basis for marriage.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HOPING AGAINST HOPE:" Quit hoping and see a doctor. What is, is.

TIMBER . . . and another record is broken. Fantastic as it may seen, Brian Herlihy (foreground) chopped his way to the top of this spar then lopped the top off—all in 2 minutes 2.2 seconds. WINS $100 PRIZE

He Stumbled Ashore After Strait Ordeal

NANAIMO — Nine hours and 23 minutes after starting, Mike Powley of Vancouver, on Sunday became the first man ever to swim the Strait of Georgia.

Barely able to walk, he stumbled ashore at Sechelt on the mainland to collect his $100 price.

MIKE POWLEY
. . . blue with cold

He was followed two hours later by Nanaimo lifeguard Ernest Yacub, 23.

Four others who set out from Neck Point just north of Nanaimo in the early hours, were forced to give up.

With water temperatures barely in the 50s, Mike was blue with cold when he finally left the water.

Like his competitors, the 25-year-old was daubed with a thick layer of grease before entering the water.

In addition to the cold, competitors had to battle the strong gulf currents which surge through the 16.1 mile stretch of water.

In previous years the combination has defeated all-comers.

Swimmers were fed hot chocolate by escort boats as they took brief rests in the water.

Forced to drop out after several hours in the water were: Evelyn Isaashen, of Victoria; Bill Smith of Lantzville; Uta Allers of Nanaimo, and Marjon Wilmink of New Westminster.

Youth Require Motivation, Leadership

NANAIMO — Today's youth is just as eager to do something worthwhile in life as the youth of previous generations, but require more motivation and leadership, says the superintendent of Mount Ranier National Park, who employs young people during summer months.

John A. Townsley made the observation in his keynote address to the 1967 conference of the International Northwest Parks and Recreation Association.

The conference was attended by some 80 delegates and wives from B.C., Alberta, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

Mr. Townsley said the proper indoctrination of young people employed at the Washington state park calls for a thoughtful and studious approach if their full potential is to be realized.

Whittaker Gives Top Performance

DUNCAN — Thousands crowded into Pioneer Park here Saturday for the biggest ever Cowichan Timber Carnival.

Under a blazing sun they witnessed competitions of skill and strength by some of the northwest's top loggers.

All-round loger of the day was Phil Whittaker, of West Vancouver.

He notched up a total of 18 points by taking two seconds in hand and power-saw bucking and two thirds in horizontal log chopping and springboard chopping.

Runner-up was veteran logger, Hugh McKenzie, of Victoria.

The ringing of axes wasn't the only feature event of the day.

A handful of men sported bushy beards that caused them to sweat more than the hard working loggers.

The winner, sporting a centennial derby hat, was Jerry James of Mesachie Lake.

In the logging events, first place winners were: Dwight Carpenter, Washington, speed climbing; Brian Herlihy, Sooke, springboard chop; Art Neiser, Nitinat, power-saw bucking under 9 h.p.; Glen Marino, Coquitlam, power-saw over 9 h.p.; Bob Waibel, Ore., horizontal log chop and hand bucking; Ralph Gabinski, Mission, Log burling; Hugh McKenzie, axe throwing; Louie Kloewer, Wash., tree topping.

Highlight of the day was a free-fall parachute jump by three local men.

Family Injured

CHEMAINUS —Lucas Bazuin, of Chemainus, was slightly improved in Victoria's Royal Jubilee Hospital today after being taken there in serious condition Saturday.

He and his family were injured when their car was in collision with another vehicle on the Trans-Canada Highway near here. Wife Alice and children Cindy 5, Ricky 7, and Linnell 3, are all in satisfactory condition in hospital here.

15,000 Attend Luxton Fair

Luxton Fair will continue as a three-day show, said manager Howard Drummond today.

Until this year the fair had been a two-day affair but the success of the three-day Centennial even convinced the board the fair should be expanded.

More than 15,000 persons attended the fair compared to less than 10,000 last year.

Mr. Drummond felt the extra day was responsible in part for the increased attendance.

"The fact that it's Centennial year seems to have made people feel they should get out and see what's going on," he added.

There were more entries in all classes except flowers this year but the floral standard was much higher, said fair secretary Harold Banks.

Officials have learned something from the recent show and there will be modifications next year.

But the midway will be the same. The board has contracted for the same midway in 1968.

Counterfeit Nazi Cache Discovered

MERANO (AP)—A £5,000,000 cache of counterfeit British bank notes, printed by the Nazis during the Second World War, was found Saturday night in a church organ in this north Italian city.

Merano bankers identified the fake money as part of millions printed by Nazis for Operation Bernard. That was a plan to undermine Britain's financial system by flooding the world money markets with counterfeit sterling.

Neat bundles of the notes were found inside a huge organ in the church of San Valentino in the Maia Alta section of Merano. The money apparently was hidden there when German troops retreated from northern Italy in 1945.

Authorities said they would start a systematic search for more fake money in Labers Castle, a German headquarters in Merano during the war.

Organ specialists looking for the date of the San Valentino organ's construction brought about the discovery. Artisans opened part of the exterior woodwork, thinking the date might be carved somewhere inside.

The counterfeit cache was all the organ specialists uncovered. They didn't find the date they were looking for.

NEWLYWEDS LEAVE CHURCH

Southern Wedding Breaks Race Lines

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — In what is believed to be the first inter-racial marriage performed in the U.S. Deep South, Carol Ann Prejean, a Negro, and John Zippert, white, exchanged wedding vows Sunday in a Roman Catholic church here.

The church was jammed and onlookers crowded the sidewalks outside. More than 600 persons, most of them Negro, attended the hour - long ceremony and mass at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church.

About 150 stood outside.

Zippert, 21, and his wife, 23, smiled and kissed as they emerged from the church. The group crowded around and congratulated them, and then the bride and groom took off for a huge reception in a nearby school cafeteria.

Zippert and his bride met while they were working in a local anti-poverty program.

Last Wednesday U.S. District Judge Richard Putnam ruled at Opelousas, La., that the state law prohibiting marriage between Negroes and whites is unconstitutional.

A former student-body president of City College of New York, Zippert, short, with dark, wavy hair, became a controversial figure in nearby St. Landry parish early this year.

A former white field worker for the Congress of Racial Equality, he engaged in organizing a co - operative among sweet - potato farmers in a "sweet-potato alert" project under the anti-poverty program.

Mixed Marriage First in State

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A white woman and a Negro man were married here Saturday in what is believed to be Virginia's first inter-racial wedding since the U.S. Supreme Court struck down the state's anti-miscegnation law in June.

Leona Eve Boyd, 24, and Romans Howard Johnson, 29, were wed in Kingdom Hall Church of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Tests Ordered on the Pill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has directed that a new series of long-range tests be started immediately on all contraceptive pills already on the market as well as those in the final stages of testing on human beings.

There is no plan, however, to remove any from the market.

A spokesman for the FDA said Saturday 11 pharmaceutical firms making oral contraceptives were told new tests must be made on dogs and on primates—that is, animals such as monkeys which are in the same class as man.

Primates had not been used in previous long-range tests of the drugs, the spokesman said.

The new tests were ordered after both dogs and monkeys developed abnormalities in breast tissue when given an experimental contraceptive drug known as MK-665. It has never been placed on public sale.

Tests of it had been authorized on 340 women, but these human tests were halted early in 1966 after six dogs taking the drug developed breast cancer.

In further tests, monkeys developed abnormalities described as atypical hyperplasia in the breast tissue. Agency spokesman said the possibility is slight that this could be a forerunner of cancer.

But the FDA told manufacturers the findings are disturbing enough to make general testing on primates "mandatory."

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Jim: "Here is an interesting hand for bidding. There is nothing to the play."

Oswald: "You're right. Playing in diamonds or in no-trump North and South have 12 top tricks and would make a grand slam if the spade finesse were to work."

Jim: "It should have been a cinch to get to six diamonds and the pair that did get to six diamonds by the bidding in the box have asked us to comment. Incidentally, the game was match point duplicate."

Oswald: "You remember the story about the man who asked, 'How do I get to the Jones Drugstore?' The answer was: 'Drive to the third traffic light. Turn left and then right. No. You'd better go to the fourth traffic light. Oh! You can't get there from here.' There is no good way to get to six no-trump and my guess is that six diamonds bid and made turned out to be a good score."

Jim: "It was. It seems that no one else in the field reached that spot. Some did not get to a slam at all. A couple of others reached seven and the failure of the spade finesse brought them down with a crash."

Oswald: "I suppose we could improvise and show how to land at six no-trump. Why should we? Bridge is not an exact science and never will be until you can see all 52 cards during the bidding. I like the bidding in the box except for West's rather pointless and dangerous one heart bid. This gave North a chance to cue bid and to cue bid a second time to show that he really meant the first one. Then South did well to start proceedings by rebidding his diamond suit. This made it obvious that his later bids were ace-showing."

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Old secret agents never die they just return in another guise.

Secret Agent Patrick McGoohan will fill that mold in a new series next season. "The Prisoner" is a new mystery show that is being kept so well under wraps that even CTV refuses to reveal the plot.

Stephen

It will be one of 17 new shows on the CTV network next season. Others are Ironside with Raymond Burr; Mannix another detective; The Jerry Lewis Show; The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour, on CTV for the first time though an old friend to regular CBS watchers.

Then there's The Flying Nun with Sally Field; The Buddies, a children's morning show with a puppet cast; Crossfire, a sort of David Susskind talk show with Mavor Moore; Question Period, based on the House of Commons question period, with three MPs taking the government side against three from the Opposition.

Then Charles Templeton will host a new public affairs series titled Canada: 101. It is to probe such topics as Should Canada become a republic?

Garrison's Gorillas, Off to See the Wizard and Pig 'N' Whistle, a variety show with a British setting round out the new series.

Coming back will be such as W5, the Sunday night public affairs series, the FBI, Star Trek, the Dean Martin Show, The Jackie Gleason show, Bewitched and even Batman.

Wide World of Sports will continue to fill time on Saturdays with hockey and Canadian Football League games on the bill, too.

TWO BITS: Beverly Hillbillies will be going into its sixth season this fall. Negotiations are already underway for at least four more years of the show. As a change of diet, the clan has done some of next seasons shows in England and there are plans to take the troupe to Hawaii for more.

Filming sequences inside an Igloo for CBC-TV's The True North, producer Jim Guthro had the igloo built inside a frame building so his actors could hear him above the wind.

WANT A HOME WHICH IS DIFFERENT? THIS IS IT !!

I have just listed EXCLUSIVELY, a family home in one of the nicest parts of GORDON HEAD. It is close to the University and its spacious 1470 sq. ft. contains 8 rooms. The 20'x14' living room with red brick fireplace overlooks a huge, naturally beautiful treed lot with the ocean as a back-ground. There are 4 bedrooms, 1 extra large; and 2 average, the large one being used at present as a T.V. room and lounge. Both large rooms are eminently suitable for this use as each has a large fireplace and view of the sea. There is a drive-in garage into the basement, from which a few steps take you to the central hall, where the tiled floor extends into the modern 4-piece and 2-piece bathrooms and the large electric kitchen and dining area. The heating is automatic oil. This home is priced to sell at $21,900 and will be shown by appointment only. EXCLUSIVE WITH FRANK BANNIER

Israel Allows Arab Refugees To Come Back

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—Israel's cabinet decided Sunday night not to alter an agreement to allow Jordanian refugees to return to their west bank homes, despite possible security risks.

The decision to stick with the agreement with Jordan was not taken without opposition. Eight of the 21-member cabinet voted to stop the return of the refugees.

It was reported here today that Defence Minister Moshe Dayan was among those who opposed wholesale readmission.

The attitude of the United Nations special representative, Nils Goran Gussing, was reported to have helped sway the cabinet to stick by its policy of allowing the refugees to return.

Gussing is said to have agreed with Israeli officials that Amman radio broadcasts encouraging civil disobedience by Arabs within Israeli-occupied territory were not in the spirit of the agreement between Israel and Jordan for the return of those who fled their homes after the six-day war in June.

The UN representative was understood to have made this point clear to Jordan during a flying visit to Amman during the weekend. Israel and Jordan reached agreement last week on the return of the refugees after resolving a long dispute about the wording on the return-application form.

Youth Suffers Face Cuts

A teen-ager whose car rammed a parked auto on Burnside spent Saturday night in hospital.

Robert Murdoch, 19, of 4023 Zinnia suffered face cuts in the accident near Douglas Street. He was released from St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday.

Police said his car was eastbound on Burnside shortly after 11 p.m. when it crashed into a car owned by Antonio Caigara, 665 Burnside, parked in front of his house.

John Gauti, 19, of 3814 Rowland, remains in critical condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today, 11 days after being hurt in an accident af Fernwood near Gladstone.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Robert Jones, 21, of 930 Southgate, which slammed into a parked truck and then spun into the path of another auto.

Shattering Collision Kills Three

LADNER, B.C. (CP) — Two men and a woman were killed late Sunday and three others seriously injured in a shattering, head-on collision between two cars on Highway 17 leading to the ferry slip at Tsawawssen, 20 miles south of Vancouver.

RCMP said the high-speed crash occurred on a curve but were unable to supply additional details.

Dead are:

Ezio Longhino, 26, of New Westminster.

Egidio Benacchio, 23, of New Westminster, and

Thea Beatrice Reddin, 33, of Vancouver.

Injured were:

Lloyd Reddin, 27, the dead woman's husband, and

Helmut Wagner, 14, and

Doris Wagner, 13, children of the dead woman by a previous marriage.

Youth Fined For Stealing Car Wipers

A teen-ager caught with two stolen windshield wipers a week ago was fined $100 Monday when he appeared in court for sentence.

William Martin, 19, of 2519 Ludgate, had been held in jail awaiting sentence.

Court heard last week that he was on probation when the car in which he was riding was checked by police Aug. 6.

Martin admitted he had stolen from a service station the pair of wipers found on the seat beside him.

TOWN HOMES UNSAFE AFTER EARTHQUAKE

BORDEAUX (Reuters)—New tremors which rocked the French village of Arette near the Spanish border early today left all houses in the area unsafe for habitation, local authorities reported.

They said the town's adult population was being moved to a nearby tent village, while children and old persons were taken to a school at Oloron-Ste. Marie, 12 miles away. One person was killed and 40 injured.

Meanwhile, bulldozers and men with picks and shovels worked to clear the rubble of 80 buildings destroyed by two tremors late Sunday night.

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (Reuters)—A series of severe earth tremors was reported to have hit the Australian-administered island of New Britain, off New Guinea, early today.

There were no immediate reports of injuries.

MANY HOPES HAVE DIMMED

'Gandhi Would Not Like Modern Indian State'

By MYRON BELKIND

NEW DELHI (AP)—Twenty years ago next Tuesday the last British viceroy of India stood in his palace in New Delhi and slowly read a proclamation from King George VI granting independence to 330,000,000 Indians.

Jawaharlal Nehru, as the first prime minister of free India, strode to a microphone and in one of his most moving speeches said:

"India stands forth again after a long slumber and struggle, awake, free and independent. A new star rises, the star of freedom in the East, and a new hope comes into being. May the star never set and that hope never be betrayed."

Today, India still is free and independent but many of the hopes expressed in 1947 have dimmed. Poverty and illiteracy still plague Indian whose population has grown to 510,000,000.

CASTES STILL EXIST

The rigid school system that segregates the population into castes from the scholarly Brahmin to the lowly untouchable still exists in practice, although it was outlawed in 1951.

Relations with neighboring Pakistan remain bitter, as they have been since the partition of the Indian subcontinent into predominantly Hindu and Moslem counties in 1947.

Concern about possible renewed hostilities with Pakistan or China has been used to justify an expenditure of $1,200,000,000 a year on defence. Even a portion of this sum would build badly needed schools or provide higher salaries to keep Indian scientists and doctors from rushing abroad.

How would Mohandas Gandhi, the leader of the freedom movement who was assassinated in January, 1948, feel about the India of today?

One of his closest associates, Chakravarti Rajagopalachari, the first Indian governor-general and founder of the right-wing Swatantra party, told the Associated Press:

"I can confidently say Gandhi would not be happy with the India of today. He would be miserable over our heavy indebtedness to foreign governments, our heavy defence expenditure, our failure to produce food in self-sufficient measure, our failure to improve the sanitary and living conditions in the rural areas, and last but not least our failure to establish friendly relations with Pakistan."

Despite India's failure, it has survived as a democratic nation, and this, say members of the governing Congress party, is its greatest achievement.

India's population is growing by more than 1,000,000 people a month.

EXAMINE PROPOSAL

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government has stressed the importance of family planning, and the health ministry is examining a proposal to introduce legislation requiring compulsory sterilization of men after the birth of a third child.

There is a strong feeling of nationalism and pride, despite India's multitude of problems.

"Twenty years ago, anything you picked up in a shop was foreign," says Karni Singh, 43.

"Now it is just the opposite. Now almost everything is being manufactured locally, including aircraft."

SOME CRITICISM

Nevertheless, there is criticism of the manner in which certain products have been produced at the expense of others.

"Instead of setting up factories for the production of luxury goods, such as cars and air conditioners, we should have put more money into agriculture," says Ram Manohar Lohia, a leader of the Samyukta United Socialist party.

The once invincible Congress party of Gandhi and Nehru is no longer India's super-party. It has only an 18-seat majority in Parliament and controls only nine of the 17 state legislature.

"The old guard has faded away, but this far there is no sign of a coherent new leadership," one Western diplomat said.

How do the British, the former colonizers, assess India's 20 years of independence?

"Amongst knowledgeable people, there is a feeling that India has done remarkably well," said a member of the British high commission in New Delhi.

"That doesn't mean mistakes haven't been made; a lot have been. But when you consider all the strains and stresses this country has undergone both domestically and internationally, it might have even fallen apart."

Anti-Mao Forces Hijack Arms Cargo

From Reuters — AP

TOKYO (CP) — Anti-Mao forces in the southern China city of Canton have hijacked a cargo of arms bound for North Vietnam, a Japanese newspaper correspondent reported Sunday.

Quoting a wall poster in Peking, the correspondent of the Sankei Shimbun said fierce fighting was going on between supporters and opponents of Chairman Mao Tse-tung in Canton.

The poster said counter-revolutionary conservative forces, instigated by the Canton military district, attacked a freighter in the harbor and seized its cargo of machine-guns and ammunition destined for North Vietnam.

During the turmoil in the city Thursday an unidentified tourist was killed in a shooting incident, the poster said.

The correspondent reported the poster said the public security bureau in Canton had suspended operations Tuesday after officials left their posts. Wednesday, bus and tram services halted because of turmoil created by citizens fleeing to the suburbs.

The poster said power-holders in the Canton military district had instigated counter-revolutionary forces to suppress the Maoist revolutionaries, the correspondent reported.

The official New China news agency said Saturday a new military commander and a new political commissar loyal to Mao have been named in the revolt-ridden Wuhan industrial area in central China.

The agency quoted commander Tseng Su-yu and political commissar Liu Feng as pledging the obedience of "all commanders and fighters in Wuhan."

The former military commander was Chen Tsai-tao and the former political commissar was Wang Jen-chung, both said to be opposed to Mao. Chen has been described as an anti-Mao leader in the recent weeks of fighting in Wuhan in which many Maoists were reported killed. He was later reported captured by supporters of Mao.

The news agency disclosed the appointment in reporting an appeal issued by Defence Minister Lin Piao last Thursday for renewed support for Mao's year-old campaign to purge his political enemies led by President Liu Shao-chi.

The Liberation Army Daily said Lin, at 58 the youngest of China's leaders, was named a year ago to succeed Mao. It confirmed unofficial reports by wall posters in Peking that Lin had become Mao's heir-apparent.

The military newspaper said Lin was named vice supreme commander of the Communist party at the general session of the party's central committee Aug. 1-12 last year.

NEW RCMP deputy commissioner is W. H. Kelly, 56, now assistant commissioner in charge of security and intelligence. Born in Wales, he joined the force in 1933.

Cyprus Blast Kills 4

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Four young Turkish-Cypriots were killed in an explosion which blew up a tractor outside the village of Alaminos in southeast Cyprus Saturday night. United Nations officials and civilian police investigated.

TO KEEP ORDER

U.S. Soldier Threatens Takeover

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — The man who wrote the best seller God Is My Copilot told an American Legion meeting Friday a military takeover of the U.S. by "devious or direct means" may become necessary if politicians cannot control lawlessness.

Retired U.S. air force Brig. Gen. Robert Scott said, "Military takeover is a dirty word in this country but, if the professional politicians cannot keep law and order, it is time we do so by devious or direct means"

He called for revitalization of the American Legion as a "powerful and militant political force dedicated to returning to private life those politicians who prove unwilling to listen to the voice of 100 per cent red-blooded Americans."

Scott said the alternative was a military or vigilante takeover of the country as a temporary measure if all else fails.

"If there is no law to prevent the Adam Clayton Powells, Stokely Carmichaels and Rap Browns from burning the country down," he said, "what is wrong with us saying, 'We will build it up again but we'll bury you first?'"

Poison Tested First

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Jacqueline Strayer, age 12, of Fairfield, Connecticut, for her question:

Are viruses plants or animals?

Viruses are parasites that attack the living tissues of both plants and animals. No doubt there are more varieties, but the 50 or so known to science are all bandit microbes. A generation ago, some scientists were sure that the infinitesimal objects were not really living things at all. In dormant stages they may endure for decades under temperatures and other hardships that would destroy any plant or animal cell permanently. What's more, when they enter a suitable living cell they are aroused to activities that are very different from the normal processesoflife.

In the past, it seemed logical to suspect that viruses may be non-living chemicals that cause destructive reactions in living tissues. Many poisons, of course, are destructive, inorganic or non-living chemicals. And some experts suspected the viruses were toxic chemicals of this sort. These scientists refused to classify the viruses as living things, either plants or animals.

Even modern scientists have not settled this problem definitely. Chemists who study the medical aspects of viruses tend to think of them as non-living chemical substances. Biologists who study the life processes of the infinitesimal parasites regard and treat viruses as living things with basic qualities that make them unique in the realm of life. But they do not know enough about them to classify them as plants or animals.

It takes at least a million of the miniature microbes to measure an inch. An electron microscope is needed to study their shadowy shapes. Their activities are studied by intricate equipment that appears to be borrowed from some weird science lab of the far future. The infinitesimal microbes may resemble bats or balls, sausages or commas. In suitable surroundings, they move and multiply and, like living cells, the teeming multitudes can mutate, or alter their structures.

Simple Chemicals

Each virus is a wad of simple chemicals, the very same chemicals in the tiny nucleus at the heart of every living cell. All plants and animals, of course, are built from living cells and each cell is organized and run by its tiny nucleus. Its key chemicals are nuclaic acids known as DNA and RNA. And a miniscule virus is a wad of these complex organic chemicals. It seems to be identical with the vital core of a living cell. This is why microbiologists treat it as a form of life, though the evidence is much too scanty to assign it to the plant or animal kingdom.

In the nucleus of a healthy cell, the DNA molecules carry the blueprint for the busy life processes. They issue orders that are obeyed and handed on by RNA molecules. A virus is small enough to filter through th tissues of a suitale plant or animal. It reaches the nucleus and takes over the duties of the DNA. It forces these blueprint molecules to issue different orders of its own. The cell must neglect its normal duties to produce copies of the virus. In some virus infections, a plant or animal can fight back and bring the disease under control. But sometimes the living organism is completely destroyed by the swarming invasion of a virus parasite.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's popularity with the United States public has hit new lows in the wake of big-city riots, his call for a surtax and his approval of more troops for Vietnam, two national polls reported Saturday.

Stuttering Should Be Ignored

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Alvarez

Much of stuttering is due to the person's anxiety in regard to possible criticism by the person to whom he is talking. If he feels that the person, perhaps his father or mother, is usually severely critical, and much annoyed with him if he stutters, he is very likely to stutter. But if he talks to a chum or to some adult with whom he feels no embarrassment, he may talk perfectly well. For years I have read that when a stuttering boy talks to his dog, he doesn't stutter and I can imagine this should be true.

Because of all this, teachers of speech beg parents of stuttering children not to notice the stuttering and never to nag at the child; they must not annoy him, and particularly, they must not make him feel self-conscious; they must not make him constantly expectant of criticism, or of punishment. Some teachers of speech have strongly suspected that if when the small child began to "er" a bit, the mother had not noticed the hesitation, he might never have become a stutterer.

Certain, it is that even adults who stutter very badly in front of some people may speak well before others. My mother used to say that when I was three or four and learning to speak, I stuttered a bit, but she did not bother me about it, and perhaps as a result, I soon was speaking without any hesitation or difficulty.

Today, people are interested in sauna baths. Mr. Hal Higdon, writing in "Today's Health," says that the sauna bath has been used in Finland for centuries, and now it is developing into a fad in North America.

The idea is first to produce great warmth in a room, heated perhaps by a red-hot stove. Then water is thrown on the stove to make steam; and finally the bather jumps into a cold shower. To me, a sauna sounds very much like the old Turkish bath.

Mr. Higdon doubts that a sauna will give the greatly improved health that many people expect. The perspiration can, of course, take off some weight. The bath cannot be counted on to clear away acne or skin blemishes, and it is questionable how much fitness it can produce. Some people think that you had better be sure you are fit before you tackle a sauna bath!

There is some evidence that saunas can occasonally do harm to a person who is not strong and well. It might be well for a sickly man not to be in a sauna room alone. There should be someone there to help him get out quickly if he should faint. Mr. Higdon doubts if saunas can cure arthritis.

84th Year, No. 57 ★ ★ ★ VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, AUGUST 14, 1967 —40 PAGES PRICE: 10 CENTS WEEKEND 15 CENTS

IT'LL BE HOT, DRY FOR REST OF MONTH

Victoria gardeners can save their prayers for another time.

Even the very loudest aren't getting through to the weatherman.

There'll be no rain this week—and that's that.

What's more, there probably won't be any the week after, or the week after that.

In an average year Victoria only experiences just under three-quarters of an inch in August.

And 1967 is far from average.

So far there's been no rain this month—the last to fall was on July 20.

Forecast for Tuesday: Sunny, 80 degrees plus downtown, DRY.

MONTANA PARK

Girls Killed By Grizzlies

JULIE HELGESON
. . . lightning blamed

MICHELE KOONS
. . . others sniffed

ROY DUCAT
. . . injured

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) The superintendent of Glacier National Park says lightning may have goaded two grizzly bears into killing two 19-year-old girls early Sunday as they slept in sleeping bags in rugged wilderness.

Killed in the separate incidents 20 miles apart in the mountainous park on the Montana-Canada border were Julie Helgeson of Albert Lea., Minn., and Michele Koons of San Diego, Calif., Roy Ducat, 18, of Perrysburg, Ohio, was severely injured by the bear that killed Miss Helgesen.

Forest Supt. Keith Neilson said his only theory on the attacks was that lightning strikes in the park alarmed the normally shy, near-sighted grizzlies into attacking.

Lightning started 14 forest fires in the park Saturday and Sunday.

"There is no scarcity of natural food and the grizzly is an unusually shy animal. It's strange for them to attack."

SNIFFED COMPANIONS

The bear that killed Miss Koons sniffed at four other sleeping bags while the occupants lay frozen with fear, then attacked Miss Koons, Neilson said.

The others escaped, but the zipper on her sleeping bag stuck.

All three victims were employed for the summer in park hotels.

The two girls were the first people reported killed by bears since the park opened in 1910, although several have been injured.

Park Rangers armed with rifles combed the Granite Park Chalet area where Miss Helgesen was attacked and the Trout Lake area 20 miles west where Miss Koons was killed. They shot the two grizzlies early today.

All trails in the area were closed to campers and hikers.

Bonn Chief At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chancellor Kurt George Kiesinger of West Germany arrived here Sunday for talks with President Johnson and will be joined today by his foreign minister, Willy Brandt.

Apart from European defence, Kiesinger and Johnson are expected to cover a broad range of issues in their talks, including the nature of the alliance between the two countires and the proposed treaty prohibiting non-nuclear powers from acquiring nuclear weapons.

Water Crisis Hits Saanich Due to Fantastic Use Today

RUSSIAN first deputy premier D. S. Polyansky was received in Ottawa Sunday by Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Paul Martin (left). Mr. Polyansky received official greetings on Parliament Hill where he called for "mutually beneficial cooperation between our two countries".

Canada, Russia Fail to Resolve Disagreements

OTTAWA (CP)—First Deputy Premier Dmitri Polyansky of the Soviet Union and Prime Minister Pearson apparently failed today to narrow their differences on Vietnam and the Middle East.

They conferred for an hour on the two contentious issues in what a Canadian spokesman described as a frank and useful discussion.

In diplomatic jargon, this usually means that no agreement was reached.

The spokesman refused to give details of the talks but it was clear they were stiff and businesslike, with neither side modifying its stand. Mr. Polyansky apparently repeated his charges of aggression against the U.S. and Israel.

The spokesman declined specifically to confirm that the Soviet deputy premier had reiterated these allegations. However, he did state that Mr. Polyansky had restated the Soviet viewpoint on Vietnam and the Middle East.

The Russian view is that the U.S. and Israel are guilty of aggression in these areas. Canada has many times disputed this view of events.

NO NEW PROPOSALS

Mr. Pearson was reported to have restated the Canadian position. It was understood that no new proposals were advanced by either side for ending the Vietnam war on regulating the Middle East situation.

Mr. Polyansky, here on a centennial visit, gave Mr. Pearson a letter from Premier Alexi Kosygin. Contents were not divulged.

A further short meeting between Mr. Pearson and Mr. Polyansky, previously unscheduled, was set for late today before the Soviet leader departs by train for Montreal to visit Expo 67

Tito Failing in Bid As Mideast Mediator?

300 FLEE FLOODING AT ALASKA VILLAGE

NENANA, Alaska (AP)—All women and children in this central Alaska community of 300 were evacuated Sunday night in the face of rising flood waters from the Tanana River.

Forty-seven Alaska national guardsmen were brought in from Fairbanks, about 50 miles northeast of here, to assist in the evacuation and help battle the rising waters.

The flooding is a result of heavy rains that have plagued the Nenana and Fairbanks areas for about a month.

Bombers Strike Close to China

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes bombed targets just 10 miles from China today, the second straight day they ventured within 10 miles of China's border—the nearest yet in the air war on North Vietnam.

Their attack was directed along the major railway from China to Hanoi and marked the fourth straight day of the stepped-up bombing of rail supply lines.

Navy A6 Intruders and A-4 Skyhawks from the carrier Constellation in the Tonkin Gulf raked the Lang Son main bypass bridge 63 miles north of Taiphong. Pilots reported dropping the southern span of the 360-foot four-span structure.

A U.S. military spokesman said the bridge is half a mile east of the Lang Son rail and highway bridge which was knocked out in raids Sunday.

In South Vietnam, 21 U.S. navy men were wounded when U.S. marines operating south of the big coastal base at Da Nang accidentally fired two mortar shells into a navy construction unit's compound.

RFFLECT LBJ POLICY

The intensified air raids on North Vietnam appeared to reflect the Johnson administration's announced policy of increasing pressure on the Communists.

Unofficial sources said U.S. pilots previously had been instructed to go no closer than 30 miles to China.

Yugoslav President Tito ended his talks with Syrian leaders in Damascus today and flew to Baghdad for talks with the Iraqi president. There was growing belief his Arab peace mission had got nowhere.

Before Tito left Belgrade there were widespread reports he would urge a policy of moderation on the leaders of Egypt, Syria, and Iraq, while presenting a compromise peace plan of his own. Since then the Yugoslav and Arab press have played down such reports.

Damascus radio called Tito's visit to Damascus and Cairo one for 'joint discussions and exchange of free views."

Although it gave no direct results of the talks the broadcast praised Tito as a "sincere friend of the Arabs."

The "compromise" peace plan attributed to Tito is totally unacceptable to Israel, discussions with high officials of the foreign ministry in Jerusalem made clear Sunday.

The Israeli government, they insist, will not withdraw its forces from Arab territories occupied in the six-day war in return for only international guarantees of peace and "tacit" or unspoken concurrency by the Arab States.

Israel's unvarying position since the end of the war has been that direct negotiations with the Arabs are the only avenue to any change from the present cease-fire arrangements.

In current talks with Arab leaders, Tito is reportedly proposing a plan for a staged Israeli troop withdrawal, assurances of the right of free navigation in the Gulf of Aquaba and guarantees of

Sprinkling Ban 'Up to People'

By JIM HUME and ROGER STONEBANKS

Some areas of Saanich were without water at noon today.

Other taps were expected to run dry during the peak period for domestic consumption between 5 and 7 tonight.

The reason: an "absolutely crazy" demand from Saanich lawn sprinklers, said waterworks superintendent Harry Greenwood.

The result could be tougher than ever watering restrictions by the weekend unless Greater Victoria citizens use greater restraint during the balance of the week.

"It is up to the people now," chief water commissioner Ron Upward told a special meeting of the Greater Victoria Water District Board this morning. "We have to cut lawn irrigation to 50 per cent by the weekend if there is to be any relaxing of restrictions. If the people cooperate, and I think they will, we can ease the restrictions next week.

"If not we may have to cut out lawn irrigation entirely."

Saanich and a section of Oak Bay were this morning's guinea pigs in a one-day-a-week watering experiment.

'GONE OVERBOARD'

In Saanich, "the people have gone overboard," said Mr. Greenwood. "People living at lower levels are sprinkling like mad and robbing the others."

Even with pumps going full-out the mains are not large enough to get water to higher levels.

In an effort to curb usage Mr. Greenwood said the water board had cut the pressure to the Saanich lines.

"The only thing I can see is to cut sprinkling altogether," Mr. Greenwood said. "The water board has cut our pressure so we can't do anything. The pumps are going full blow—they may burn out if we don't get enough water from the board."

HUGE JUMP

In the Mount Tolmie area at 3 a.m. Saanich was pumping water at a rate of 500 gallons a minute. By 8 a.m. the rate had risen to a fantastic 3,200 gallons a minute.

Residents without water this morning and with little hope of an improved situation later in the day live in the Lochside, Merriman-Synod area and western parts of the West Saanich Road.

Reeve Hugh Curtis has urged severe but self-imposed restrictions for the rest of the day.

"I don't think Saanich will be alone in this," he said. "I can see the same thing happening when Victoria and Esquimalt get their watering day on Thursday."

Water consumption this summer has been running at around 35 million gallons a day in the Greater Victoria area and has been peaking at 40 million gallons a day.

And that, says Mr. Upward, is too much.

Forests 'Explode' In Flames

(Times News Services)

Continued hot and dry weather, accompanied by lightning storms, created the worst forest fire conditions of the year during the weekend in the Pacific Northwest.

"Things are just exploding," said a B.C. Forest Service official in the Interior.

In the U.S. fires erupted in a number of national forests and officials warned of the extreme hazard.

An Oregon State forestry spokesman said he'd never seen such explosive fire conditions and all they could do was "hold their breath."

Total number of fires burning in the Nelson forest district Sunday was placed at 155.

OUT OF CONTROL

In the Lardeau area to the north of Nelson, 32 fires were reported out of control.

At least four of the fires north of Nelson were "major," forestry men said, and all will have to be doused by hand.

Hot Weather Halts Logging

Logging operations have all but closed in the Cowichan Valley and southern Vancouver Island because of the hot weather.

Fernie Viala, vice-president of the Duncan local of the International Woodworkers of America, said only one or two camps are operating on early shifts.

He estimated between 1,500 and 2,000 loggers are out of work. Manufacturing plants were all right because of log inventories.

The laid-off men are eligible for unemployment insurance money.

On southern Vancouver Island, an IWA spokesman said about 250 men are off work. He also said manufacturing plants are not affected yet.

'QUEEN' DAMAGED BOW TO MIDSHIPS

By TERRY IZZARD

The crippled ferry Queen of Prince Rupert today is under tow to Departure Bay near Nanaimo to unload the remaining vehicles aboard.

Holed beneath the water line when she ran on to Haddington Reef near Alert Bay Friday, she was to be towed to Burrard Drydock in Vancouver this evening.

The 3,500-ton B.C. Ferries flagship was temporarily patched by divers in Port McNeill harbor Sunday.

She was towed there by the deepsea tug Sudbury II after floating clear of the reef at high tide Saturday evening.

Unloading of more than half the 87 vehicles aboard Saturday morning allowed the 325-foot vessel to rise enough to be pulled free.

The remaining 42 vehicles — mostly owned by U.S. tourists — will be offloaded at Departure Bay.

Owners of the vehicles have been staying in Nanaimo over the weekend.

Remainder of the 299 passengers aboard who owned vehicles took delivery Sunday when they arrived aboard scows.

COST UNKNOWN

Full extent of damage to the $6½ million vessel will not be known until Wednesday or Thursday.

Said ferry authority's general manager, Monty Aldous, who was recalled from a holiday in the interior:

"There will have to be a thorough inspection before any estimates can be given.

"The divers report she is damaged from the bow to midships. But as long as she's in the water it's impossible to tell how badly."

One of the biggest costs will probably be repairing the engine room which was flooded when rocks gashed through the Queen's hull.

Meanwhile, some 5,000 reservations for future sailings have been cancelled.

Said Mr. Aldous: "We've managed to reach most people. However some are already on the road and can't be contacted. We're hoping they'll have heard about it by way of the news media."

'We've just had to redirect the," said Mr. Aldous.

Of the passengers stranded after the mishap Mr. Aldous said: "They've been a wonderful group. Many of them praised the way they were handled by the crew.

'Most of them took the view that it was quite an experience even if it did inconvenience them."

CLOSING IN 'DANGEROUS'

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. bombing within 10 miles of China detonated sharp new criticism of the Vietnam war by a persistent critic of Johnson administration war policy and appeared likely to generate more debate on Capitol Hill.

"I think it's very dangerous and extremely stupid," said J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

But John Stennis, chairman of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, said the broadened bombing of North Vietnam reflects a more - pressure philosophy which he supports.

The new level of bombing came on the eve of Senate debate on President Johnson's foreign aid program. Debate opening today already had been expected to bring fresh attacks on Johnson policies in Vietnam and elsewhere in the world.

Whether one variety of recent congressional criticism — that bombing was too sparing—affected Johnson's decision to add new targets could not be determined as the White House fended off questions on the shift in tactics.

LIFT RESTRICTIONS

Strikes Sunday against North Vietnamese railyards 10 miles from China and Friday against Hanoi's Doumer bridge came after Johnson lifted temporarily two major target restrictions.

The restricted areas are a 30-mile diameter circle around Hanoi, and a 15 to 20-mile-wide buffer zone along the North Vietnam-China boundary.

Fulbright said the bombing near China "is directly contrary to what was the established policy of the government in 1964."

Some o' them poor lawns bein' washed out o' the earth on waterin' day'll be glad when th' shortage is over.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Some commodities developed an easier tone to reduce early advtnces on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Flax earlier showed firmness but eased off as the session proceeded. Rye prices were lower. The decreases were credited to the possibility of a seamen's strike set for August 17 and the influence of an easier Chicago market. Trade reports said Britain purchased a cargo of flax on the decline.

Rapeseed resisted the lower trend and prices were firm. Oats and barley trade was mostly domestic and prices held to a narrow range.

Wheat Trade Boost Of 5 Per Cent Seen

WASHINGTON (CP) — The U.S. is forecasting an increase of perhaps five per cent in world wheat trade for the year ending next June 30.

Other estimates in the latest wheat report by the U.S. agriculture department:

- There will be more wheat around, despite the "substantially smaller crop shaping up in Canada."
- Competition will remain strong too and there is the implication prices may come down under further pressure.

Some Canadian sources feel the U.S. has already begun manoeuvring on price. Certainly, at the recently-concluded tariff-reduction talks at Geneva. the U.S. prevailed over Canada and Australia in beating down the maximum price range in the new cereals agreement.

Some days ago Agriculture Secretary Freeman justified a cut of 13 per cent in the next authorized winter wheat acreage "to avoid building up a price-depressing and costly surplus."

He has been under fire by the farmers for what they think are depressed farm produce prices. On the other hand, supporters of massive foreign aid programs, such as Senator George McGovern, South Dakota Democrat, have deplored the acreage cut at a time when hunger exists in broad global areas.

The agriculture department report says the average price for the current year is likely to be somewhat lower than last year's $1.83 a bushel. The Canadian equivalent was $1.97, it says.

Decision Asked On Bank Charge

MONTREAL (CP)—The federal government ought to decide soon just how extensively it intends to allow foreign banks to operate in Canada, J. H. Coleman, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, said today.

In a speech reviewing current problems and developments in this country's banking system, Mr. Coleman told delegates to the 20th International Banking Summer School that the government is studying the question of foreign banks but so far has no announced policy on the matter.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Wall Street Takes Plunge

Wall Street sagged in heavy trading today and Toronto slumped following the New York pattern.

AT VANCOUVER most mining issures registered gains in dull trading to noon.

Buttle added .10 to $1.28 and Atlas put on .15 to $3.90. Cariboo Bell jumped .10 to $1, and Northlode added the same climbing to .76. PC Explorations was among the leaders adding .13 to $2.18. Westland lost .20 to $3.20.

Most oil issues also posted gained with R. C. Ventures adding .04 to .42 and Share, up .05 to .63.

Neon led the industrials climbing .25 to $8.

Volume to 11 a.m. was 669,138 shares.

AT NEW YORK the list was continuing Friday's decline amid forecasts that a consolidation of the recent climb to new 1967 highs was in order.

Losses outnumbered gains by a ratio of more than 7 to 4.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.2 to 339.1, with industrials off 2.2, rails off .5 and utilities off .1.

AT TORONTO Inco dropped 1⅛ to 108½, CPR 1 to 71¾ and Magna Electronics ¾ to 17½.

On the plus side, Harding Carpets and Levy gained 1½ each to 18 and 28¾ and Metropolitan Stores 1⅞ to 28⅞.

Speculative activity remained heavy as Consolidated Negus rose 25 cents to 1.32 on 421,000 shares.

Among western oils, Dome gained ½ to 59½ and Hudson's Bay ⅜ to 36⅞.

AT MONTREAL sagging utility index brought the market to lower levels in early afternoon trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Bell Telephone and Interprovincial Pipe Line each lost ⅜ to 48⅛ and 23, respectively as index dropped almost one point.

CPR slid ⅞ to 71¾ and Algoma, whose first-half earnings were down sharply, ½ to 26½. Also off ½ was International Nickel, which dipped a total of 5⅛ points last week.

AT LONDON subdued equities started the week on the stock market rather indecisively. Some caution was apparent preceeding announcement Tuesday of U.K. trade figures.

Gilts were firm on the prospects of the reinvestment of steel nationalization money. Gains were widespread.

Dollar stocks made a mixed showing. Among Canadian issues, International Nickel and Hudson Bay Oil and Gas gave ground, but Algoma was a firm spot. Other Canadian issues moved narrowly around Friday's closing levels.

Drug Costs Hurting Taxpayers

TORONTO (CP)—Douglas Denholm, president of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, said today an "unfair" pricing system by drug manufacturers is forcing Canadians to subsidize hospitals.

Mr. Denholm said in an interview the system forces individual Canadians to pay for substantial discounts the manufacturers grant to hospitals for both brand-name and generic drugs.

"That leaves the on-the-street patient subsidizing this low-cost supply to government-supported agencies," Mr. Denholm said.

He said he planned to upbraid the manufacturers in his annual report to the association, representing retail druggists, which began its annual convention here today.

RECOMMENDS BALANCE

He recommended that all drug manufacturers balance their prices, lowering the cost for drug stores and raising it in the case of hospitals and government institutions.

Mr. Denholm also suggested a recommendation to the Canadian Medical Association that wherever possible doctors prescribe to their patients drugs by their generic or chemical names, not by their brand or commercial names.

"We are all for it," except in cases where brand name drugs are known to be more effective than the chemical product," Mr. Denholm said.

"It means we can pass on the lower price to the consumer because we can decrease our inventory investment. Instead of baving a high-priced drug on our shelves, we can have lower-priced ones that cost us less."

Earlier this year, a special parliamentary committee studying the cost of drugs said Canadians were given too many brand-name prescriptions. It had found there was no significant difference between chemical and brand-name drugs.

Merger Eyed In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The possibility of a merger between International Utilities Corp., with headquarters in Toronto, and General Waterworks Corp., based in Claymont, Del., is being explored, Howard Butcher III, chairman of both companies, said today.

An independent consulting firm in Canada already has been retained at Toronto and one independent investment banking firm in the United States is being engaged to determine the advantages of a merger, he said.

Consolidation would be effected through an exchange of stock.

ALL STEAMED UP about nothing Sunday were these 20 relics of the past. They are the few remaining steamboats in the Pacific Northwest. Members of Puget Sound Live Steamboat Association, they huffed and puffed their way into Bedwell Harbor, at South Pender Island, at the weekend for their annual meeting and race. Here they are seen wheezing over the starting line. To make the race even, when the first boat reaches the turning point, everyone turns about and scurries back to the finish. (Bill Halkett photos.)

CANADA'S TOP ATHLETE AT PARAPLEGIC GAMES

Lorna 'Wheels Out' Eight Medals

MRS. LORNA VINDEN
. . . six gold, two silver

Canada's top athlete in the Paraplegic Pan-American Games is 26-year-old Mrs. Lorna Vinden, 901 Lakeview.

Mrs. Vinden, wife of J. Keith Vinden, won six gold and two silver medals in the Winnipeg games which ended Saturday.

Mrs. Vinden, a polio victim, won golds in the shot put, discus, javelin, club throw and track and field events.

Her silver medals were won in swimming and track and field.

The Pan-American Games marked Mrs. Vinden's first essay into wheelchair athletic competition.

For months she has been training with coach Rody Ryan at Oak Bay high school and taking swimming training at Royal Roads.

●

Three evening sessions and a Sunday morning workout each week brought her up to gold medal standards.

She didn't intend to enter the swimming competition. But she made a last-minute decision to enter and came in second.

Two other Islanders entered the competitions, Larry Luck of Victoria and Paul Roberge of Duncan, but neither placed in the events.

Canada came second in the games with 27 gold, 45 silver and 36 bronze medals.

Winner was the U.S. with 92 golds, 67 silvers and 47 bronze.

This is the first time the games have been held in Canada.

Expert Offers Little Hope Just: 'I Told You So'

By TED GASKELL

Times garden expert Jack Beastall can only say "I told you so."

"Since the water restrictions went into effect, my phone hasn't stopped ringing. People want to know how they can save their gardens with only one day's watering a week."

He can offer little hope.

"For 18 years I have been telling people to use compost to put humus into the soil so it will hold moisture. They won't. We've advised them to start watering in mid-April, but they wait until the end of May, when the water table's gone and plants start to wilt.

"You can't make up overnight the loss of moisture in the soil," he said.

The theory of "if you can't irrigate—cultivate" is fine if the soil has moisture.

When the water has soaked in and left a two-inch layer of dry soil as a "dust mulch," cultivation of this dry earth will not only kill of the weed seedlings, but will areate the soil and draw up moisture which has gone beyond the reach of plant roots, Mr. Beastall explained.

But a soil with proper humus in it doesn't need frequent watering. Every 10 days should be adequate.

He didn't turn thumbs down completely on the use of second-hand domestic water with detergents in it.

★

"Some detergents are used in sprays to help spread the water over the leaves," he said.

Gardeners should have no trouble using old dishwater, or even bath water, providing it doesn't contain too much soap or detergent or too much isn't used in one place.

"A small amount won't harm plants," Mr. Beastall said.

ST. JOSEPH'S ACCEPTS WAGE PACT

St. Joseph's Hospital announced today it has accepted a conciliation board report recommending a basic 17.3 per cent wage boost for 450 non-medical employees in a one-year contract.

The report was accepted earlier by the employees, members of the Hospital Employees Union, Local 180.

The increase is retroactive to last January and the new contract expires in December. Settlement is based on a lower mainland agreement.

Wages in the old contract ranged from $202 a month for maids to $524 a month for carpenters.

'Didn't Know What I Was Doing'

A Vancouver man appeared in central court today to answer for a worthless cheque he wrote in Victoria over three years ago.

John Bolan was fined $50 after pleading guilty to false pretences.

He was accused of cashing a $40 cheque at a Quadra Street food store on June 29, 1964. The cheque was later returned to the store marked "account closed."

Bolan said he wrote the bad cheque a week after his wife had been killed in an accident.

HEARTBROKEN

"I was heartbroken and didn't know what I was doing."

The cheque was one of half a dozen written at the time and must have been missed when he later made the others good, he said.

He added he had gone on a six month's drunk after his wife's death but was now working as a carpenter in Vancouver.

GRASS, BRUSH BLAZE

Saanich Firemen Kept Busy

Saanich firemen battled a grass and brush fire on Burnside for close to six hours Sunday.

About two acres of ground were burnt on a lot at 1842 Burnside but an old barn threatened by the flames was saved.

A department spokesman said this morning that a cigarette butt tossed from a car may have touched off the stubborn fire.

Firemen who answered the alarm at 4 p.m. were not back at their station until close to 10.

A police patrol early Sunday found a bail of peat moss behind the Bank of Montreal at the Royal Oak shopping plaza which someone had tried to set alight.

The peat moss, which failed to light, was thought to have been taken from a gardening store in the plaza.

Ruling Against Woodworkers Upheld by CLC

By ROGER STONEBANKS
Labor Reporter

A split within organized labor in British Columbia widened today.

And Syd Thompson, president of the 7,000-member Vancouver local of the International Woodworkers of America, said the latest move will have "a real disruptive influence".

He was commenting on a ruling handed down by Donald MacDonald, acting president of the Canadian Labour Congress.

The ruling followed the suspension from the B.C. Federation of Labour of the Victoria, Vancouver, Duncan and Lumber Inspector locals of the IWA earlier this year.

SERVICES WITHDRAWN

Mr. Thompson said the ruling means the four locals are not allowed to seat delegates at labor councils or CLC conventions nor are they entitled to any of the services normally rendered by these bodies.

But because the locals are not suspended from local labor councils or the CLC "we are still obligated to pay per capita contributions."

"Anyone from the suspended locals who happens to be an officer of the CLC or labor council is in no way affected."

STAY IN POSITIONS

This would leave a number of IWA members active in local labor councils able to continue in their positions.

Among those in this position is Jack Groves, president of the Victoria Labour Council. Mr. Thompson is a vice-president of the Vancouver Labour Council.

A number of other members of suspended locals hold executive positions in labor councils and the CLC, including Mr. MacDonald, Joe Morris, CLC vice-president, and Paddy Neale, secretary of the Vancouver Labour Council.

WANTS ASSURANCES

Mr. Thompson said the Vancouver local voted unanimously at a membership meeting Saturday to withhold all per capita contributions to the Vancouver Labour Council until assurances are given "that our delegates will be seated."

In Victoria, there was no official comment from the IWA. Local president Murray Drew is on vacation and the local has yet to take up the matter.

The four locals, with 13,000 members, were suspended from the B.C. Federation of Labour after the presidents made a public criticism of Mr. Morris of the CLC.

The federation said the public statement violated convention-approved policy not to air internal problems in public. The four locals said the federation had no jurisdiction in the matter.

Other IWA locals in B.C. have threatened to pull out in sympathy. A mass withdrawal by the IWA would cut federation membership by 25 per cent.

Mr. Thompson said the CLC ruling "further aggravates the entire situation and obviously the only solution is that the federation reconsider its stupid position and allow the four locals back and that will be the end to all the nonsense."

(The federation earlier demanded a public retraction of the criticism of Mr. Morris, or the locals would be suspended. The locals declined to apologize.)

"If this is going to be the policy of the CLC, the labor movement in B.C. will get completely altered because the IWA plays a leading part in labor councils in Vancouver, Victoria and Duncan."

New Animals Bylaw Under Study Tuesday

Saanish lands and planning committee will meet Tuesday night to consider the proposed new animals bylaw.

Meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. in municipal hall.

Teachers Name Fact-Finding Commission

The British Columbia Teachers' Federation has appointed a three-man commission to study what it calls "problems confronting the teaching profession."

Association president Robert Buzza said the commissioners will be D. B. MacKenzie, recently retired superintendent of Vancouver schools; James Carter, vice-principal of Point Grey Secondary School, and Mrs. Lorril Hanney, intermediate supervisor of Burnaby schools.

REPORT IN 1968

Scheduled to report in 1968, the commission will consider purposes and objectives in education, the need for change, the means of implementing change, school organization and administration, and the education and training of teachers.

The commission will invite teachers and other groups to submit briefs and arrange for hearings.

Mr. Buzza stressed the commission is not an answer to the 1960 Chant commission.

"The Chant commission was concerned with the present. Our concern is with the future.

"The Chant report was limited to suggesting changes in a school system which was taken for granted as being basically sound."

Organ Transplants Tops Doctors' Agenda

More than 200 doctors will arrive in Victoria Oct. 11 to attend the annual meeting of the British Columbia Medical Association at the Empress Hotel.

Some of Canada's best-known diabetes and organ trassplant specialists will take part in the discussions. There will be two papers on diabetes, two on organ transplants and a fifth on the operation of the kidney machine.

GREAT ADVANCES

"Diabetes and organ transplants are fields of internal medicine in which great advances have been made in recent years," a spokesman for the B.C. Medical Association said.

The transplant papers will be given by Dr. F. G. Inglis, associated professor of surgery at McGill University, and Dr. M. A. Batlzan, who has successfully transplanted kidneys at Saskatoon.

Meetings of the B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons, the B.C. Medical Association and Medical Services, Inc., Oct. 11-13.

The B.C. Society of Internal Medicine will meet Oct. 14.

Several sessions will be devoted to discussion of reports of the B.C. Medical Association's health planning council.

For several years the council has conducted research into such subjects as pollution, mental health and auto safety.

"There will be general and clinical session on mental health," said Dr. G. Scott Wallace, of Victoria, program chairman for the B.C. Medical Association.

FIRE GUTTED the interior of this 12-year-old car Sunday night when it burst into flame in a parking lot behind 1093 Foul Bay Road. Owned by Gerry Lavigne of the same address it was classified as a write-off. A cigarette butt dropped on the upholstery is thought to have started the blaze. City firemen assisted the Oak Bay department in soaking it.

Israel Allows Arab Refugees To Come Back

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—Israel's cabinet decided Sunday night not to alter an agreement to allow Jordanian refugees to return to their west bank homes, despite possible security risks.

The decision to stick with the agreement with Jordan was not taken without opposition. Eight of the 21-member cabinet voted to stop the return of the refugees.

It was reported here today that Defence Minister Moshe Dayan was among those who opposed wholesale readmission.

The attitude of the United Nations special representative, Nils Goran Gussing, was reported to have helped sway the cabinet to stick by its policy of allowing the refugees to return.

Gussing is said to have agreed with Israeli officials that Amman radio broadcasts encouraging civil disobedience by Arabs within Israeli-occupied territory were not in the spirit of the agreement between Israel and Jordan for the return of those who fled their homes after the six-day war in June.

The UN representative was understood to have made this point clear to Jordan during a flying visit to Amman during the weekend. Israel and Jordan reached agreement last week on the return of the refugees after resolving a long dispute about the wording on the return-application form.

Youth Suffers Face Cuts

A teen-ager whose car rammed a parked auto on Burnside spent Saturday night in hospital.

Robert Murdoch, 19, of 4023 Zinnia suffered face cuts in the accident near Douglas Street. He was released from St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday.

Police said his car was eastbound on Burnside shortly after 11 p.m. when it crashed into a car owned by Antonio Caigara, 665 Burnside, parked in front of his house.

John Gauti, 19, of 3814 Rowland, remains in critical condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today, 11 days after being hurt in an accident af Fernwood near Gladstone.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Robert Jones, 21, of 930 Southgate, which slammed into a parked truck and then spun into the path of another auto.

MANY HOPES HAVE DIMMED

'Gandhi Would Not Like Modern Indian State'

By MYRON BELKIND

NEW DELHI (AP)—Twenty years ago next Tuesday the last British viceroy of India stood in his palace in New Delhi and slowly read a proclamation from King George VI granting independence to 330,000,000 Indians.

Jawaharlal Nehru, as the first prime minister of free India, strode to a microphone and in one of his most moving speeches said:

"India stands forth again after a long slumber and struggle, awake, free and independent. A new star rises, the star of freedom in the East, and a new hope comes into being. May the star never set and that hope never be betrayed."

Today, India still is free and independent but many of the hopes expressed in 1947 have dimmed. Poverty and illiteracy still plague Indian whose population has grown to 510,000,000.

CASTES STILL EXIST

The rigid school system that segregates the population into castes from the scholarly Brahmin to the lowly untouchable still exists in practice, although it was outlawed in 1951.

Relations with neighboring Pakistan remain bitter, as they have been since the partition of the Indian subcontinent into predominantly Hindu and Moslem counties in 1947.

Concern about possible renewed hostilities with Pakistan or China has been used to justify an expenditure of $1,200,000,000 a year on defence. Even a portion of this sum would build badly needed schools or provide higher salaries to keep Indian scientists and doctors from rushing abroad.

How would Mohandas Gandhi, the leader of the freedom movement who was assassinated in January, 1948, feel about the India of today?

One of his closest associates, Chakravarti Rajagopalachari, the first Indian governor-general and founder of the right-wing Swatantra party, told the Associated Press:

"I can confidently say Gandhi would not be happy with the India of today. He would be miserable over our heavy indebtedness to foreign governments, our heavy defence expenditure, our failure to produce food in self-sufficient measure, our failure to improve the sanitary and living conditions in the rural areas, and last but not least our failure to establish friendly relations with Pakistan."

Despite India's failure, it has survived as a democratic nation, and this, say members of the governing Congress party, is its greatest achievement.

India's population is growing by more than 1,000,000 people a month.

EXAMINE PROPOSAL

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government has stressed the importance of family planning, and the health ministry is examining a proposal to introduce legislation requiring compulsory sterilization of men after the birth of a third child.

There is a strong feeling of nationalism and pride, despite India's multitude of problems.

"Twenty years ago, anything you picked up in a shop was foreign," says Karni Singh, 43.

"Now it is just the opposite. Now almost everything is being manufactured locally, including aircraft."

SOME CRITICISM

Nevertheless, there is criticism of the manner in which certain products have been produced at the expense of others.

"Instead of setting up factories for the production of luxury goods, such as cars and air conditioners, we should have put more money into agriculture," says Ram Manohar Lohia, a leader of the Samyukta United Socialist party.

The once invincible Congress party of Gandhi and Nehru is no longer India's super-party. It has only an 18-seat majority in Parliament and controls only nine of the 17 state legislature.

"The old guard has faded away, but this far there is no sign of a coherent new leadership," one Western diplomat said.

How do the British, the former colonizers, assess India's 20 years of independence?

"Amongst knowledgeable people, there is a feeling that India has done remarkably well," said a member of the British high commission in New Delhi.

"That doesn't mean mistakes haven't been made; a lot have been. But when you consider all the strains and stresses this country has undergone both domestically and internationally, it might have even fallen apart."

Anti-Mao Forces Hijack Arms Cargo

From Reuters — AP

TOKYO (CP) — Anti-Mao forces in the southern China city of Canton have hijacked a cargo of arms bound for North Vietnam, a Japanese newspaper correspondent reported Sunday.

Quoting a wall poster in Peking, the correspondent of the Sankei Shimbun said fierce fighting was going on between supporters and opponents of Chairman Mao Tse-tung in Canton.

The poster said counter-revolutionary conservative forces, instigated by the Canton military district, attacked a freighter in the harbor and seized its cargo of machine-guns and ammunition destined for North Vietnam.

During the turmoil in the city Thursday an unidentified tourist was killed in a shooting incident, the poster said.

The correspondent reported the poster said the public security bureau in Canton had suspended operations Tuesday after officials left their posts. Wednesday, bus and tram services halted because of turmoil created by citizens fleeing to the suburbs.

The poster said power-holders in the Canton military district had instigated counter-revolutionary forces to suppress the Maoist revolutionaries, the correspondent reported.

The official New China news agency said Saturday a new military commander and a new political commissar loyal to Mao have been named in the revolt-ridden Wuhan industrial area in central China.

The agency quoted commander Tseng Su-yu and political commissar Liu Feng as pledging the obedience of "all commanders and fighters in Wuhan."

The former military commander was Chen Tsai-tao and the former political commissar was Wang Jen-chung, both said to be opposed to Mao. Chen has been described as an anti-Mao leader in the recent weeks of fighting in Wuhan in which many Maoists were reported killed. He was later reported captured by supporters of Mao.

The news agency disclosed the appointment in reporting an appeal issued by Defence Minister Lin Piao last Thursday for renewed support for Mao's year-old campaign to purge his political enemies led by President Liu Shao-chi.

The Liberation Army Daily said Lin, at 58 the youngest of China's leaders, was named a year ago to succeed Mao. It confirmed unofficial reports by wall posters in Peking that Lin had become Mao's heir-apparent.

The military newspaper said Lin was named vice supreme commander of the Communist party at the general session of the party's central committee Aug. 1-12 last year.

NEW RCMP deputy commissioner is W. H. Kelly, 56, now assistant commissioner in charge of security and intelligence. Born in Wales, he joined the force in 1933.

TOWN HOMES UNSAFE AFTER EARTHQUAKE

BORDEAUX (Reuters)—New tremors which rocked the French village of Arette near the Spanish border early today left all houses in the area unsafe for habitation, local authorities reported.

They said the town's adult population was being moved to a nearby tent village, while children and old persons were taken to a school at Oloron-Ste. Marie, 12 miles away. One person was killed and 40 injured.

Meanwhile, bulldozers and men with picks and shovels worked to clear the rubble of 80 buildings destroyed by two tremors late Sunday night.

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (Reuters)—A series of severe earth tremors was reported to have hit the Australian-administered island of New Britain, off New Guinea, early today.

There were no immediate reports of injuries.

TO KEEP ORDER

U.S. Soldier Threatens Takeover

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — The man who wrote the best seller God Is My Copilot told an American Legion meeting Friday a military takeover of the U.S. by "devious or direct means" may become necessary if politicians cannot control lawlessness.

Retired U.S. air force Brig. Gen. Robert Scott said, "Military takeover is a dirty word in this country but, if the professional politicians cannot keep law and order, it is time we do so by devious or direct means."

He called for revitalization of the American Legion as a "powerful and militant political force dedicated to returning to private life those politicians who prove unwilling to listen to the voice of 100 per cent red-blooded Americans."

Scott said the alternative was a military or vigilante takeover of the country as a temporary measure if all else fails.

"If there is no law to prevent the Adam Clayton Powells, Stokely Carmichaels and Rap Browns from burning the country down," he said, "what is wrong with us saying, 'We will build it up again but we'll bury you first?' "

11 Miners Killed In Spanish Blast

MIERES, Spain (AP)—Eleven miners died and one suffered critical injuries today in a fire-damp explosion in a coal mine near here. Forty-nine men escaped from the mine without injury.

The explosion occurred just after the morning shift entered the pit, at a depth of more than 300 feet.

Ferry Damage Vast

By TERRY IZZARD

The crippled ferry Queen of Prince Rupert today is under tow to Departure Bay near Nanaimo to unload the remaining vehicles aboard.

Holed beneath the water line when she ran on to Haddington Reef near Alert Bay Friday, she was to be towed to Burrard Drydock in Vancouver this evening.

The 3,500-ton B.C. Ferries flagship was temporarily patched by divers in Port McNeill harbor Sunday.

She was towed there by the deepsea tug Sudbury II after floating clear of the reef at high tide Saturday evening.

Unloading of more than half the 87 vehicles aboard Saturday morning allowed the 325-foot vessel to rise enough to be pulled free.

The remaining 42 vehicles — mostly owned by U.S. tourists — will be offloaded at Departure Bay.

Owners of the vehicles have been staying in Nanaimo over the weekend.

Remainder of the 299 passengers aboard who owned vehicles took delivery Sunday when they arrived aboard scows.

COST UNKNOWN

Full extent of damage to the $6½ million vessel will not be known until Wednesday or Thursday.

Said ferry authority's general manager, Monty Aldous, who was recalled from a holiday in the interior:

"There will have to be a thorough inspection before any estimates can be given.

"The divers report she is damaged from the bow to midships. But as long as she's in the water it's impossible to tell how badly."

One of the biggest costs will probably be repairing the engine room which was flooded when rocks gashed through the Queen's hull.

Meanwhile, some 5,000 reservations for future sailings have been cancelled.

Said Mr. Aldous: "We've managed to reach most people. However some are already on the road and can't be contacted. We're hoping they'll have heard about it by way of the news media."

'We've just had to redirect the," said Mr. Aldous.

Of the passengers stranded after the mishap Mr. Aldous said: "They've been a wonderful group. Many of them praised the way they were handled by the crew.

'Most of them took the view that it was quite an experience even if it did inconvenience them."

TOURING ARAB CAPITALS

Tito Failing in Bid As Mideast Mediator?

Times News Services

Yugoslav President Tito ended his talks with Syrian leaders in Damascus today and flew to Baghdad for talks with the Iraqi president. There was growing belief his Arab peace mission had got nowhere.

Before Tito left Belgrade there were widespread reports he would urge a policy of moderation on the leaders of Egypt, Syria, and Iraq, while presenting a compromise peace plan of his own. Since then the Yugoslav and Arab press have played down such reports.

Damascus radio called Tito's visit to Damascus and Cairo one for 'joint discussions and exchange of free views."

Although it gave no direct results of the talks the broadcast praised Tito as a "sincere friend of the Arabs."

The "compromise" peace plan attributed to Tito is totally unacceptable to Israel, discussions with high officials of the foreign ministry in Jerusalem made clear Sunday.

The Israeli government, they insist, will not withdraw its forces from Arab territories occupied in the six-day war in return for only international guarantees of peace and "tacit" or unspoken concurrency by the Arab States.

Israel's unvarying position since the end of the war has been that direct negotiations with the Arabs are the only avenue to any change from the present cease-fire arrangements.

In current talks with Arab leaders, Tito is reportedly proposing a plan for a staged Israeli troop withdrawal, assurances of the right of free navigation in the Gulf of Aquaba and guarantees of

PRESSURE IS ON

Bombers Strike Close to China

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes bombed targets just 10 miles from China today, the second straight day they ventured within 19 miles of China's border—the nearest yet in the air war on North Vietnam.

Their attack was directed along the major railway from China to Hanoi and marked the fourth straight day of the stepped-up bombing of rail supply lines.

Navy A6 Intruders and A-4 Skyhawks from the carrier Constellation in the Tonkin Gulf raked the Lang Son main bypass bridge 63 miles north of Taiphong. Pilots reported dropping the southern span of the 360-foot four-span structure.

A U.S. military spokesman said the bridge is half a mile east of the Lang Son rail and highway bridge which was knocked out in raids Sunday.

In South Vietnam, 21 U.S. navy men were wounded when U.S. marines operating south of the big coastal base at Da Nang accidentally fired two mortar shells into a navy construction unit's compound.

RFFLECT LBJ POLICY

The intensified air raids on North Vietnam appeared to reflect the Johnson administration's announced policy of increasing pressure on the Communists.

Unofficial sources said U.S. pilots previously had been instructed to go no closer than 30 miles to China.

In ground fighting, paratroops of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division reported counting 35 Viet Cong dead after a night clash with about 100 guerrillas west of coastal Duc Pho, 300 miles northeast of Saigon. They reported eight Americans were wounded.

About 40 miles to the north, South Vietnamese rangers, who reported battling 1,000 North Vietnamese regulars for two days west of Tam Ky, said today they had killed 156 soldiers.

IT'LL BE HOT, DRY FOR REST OF MONTH

Victoria gardeners can save their prayers for another time.

Even the very loudest aren't getting through to the weatherman.

There'll be no rain this week—and that's that.

What's more, there probably won't be any the week after, or the week after that.

In an average year Victoria only experiences just under three-quarters of an inch in August.

And 1967 is far from average.

So far there's been no rain this month—the last to fall was on July 20.

Forecast for Tuesday: Sunny, 80 degrees plus downtown, DRY.

MONTANA PARK

Girls Killed By Grizzlies

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) The superintendent of Glacier National Park says lightning may have goaded two grizzly bears into killing two 19-year-old girls early Sunday as they slept in sleeping bags in rugged wilderness.

Killed in the separate incidents 20 miles apart in the mountainous park on the Montana-Canada border were Julie Helgeson of Albert Lea., Minn., and Michele Koons of San Diego, Calif., Roy Ducat, 18, of Perrysburg, Ohio, was severely injured by the bear that killed Miss Helgesen.

Forest Supt. Keith Neilson said his only theory on the attacks was that lightning strikes in the park alarmed the normally shy, near-sighted grizzlies into attacking.

Lightning started 14 forest fires in the park Saturday and Sunday.

"There is no scarcity of natural food and the grizzly is an unusually shy animal. It's strange for them to attack."

The bear that killed Miss Koons sniffed at four other sleeping bags while the occupants lay frozen with fear, then attacked Miss Koons, Neilson said.

The others escaped, but the zipper on her sleeping bag stuck.

All three victims were employed for the summer in park hotels.

The two girls were the first people reported killed by bears since the park opened in 1910, although several have been injured.

Park Rangers armed with rifles combed the Granite Park Chalet area where Miss Helgesen was attacked and the Trout Lake area 20 miles west where Miss Koons was killed. They shot the two grizzlies early today.

All trails in the area were closed to campers and hikers.

REASOR LEADING

Only the long and narrow Royal Colwood course stood out as a champion when early finishers paraded home in the first round of the Canadian Amateur qualifying round today.

With almost a quarter of the field of 161 in, nobody managed to break par (35-35—70) on the 6,507-yard course. But most of the favorites, along with Willingdon Cup team players, were still on the course.

Mike Reasor, a youthful collegian from Kenmore, Wash., led the early finishers with 73. A flock followed in with 74s, including Victorians Blair Wilson and Don Tuttle. (See also story on Page 10.)

Sprinkling Ban 'Up to People'

By JIM HUME and ROGER STONEBANKS

Some areas of Saanich were without water at noon today.

Other taps were expected to run dry during the peak period for domestic consumption between 5 and 7 tonight.

The reason: an "absolutely crazy" demand from Saanich lawn sprinklers, said waterworks superintendent Harry Greenwood.

The result could be tougher than ever watering restrictions by the weekend unless Greater Victoria citizens use greater restraint during the balance of the week.

"It is up to the people now," chief water commissioner Ron Upward told a special meeting of the Greater Victoria Water District Board this morning. "We have to cut lawn irrigation to 50 per cent by the weekend if there is to be any relaxing of restrictions. If the people co-operate, and I think they will, we can ease the restrictions next week.

"If not we may have to cut out lawn irrigation entirely."

Saanich and a section of Oak Bay were this morning's guinea pigs in a one-day-a-week watering experiment.

'GONE OVERBOARD'

In Saanich "the people have gone overboard," said Mr. Greenwood. "People living at lower levels are sprinkling like mad and robbing the others."

Even with pumps going full-out the mains are not large enough to get water to higher levels.

In an effort to curb usage Mr. Greenwood said the water board had cut the pressure to the Saanich lines.

"The only thing I can see is to cut sprinkling altogether," Mr. Greenwood said. "The water board has cut our pressure so we can't do anything. The pumps are going full blow—they may burn out if we don't get enough water from the board."

HUGE JUMP

In the Mount Tolmie area at 3 a.m. Saanich was pumping water at a rate of 500 gallons a minute. By 8 a.m. the rate had risen to a fantastic 3,200 gallons a minute.

Residents without water this morning and with little hope of an improved situation later in the day live in the Lochside, Merriman-Synod area and western parts of the West Saanich Road.

Reeve Hugh Curtis has urged severe but self-imposed restrictions for the rest of the day.

"I don't think Saanich will be alone in this," he said. "I can see the same thing happening when Victoria and Esquimalt get their watering day on Thursday."

Water consumption this summer has been running at around 35 million gallons a day in the Greater Victoria area and has been peaking at 40 million gallons a day.

And that, says Mr. Upward, is too much.

Forests 'Explode' In Flames

(Times News Services)

Continued hot and dry weather, accompanied by lightning storms, created the worst forest fire conditions of the year during the weekend in the Pacific Northwest.

"Things are just exploding," said a B.C. Forest Service official in the Interior.

In the U.S. fires erupted in a number of national forests and officials warned of the extreme hazard.

An Oregon State forestry spokesman said he'd never seen such explosive fire conditions and all they could do was "hold their breath."

Total number of fires burning in the Nelson forest district Sunday was placed at 155.

OUT OF CONTROL

In the Lardeau area to the north of Nelson, 32 fires were reported out of control.

At least four of the fires north of Nelson were "major," forestry men said, and all will have to be doused by hand.

Hot Weather Halts Logging

Logging operations have all but closed in the Cowichan Valley and southern Vancouver Island because of the hot weather.

Fernie Viala, vice-president of the Duncan local of the International Woodworkers of America, said only one or two camps are operating on early shifts.

He estimated between 1,500 and 2,000 loggers are out of work. Manufacturing plants were all right because of log inventories.

The laid-off men are eligible for unemployment insurance money.

On southern Vancouver Island, an IWA spokesman said about 250 men are off work. He also said manufacturing plants are not affected yet.

Canadian, Soviet Differences Remain

OTTAWA (CP)—First Deputy Premier Dmitri Polyansky of the Soviet Union and Prime Minister Pearson apparently failed today to narrow their differences on Vietnam and the Middle East.

They conferred for an hour on the two contentious issues in what a Canadian spokesman described as a frank and useful discussion.

In diplomatic jargon, this usually means that no agreement was reached.

The spokesman refused to give details of the talks but it was clear they were stiff and businesslike, with neither side modifying its stand. Mr. Polyansky apparently repeated his charges of aggression against the U.S. and Israel.

The spokesman declined specifically to confirm that the Soviet deputy premier had reiterated these allegations. However, he did state that Mr. Polyansky had restated the Soviet viewpoint on Vietnam and the Middle East.

The Russian view is that the U.S. and Israel are guilty of aggression in these areas. Canada has many times disputed this view of events.

Mr. Polyansky, here on a centennial visit, gave Mr. Pearson a letter from Premier Alexi Kosygin. Contents were not divulged.

A further short meeting between Mr. Pearson and Mr. Polyansky, previously unscheduled, was set for late today before the Soviet leader departs by train for Montreal to visit Expo 67

300 FLEE FLOODING AT ALASKA VILLAGE

NENANA, Alaska (AP)—All women and children in this central Alaska community of 300 were evacuated Sunday night in the face of rising flood waters from the Tanana River.

Forty-seven Alaska national guardsmen were brought in from Fairbanks, about 50 miles northeast of here, to assist in the evacuation and help battle the rising waters.

The flooding is a result of heavy rains that have plagued the Nenana and Fairbanks areas for about a month.

Wall Street sagged in heavy trading today and Toronto slumped following the New York pattern.

AT VANCOUVER most mining issures registered gains in dull trading to noon.

Buttle added .10 to $1.28 and Atlas put on .15 to $3.90. Cariboo Bell jumped .10 to $1, and Northlode added the same climbing to .76. PC Explorations was among the leaders adding .13 to $2.18. Westland lost .20 to $3.20.

Most oil issues also posted gained with R. C. Ventures adding .04 to .42 and Share, up .05 to .63.

Neon led the industrials climbing .25 to $8.

Volume to 11 a.m. was 669,138 shares.

AT NEW YORK the list was continuing Friday's decline amid forecasts that a consolidation of the recent climb to new 1967 highs was in order.

Losses outnumbered gains by a ratio of more than 7 to 4.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.2 to 339.1, with industrials off 2.2, rails off .5 and utilities off .1.

AT TORONTO Inco dropped 1½ to 108½, CPR 1 to 71¾ and Magna Electronics ¾ to 17½.

On the plus side, Harding Carpets and Levy gained 1½ each to 18 and 28¾ and Metropolitan Stores 1⅞ to 28⅞.

Speculative activity remained heavy as Consolidated Negus rose 25 cents to 1.32 on 421,000 shares.

Among western oils, Dome gained ½ to 59½ and Hudson's Bay ⅜ to 36⅞.

AT MONTREAL sagging utility index brought the market to lower levels in early afternoon trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Bell Telephone and Interprovincial Pipe Line each lost ⅜ to 48⅛ and 23, respectively as index dropped almost one point.

CPR slid ⅞ to 71¾ and Algoma, whose first-half earnings were down sharply, ½ to 26½. Also off ½ was International Nickel, which dipped a total of 5⅛ points last week.

AT LONDON subdued equities started the week on the stock market rather indecisively. Some caution was apparent preceeding announcement Tuesday of U.K. trade figures.

Gilts were firm on the prospects of the reinvestment of steel nationalization money. Gains were widespread.

Dollar stocks made a mixed showing. Among Canadian issues, International Nickel and Hudson Bay Oil and Gas gave ground, but Algoma was a firm spot. Other Canadian issues moved narrowly around Friday's closing levels.

Merger Eyed In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The possibility of a merger between International Utilities Corp., with headquarters in Toronto, and General Waterworks Corp., based in Claymont, Del., is being explored, Howard Butcher III, chairman of both companies, said today.

An independent consulting firm in Canada already has been retained at Toronto and one independent investment banking firm in the United States is being engaged to determine the advantages of a merger, he said.

Consolidation would be effected through an exchange of stock.

Israel Allows Arab Refugees To Come Back

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—Israel's cabinet decided Sunday night not to alter an agreement to allow Jordanian refugees to return to their west bank homes, despite possible security risks.

The decision to stick with the agreement with Jordan was not taken without opposition. Eight of the 21-member cabinet voted to stop the return of the refugees.

It was reported here today that Defence Minister Moshe Dayan was among those who opposed wholesale readmission.

The attitude of the United Nations special representative, Nils Goran Gussing, was reported to have helped sway the cabinet to stick by its policy of allowing the refugees to return.

Gussing is said to have agreed with Israeli officials that Amman radio broadcasts encouraging civil disobedience by Arabs within Israeli-occupied territory were not in the spirit of the agreement between Israel and Jordan for the return of those who fled their homes after the six-day war in June.

The UN representative was understood to have made this point clear to Jordan during a flying visit to Amman during the weekend. Israel and Jordan reached agreement last week on the return of the refugees after resolving a long dispute about the wording on the return-application form.

Youth Suffers Face Cuts

A teen-ager whose car rammed a parked auto on Burnside spent Saturday night in hospital.

Robert Murdoch, 19, of 4023 Zinnia suffered face cuts in the accident near Douglas Street. He was released from St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday.

Police said his car was eastbound on Burnside shortly after 11 p.m. when it crashed into a car owned by Antonio Caigara, 665 Burnside, parked in front of his house.

John Gauti, 19, of 3814 Rowland, remains in critical condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today, 11 days after being hurt in an accident at Fernwood near Gladstone.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Robert Jones, 21, of 930 Southgate, which slammed into a parked truck and then spun into the path of another auto.

Shattering Collision Kills Three

LADNER, B.C. (CP) — Two men and a woman were killed late Sunday and three others seriously injured in a shattering, head-on collision between two cars on Highway 17 leading to the ferry slip at Tsawawssen, 20 miles south of Vancouver.

RCMP said the high-speed crash occurred on a curve but were unable to supply additional details.

Dead are:

Ezio Longhino, 26, of New Westminster.

Egidio Benacchio, 23, of New Westminster, and

Thea Beatrice Reddin, 33, of Vancouver.

Injured were:

Lloyd Reddin, 27, the dead woman's husband, and

Helmut Wagner, 14, and

Doris Wagner, 13, children of the dead woman by a previous marriage.

Youth Fined For Stealing Car Wipers

A teen-ager caught with two stolen windshield wipers a week ago was fined $100 Monday when he appeared in court for sentence.

William Martin, 19, of 2519 Ludgate, had been held in jail awaiting sentence.

Court heard last week that he was on probation when the car in which he was riding was checked by police Aug. 6.

Martin admitted he had stolen from a service station the pair of wipers found on the seat beside him.

TOWN HOMES UNSAFE AFTER EARTHQUAKE

BORDEAUX (Reuters)—New tremors which rocked the French village of Arette near the Spanish border early today left all houses in the area unsafe for habitation, local authorities reported.

They said the town's adult population was being moved to a nearby tent village, while children and old persons were taken to a school at Oloron-Ste. Marie, 12 miles away. One person was killed and 40 injured.

Meanwhile, bulldozers and men with picks and shovels worked to clear the rubble of 80 buildings destroyed by two tremors late Sunday night.

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (Reuters)—A series of severe earth tremors was reported to have hit the Australian-administered island of New Britain, off New Guinea, early today.

There were no immediate reports of injuries.

MANY HOPES HAVE DIMMED

'Gandhi Would Not Like Modern Indian State'

By MYRON BELKIND

NEW DELHI (AP)—Twenty years ago next Tuesday the last British viceroy of India stood in his palace in New Delhi and slowly read a proclamation from King George VI granting independence to 330,000,000 Indians.

Jawaharlal Nehru, as the first prime minister of free India, strode to a microphone and in one of his most moving speeches said:

"India stands forth again after a long slumber and struggle, awake, free and independent. A new star rises, the star of freedom in the East, and a new hope comes into being. May the star never set and that hope never be betrayed."

Today, India still is free and independent but many of the hopes expressed in 1947 have dimmed. Poverty and illiteracy still plague Indian whose population has grown to 510,000,000.

CASTES STILL EXIST

The rigid school system that segregates the population into castes from the scholarly Brahmin to the lowly untouchable still exists in practice, although it was outlawed in 1951.

Relations with neighboring Pakistan remain bitter, as they have been since the partition of the Indian subcontinent into predominantly Hindu and Moslem counties in 1947.

Concern about possible renewed hostilities with Pakistan or China has been used to justify an expenditure of $1,200,000,000 a year on defence. Even a portion of this sum would build badly needed schools or provide higher salaries to keep Indian scientists and doctors from rushing abroad.

How would Mohandas Gandhi, the leader of the freedom movement who was assassinated in January, 1948, feel about the India of today?

One of his closest associates, Chakravarti Rajagopalachari, the first Indian governor-general and founder of the right-wing Swatantra party, told the Associated Press:

"I can confidently say Gandhi would not be happy with the India of today. He would be miserable over our heavy indebtedness to foreign governments, our heavy defence expenditure, our failure to produce food in self-sufficient measure, our failure to improve the sanitary and living conditions in the rural areas, and last but not least our failure to establish friendly relations with Pakistan."

Despite India's failure, it has survived as a democratic nation, and this, say members of the governing Congress party, is its greatest achievement.

India's population is growing by more than 1,000,000 people a month.

EXAMINE PROPOSAL

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government has stressed the importance of family planning, and the health ministry is examining a proposal to introduce legislation requiring compulsory sterilization of men after the birth of a third child.

There is a strong feeling of nationalism and pride, despite India's multitude of problems.

"Twenty years ago, anything you picked up in a shop was foreign," says Karni Singh, 43.

"Now it is just the opposite. Now almost everything is being manufactured locally, including aircraft."

SOME CRITICISM

Nevertheless, there is criticism of the manner in which certain products have been produced at the expense of others.

"Instead of setting up factories for the production of luxury goods, such as cars and air conditioners, we should have put more money into agriculture," says Ram Manohar Lohia, a leader of the Samyukta United Socialist party.

The once invincible Congress party of Gandhi and Nehru is no longer India's super-party. It has only an 18-seat majority in Parliament and controls only nine of the 17 state legislature.

"The old guard has faded away, but this far there is no sign of a coherent new leadership," one Western diplomat said.

How do the British, the former colonizers, assess India's 20 years of independence?

"Amongst knowledgeable people, there is a feeling that India has done remarkably well," said a member of the British high commission in New Delhi.

"That doesn't mean mistakes haven't been made; a lot have been. But when you consider all the strains and stresses this country has undergone both domestically and internationally, it might have even fallen apart."

TO KEEP ORDER

U.S. Soldier Threatens Takeover

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — The man who wrote the best seller God Is My Copilot told an American Legion meeting Friday a military takeover of the U.S. by "devious or direct means" may become necessary if politicians cannot control lawlessness.

Retired U.S. air force Brig. Gen. Robert Scott said, "Military takeover is a dirty word in this country but, if the professional politicians cannot keep law and order, it is time we do so by devious or direct means."

He called for revitalization of the American Legion as a "powerful and militant political force dedicated to returning to private life those politicians who prove unwilling to listen to the voice of 100 per cent red-blooded Americans."

Scott said the alternative was a military or vigilante takeover of the country as a temporary measure if all else fails.

"If there is no law to prevent the Adam Clayton Powells, Stokely Carmichaels and Rap Browns from burning the country down," he said, "what is wrong with us saying, 'We will build it up again but we'll bury you first?' "

Poison Tested First

NAPLES, Italy (Reuters) — Rosola Chianese, a 15-year-old child bride from a village near here, killed herself with poisoned coffee after trying it on her best friend and finding it worked, police said Sunday. They said the girl killed herself because her husband mistreated her.

TEXADA ISLAND (CP)—Officials at the LaFarge Cement Co. quarry Sunday reported no sign of a break in a strike by 22 workers. The members of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union struck Saturday to back demands for a 15 per cent wage increase.
